President Backs Senate Measure, Frowns on House Committee Drive

BARUCH PLAN HAS TRUMAN'S SUPPORT

President Says Forrestal Will Indorse Service Merger Plan

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — President Truman came out strongly today for civilian control of atomic energy, and thus indicated opposition to the House Military committee's drive to seat military men on the control board.

He declared that the bill passed by the Senate—providing for a five-man commission of civilians to govern in the domestic field—suited him exactly.

Then, in reply to a news conference question as to whether his stand is for civilian control, he replied it certainly is—that he has made that plain time and again.

On international aspects of atomic control, the president commented that the American and Russian plans submitted to the United Nations will be subjects for negotiation and that we may reach an agreement, He emphasized the word may.

The American plan presented by Bernard M. Baruch, which the president reiterated is a statement of administration policy, calls for agreements on controls which shall not be subject to any big power veto such as is provided in the Security council by the Charter. The Russian proposal is for an agreement to outlaw the manufacture and use of atomic weapons under penalties which the council would invoke.

Indorses Baruch Plan

Mr. Truman met requests for comment on the Russian plan with the statement that the Baruch proposal has his indorsement.

He readily commented on ther topics:

Supreme court — Mr. Truman disclosed last week that Justice Jackson submitted to him a copy of his attack upon Justice Black one day before releasing it at Nuernberg and that the president suggested Jackson withhold it pending a talk. Today he was asked to clarify whether Jackson had received the White House message before he acted. Mr. Truman replied that Jackson acknowledged it.

Merger—Secretary of War Patterson wrote the president pledging to support the latest plan for unifying the army and navy and Mr. Truman was asked whether he has received a similar letter from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, who

Undertaker Erroneously Reports Will Hays Dead

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (AP) — Death of an Encino farmer named Will H. Hays caused release by an undertaker of an erroneous announcement that the former postmaster general and movie censorship director was dead.

In New York, Hays, alive and well, commented:

"The rumor of my death is just as exaggerated as was the remark that Mark Twain made famous."

Pierce Brothers' mortuary, which made the release, said the confusion was caused by both having the same names, even to middle initials, and both having homes in Encino. Hays pointed out, however, that his home is not in Encino. It is farther west on Ventura boulevard—which bisects the San Fernando valley—in Thousand Oaks.

Ministers Reach Agreement On Procedure for Settling Italian Colonies Question

British Officer Escapes from His Jewish Kidnapers

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

JERUSALEM, June 20 (AP)—A British major escaped from Jewish kidnapers today and led a search for five other abducted officers while in Tel Aviv another Jew was reported killed during continuing disorders.

British troops intensified military steps against further violence, blamed upon illegal Jewish organizations, and imposed strict night-time road curfews in the Lydda and Haifa areas to halt movement of unauthorized vehicles.

Maj. H. P. Chadwick, who was kidnaped in Jerusalem Tuesday, escaped his abductors by jumping from a window, and then headed a search party scouring the Bucharim quarter of Northwest Jerusalem for five officers seized in Tel Aviv at an officers' club.

An official army announcement gave few details, but said Chadwick was in good health. He was said to have escaped from a building in the Bucharim quarter, which Highland troops and police cordoned off tonight.

Chadwick was whisked away from headquarters after reporting to intelligence officers, and officials said his story would not be made public immediately in order to protect the safety of the other five men.

Officials denied reports that a British army nurse had disappeared in Tel Aviv and that two British ATS girls had been kidnaped.

Moshe Shertok, head of the political department of the Jewish agency, said the abduction of the British officers was "lunacy" and appealed for their immediate release. They were believed to have been taken as hostages for two members of the Irgun Zvai Leumi, an underground movement, who have been sentenced to death.

Tel Aviv-Jewish, coastal city, was put out of bounds for British troops except those on patrol duty, and a dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped tonight on the Lydda dis-

Issue Will Go to U.N. if Division Exists at End of Year

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, June 20 (AP)—The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France virtually agreed tonight to delay a decision on the Italian colonies and refer the issue to the United Nations if the four powers are still divided at the end of the year, an American informant said.

Sweeping aside one of the most important problems blocking progress on European peace settlements, the foreign ministers expressed general acceptance of a proposal advanced by United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at the earlier session in May.

Under the agreement Italy would renounce sovereignty of the colonies, which would be considered under four-power control pending agreement or reference to the United Nations Trusteeship Council.

In a remarkable upsurge of harmony and with the quickest pace they have shown for some time, the ministers also reached an accord for withdrawal of troops from Italy and Bulgaria within ninety days after peace treaties become effective, and agreed to designate their respective ambassadors in Rome as a four-power treaty commission for one year.

Byrnes also prevented the conference from imposing a rigid security ban on all its "informal" sessions after a short discussion of press policies in the morning and had left British, French and Russian officials under the impression the Americans had agreed to lower a curtain on conference information.

Suddenly abandoning the rigid position which had thus far blocked agreements on colonies, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov resurrected Byrnes's proposals regarding Italian colonies which had been on the table since the April-May meetings. Both Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault had opposed Byrnes's plan when it was first offered.

As the ministers turned to the troublesome colonial issue Molotov noted there had been no new pro-

Truman Gets Rebuff In Plans To Reorganize Government Agencies

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The House Expenditures committee handed President Truman a rebuff today in his plans for reorganization of federal agencies.

The committee, frequently a stumbling block for administration proposals, adopted by a 10 to 3 vote three resolutions expressing disapproval of Mr. Truman's program.

Chief opposition was to one plan to centralize all federal housing activities in one agency. Also sharply criticized was a recommendation which would lay the groundwork for a new cabinet post — a department of welfare.

The committee has a long fight ahead, however, in its attempt to block the presidential proposals. Under the reorganization law passed last fall the recommendations will become law unless both the Senate and House adopt resolutions of disapproval within sixty days after the plans are submitted.

Bowles's Demand May Be Rejected By OPA Conferees

Stabilization Director Blasts Taft and Wolcott Amendments

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Congressional conferees on the OPA bill indicated today that they plan to retain in some form an amendment which Stabilization Director Chester Bowles called "a delayed action bomb" under price control.

The full Senate-House conference committee named a five-man subcommittee to adjust differences between the somewhat similar Taft and Wolcott amendments adopted respectatively by the Senate and House which are designed to protect the profits of maufacturers.

This step appeared to indicate that the provision is not to be abandoned entirely, as Bowles specifically demanded at a news conference as the committee reconvened.

The House amendment, by Rep. Walcott (R-Mich), would require the OPA in fixing price ceilings to allow each producer, processor and distributor his current cost plus "a reasonable profit."

"Dangerous" Amendment

The Senate did not adopt this, but passed a separate amendment by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) providing that ceilings for manufacturers or processors must be high enough to cover the 1941 price plus the average increase on unit cost throughout the industry since then.

Either provision would require a widespread adjustment of price ceilings, and Bowles termed this one of "the most dangerous" amendments in the Senate and House bills.

"The Taft amendment, for example, would add to 1941 prices all the cost increases which have occurred since that time," he said.

"That sounds innocent enough. But actually American families would be asked to pay for those cost increases in higher prices—in spite of the fact that many of these cost increases are only temporary—in spite of the fact that greater volume may already have brought about profits far exceeding on an overall basis the already high profits of 1941."

The conference subcommittee appointed to work on it consists of Sen. Barkley, and Reps. Brown (D-Ga) and Patman (D-Tex), along with Taft and Wolcott themselves.

Bowles Issues Statement

Bowles issued a five-page statement at his news conference classifying this provision among "the booby trap amendments."

He said that the amendments which would remove price controls from meat, milk, butter, cheese and poultry "are so obviously disastrous that I am confident that they will be eliminated by the conference committee."

But he declared that "amendments in sheep's clothing" which he said are inadequately understood by the public also would bring "grave consequences."

"I could never agree to any com-

Egypt Is "Honor Bound" To Let Mufti Remain, Sidky Pasha Declares

CAIRO, June 20 (AP) — Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha said tonight that Egypt was "honor bound" to shelter the mufti of Jerusalem but indicated that the spiritual leader of Palestine Arabs was expected to keep out of controversial activities.

The premier's statement came after the Egyptian council of ministers, in a special session, had declared that the mufti, who has successfully found a haven in the Nile kingdom, was a political refugee and therefore could not under the law of the nation be handed over to any country.

A communique issued by Sidky Pasha said the government's decision to let the mufti stay was "inspired only by the duty of courtesy toward a great Arab chief."

Senate Approves Clark Promotion, Confirms Vinson

O'Daniel, Citing General's "Mistakes," Opposes Elevation

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Gen. Mark Wayne Clark won Senate confirmation today for permanent rank as major general.

Action came on a voice vote with Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) opposing. Sen. Connally (D-Tex), now in Paris for the foreign minister's conference, had registered his opposition by a cable.

O'Daniel recalled protests by men and officers of the Thirty-sixth division, largely composed of Texas national guardsmen, that Clark needlessly "wasted lives" in two futile attempts to cross the Rapido river in Italy against entrenched German opposition early in 1944.

Noting that Gen. Clark now is this nation's top-ranking officer in Austria and dealing with the Russians there, O'Daniel said he feared Clark's mistakes might lead "to another war."

He said Clark had been unable to gain the respect of the Russians and should be recalled.

Strong praise for Clark came from Senate Majority Leader Barkley and Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) and Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), acting chairman of the Senate Military committee which unanimously approved the promotion.

Pepper said he had visited both the Rapido scene and the Austrian occupation area and found that all men and officers highly respect the general.

Pepper said Clark was doing "an excellent job" and "getting along fine with the Russians.

Favorable action on Clark also brought permanent promotions for a long list of leading general officers in the recent war. Included was a promotion to major general for Walter Bedell Smith, now ambassador to Russia.

Vinson Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The Senate confirmed today the nomination of Fred M. Vinson, of Kentucky, to be chief justice of the United States.

Action came on a voice vote late in the day. No objection was made to the elevation of the man who has been President Truman's aide in the numerous government jobs, including that of secretary of treasury.

Previously, Sen. Moore (R-Okla) had indicated he would oppose confirmation but he was not on the floor when the nomination came up for action.

Vinson will succeed the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

He steps into the court at a time when it is torn by dissension, which recently led Justice Robert H. Jackson to aim unprecedented public criticism at Justice Hugo L. Black.

Houses but No Water

SALISBURY, Md., June 20 (AP)—J. Brice Long, local realtor, said he told the mayor and city council he had five new houses which could not be occupied because the city has not run water and sewer lines to them. The city council has announced that in addition to a maternal shortage it lacks funds for the project until a bond issue can be floated.

Peas for Holland

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP) —The Washington county Mennonities, comprising approximately 200 farmers of Maugansville, and their wives, have put up 2,600 cans of peas for shipment to Holland.

Gathered at the Amos Miller farm, the workers picked, hulled and canned the peas and made plans for shipping corn and beans overseas.

McNutt Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Paul V. McNutt won Senate confirmation today as this country's first ambassador to the new Philippine republic which will begin July 4 next.

WOULD REVOKE KU KLUX KLAN CHARTER

JUDGE FRANK A. HOOPER, JR., reads the papers filed in a civil suit in Fulton superior court at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday to revoke the charter of the Ku Klux Klan. The suit charges the Klan with conspiring to seize control of key governmental agencies. Attorney General Eugene Cook, right, and Dan Duke, assistant attorney general who filed the suit on behalf of the State of Georgia, look over Judge Hooper's shoulder.

Scratching Is Popular As Plague of Fleas Descends on Paris

PARIS, June 20. (AP) — A plague of fleas descended on Paris today, making life miserable in the subways, theaters, trains and other gathering places.

Even in the Constituent Assembly, highest legislative chamber of the land, deputies fiddled with ties or jingled coins in their pockets in an attempt to hide their scratching. But the insects became so insistent the deputies finally resorted to open and above boards digging at their bites, which recognized no party lines.

The plague hit the dignified opera last night placing one star, in public view, in a painful spotlight where she could not withstand scratching. And her audience scratched with her.

State of Georgia Seeks To Revoke Klan's Charter

KKK Is Charged with Conspiring To "Grab Control" of Government

ATLANTA, June 20 (AP)—A suit to revoke the charter of the Ku Klux Klan was filed by the State of Georgia in superior court today, and State Attorney General Eugene Cook said it was intended to dissolve the national organization of the invisible empire.

The modern Klan was born on Stone mountain near here in 1916, and through its heyday of the twenties and its recent resurgence has operated under a Georgia charter with Atlanta as the national headquarters.

The state suit recited a long list of terroristic acts which it charged members of Klan had committed, and declared that the hooded organization was conspiring to "grab control" of the government.

Fulton County (Atlanta) Superior Court Judge Frank A. Hooper, Jr., before whom the suit was filed ordered the Klan to show cause on or before July 1 why the charter should not be revoked.

Dr. Samuel H. Green, Atlanta physician who was identified in the suit as "grand dragon of the realm of Georgia," said he had not been served with a copy and "therefore I have no comment to make."

Also named in the suit, as an "exalted cyclops," was S. W. Roper, identified by Assistant Attorney General Dan Duke as an Atlanta policeman and head of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation under the administration of former Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

The state declared that the Klan intended to "organize police officers, cab drivers, truck drivers and others in key positions" so that it could "seize" parts of the state government charged with protection of citizens.

In support of its charges that the Klan conspired to violate life, liberty and property provisions of the state constitution, the state, in its petition, dealt at length with a "naturalization" ceremony held May 9, this year, atop Stone mountain.

There, the state said, robed and masked klansmen seized Robert H. Holloway, a United Press staff writer carrying his own camera, "restrained him of his liberty and confiscated his property," and:

"At such naturalization ceremony, citizens were seized, arrested and assaulted and forced to listen to a long tirade against the Jews, Catholics and negroes by two members of the knights of the Ku Klux

Indian Congress Party Protests Leader's Arrest

By PAUL MASON

NEW DELHI, June 20. (AP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, president-designate of the powerful All-India Congress party, was arrested in Kashmir state today and the Congress's working committee in quick protest postponed indefinitely its decision on accepting a British plan for an interim government of India.

Nehru had defied the order of a district magistrate at Srinagar, state capital, banning him from Kashmir, his native state. He was reported to have been slightly wounded in the cheek by a bayonet yesterday when he tried to pass sentries at the border.

"When we meet again depends upon Pandit Nehru's return," Congress President Maulana Abul Kalam Azad declared.

A statement issued by the Kashmir government said Nehru "is at liberty to return to British India whenever he wishes to do so."

The Punjab Youth Congress alerted thousands of volunteers for a possible march into Kashmir in support of Nehru, and in Bombay the "friends of the States People Committee" offered to send 10,000 men to back up Nehru. Dr. Khan Sahib, premier of the northwest frontier province, was reported to have arrived near Kashmir leading 200 red-shirted volunteers. Both Punjab and the northwest frontier province adjoin Kashmir.

(Reuters said a New Delhi broadcast reported a large crowd had set fire to an electric power station in Srinagar after hearing that Nehru had been wounded.)

Only yesterday there had been widespread optimism that the Congress party was about to accept the proposals for an interim government to rule while a constitution was drawn for an independent India. But today Congress leaders appeared gloomy.

Auto Dealer Pays

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP) —In the first case of its kind here, the local circuit court awarded William H. Gessford $418 from a local auto dealer for alleged over charges.

Gessford said he purchased a 1939 sedan for $1,200. He sued to collect $1,699.80 or three times the amount of the alleged overcharge.

Rubber Workers Strike

AKRON, O., June 20 (AP) — CIO-United Rubber Workers at the General Tire and Rubber Company struck at midnight tonight, halting all tire production. Joseph W. Childs, president of the plant's local union, said 2,400 production workers were affected.

All Other Issues Are Settled; Pay Raise Legislation Gets Green Light

ACCORD INDICATES COOLING OF TEMPERS

Peace Comes after "Liar" and "Lobbying" Charges Are Hurled

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Senate and House conferees agreed today to exempt 18-year-olds from the draft and take youths of 19, opening the way toward a quick extension of Selective Service for nine months after July 1.

The conferees also approved separate legislation raising the pay in the armed services. It starts with a fifty per cent increase for buck privates and apprentice seamen, raising them from $50 to $75 a month, and following through with corresponding increases for other enlisted grades.

In general, the pay raise measure followed the ideas of the House. It gives army lieutenants and the lowest three grades of warrant officers boosts of twenty per cent.

All Issues Are Settled

A conference change from the House plan makes the raise for army captains and their navy counterparts fifteen per cent instead of ten. Higher ranking commissioned officers, and the two top grades of warrant officers, get ten per cent.

With the teen age draft issue disposed of quickly, the conferees quickly settled all other issues. Their agreement, however, has still to be ratified by Senate and House before it goes to the president.

Members of the group reported the compromise in brief excursions outside the closed conference chamber, then went back in to help dispose of the whole matter quickly. It had been conceded on all sides that with the age issue out of the way other differences between House and Senate bills could be reconciled without trouble.

Tempers Explode

The agreement indicated a quick cooling of tempers, which had exploded at this morning's session as the hot issue of drafting 18-year-olds was debated. Committeemen said such terms as "liar" and "lobbying" were tossed back and forth.

"Everything was love and kisses this afternoon," said Sen. Johnson (D-Colo), who with Sen. Bridges (R-NH) was among the first to come out of the meeting.

Johnson and Bridges said the application of the draft to 19-year-olds would be "without restriction." The House bill had exempted teenagers completely, while the Senate measure made them subject to induction.

The Senate conferees offered a plan to take volunteers first, then draftees twenty years old and up, followed by youths of 19 and those of 18.

The agreement represented a victory for the House conferees who had offered to let the 19 age group be drafted if the Senate would turn loose the 18 age group entirely.

Convict Is Acquitted Of Murder Charge

BALTIMORE, June 20. (AP)—After deliberating more than three hours, a criminal court jury tonight acquitted Floyd Madison, 21-year-old Maryland penitentiary convict, of a charge of slaying a fellow prisoner.

Madison was found innocent of the knife slaying of Theodore R. Quesenbury last May 5 following a prison baseball game.

He greeted the verdict with a "thank you judge" to Judge Paul T. Mason.

House Receives Army Appropriation Bill, Biggest in Peacetime History

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Overriding the budget bureau on the major items, the House Appropriations committee today nearly doubled the army's atomic development fund and chopped $150,000,000 from its foreign relief allotment.

The changes were made in the biggest War department peacetime budget in history — $7,091,034,700—which the committee sent to the House floor for debate starting tomorrow.

The budget bureau, President Truman's agency for fiscal matters, had proposed $200,000,000 for the atomic program, which the committee boosted to $375,000,000. For army government and relief in occupied countries the bureau recommended $500,000,000 which the committee chopped to $350,000,000.

Despite the two major changes, however, the bill carries a net reduction of $117,172,729 from total budget estimates for the year starting July 1. Large reductions, in addition to the relief program cut, are $21,513,121 for the finance department, $17,956,544 for the quartermaster corps, $49,664,256 for the transportation corps, and $28,505,660 for the corps of engineers.

The atomic program increase was the only one put in by the committee.

Both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who headed the Manhattan district which produced the first atomic bombs, advised the committee against sharing the secret of the atomic bomb under existing conditions.

Elgin, Tawes's Campaign Manager, Says Lane Is "Like Spoiled Child"

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—The rival Democratic headquarters of William Preston Lane, Jr., and J. Millard Tawes, candidates for the governorship nomination, kept up their verbal exchanges today.

W. Lee Elgin, campaign manager for Tawes, asserting that Lane is "licked," said the opposing camp had displayed "poor sportsmanship" and likened Lane to a "spoiled child."

Elgin's statement today was in reply to one by Lane in which the latter said:

"The Tawes headquarters is using Mr. Elgin as the hatchet man. He has been picked to issue statements derogatory to me, my running mates and our discussion of the issues of this campaign. He accepts a salary from the taxpayers but uses a great deal of the time paid for by them

Hagerstown Mayor Indorses O'Conor

BALTIMORE, June 20. (AP)—Gov. O'Conor's political headquarters announced tonight that Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, of Hagerstown, had indorsed O'Conor for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in next Monday's primary.

The headquarters issued a statement quoting the three-time mayor as saying that "I think it is for the good of the state and of the nation that Gov. O'Conor be sent to the Senate."

The other major contender for the Democratic nomination is incumbent Sen. Radcliffe.

Chester Bowles Urges Management And Labor To Draw Up Peace Pact

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles urged management and labor today to get together in a peace pact which he said could take the country "out of the woods by Christmas."

Bowles told a news conference that he had been discussing such a commitment with "a great many people in the past few weeks." He would not say with whom he had talked.

Similarly, Wilson Wyatt, Housing expediter, was sounding out building trades leaders in the hope of getting a six months no-strike pledge to speed the veterans' housing program by making possible construction of thousands of homes by December 31.

Bowles was reluctant to say what reaction he had received from the biggest labor chiefs—AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray.

It was reported, however, that both men were reluctant to go before their unions with a recommendation for any no-strike pledge such as was given during the war.

Inherent in the Bowles peace suggestion is some government assurance that the price line will be held about where it is. Persons close to Green and Murray say the union leaders privately are skeptical about how Bowles could deliver the government's side of any such bargain, in view of the number of price increases allowed by OPA in the past few months.

This step appeared to indicate that the provision is not to be abandoned entirely, as Bowles specifically demanded at a news conference as the committee reconvened.

The House amendment, by Rep. Walcott (R-Mich), would require the OPA in fixing price ceilings to allow each producer, processor and distributor his current cost plus "a reasonable profit."

"Dangerous" Amendment

The Senate did not adopt this, but passed a separate amendment by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) providing that ceilings for manufacturers or processors must be high enough to cover the 1941 price plus the average increase on unit cost throughout the industry since then.

Either provision would require a widespread adjustment of price ceilings, and Bowles termed this one of "the most dangerous" amendments in the Senate and House bills.

"The Taft amendment, for example, would add to 1941 prices all the cost increases which have occurred since that time," he said.

"That sounds innocent enough. But actually American families would be asked to pay for those cost increases in higher prices—in spite of the fact that many of these cost increases are only temporary—in spite of the fact that greater volume may already have brought about profits far exceeding on an overall basis the already high profits of 1941."

The conference subcommittee appointed to work on it consists of Sen. Barkley, and Reps. Brown (D-Ga) and Patman (D-Tex), along with Taft and Wolcott themselves.

Bowles Issues Statement

Bowles issued a five-page statement at his news conference classifying this provision among "the booby trap amendments."

He said that the amendments which would remove price controls from meat, milk, butter, cheese and poultry "are so obviously disastrous that I am confident that they will be eliminated by the conference committee."

But he declared that "amendments in sheep's clothing" which he said are inadequately understood by the public also would bring "grave consequences."

"I could never agree to any com-

Egypt Is "Honor Bound" To Let Mufti Remain, Sidky Pasha Declares

CAIRO, June 20 (AP) — Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha said tonight that Egypt was "honor bound" to shelter the mufti of Jerusalem but indicated that the spiritual leader of Palestine Arabs was expected to keep out of controversial activities.

The premier's statement came after the Egyptian council of ministers, in a special session, had declared that the mufti, who has successfully found a haven in the Nile kingdom, was a political refugee and therefore could not under the law of the nation be handed over to any country.

A communique issued by Sidky Pasha said the government's decision to let the mufti stay was "inspired only by the duty of courtesy toward a great Arab chief."

Senate Approves Clark Promotion, Confirms Vinson

O'Daniel, Citing General's "Mistakes," Opposes Elevation

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Gen. Mark Wayne Clark won Senate confirmation today for permanent rank as major general.

Action came on a voice vote with Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) opposing. Sen. Connally (D-Tex), now in Paris for the foreign minister's conference, had registered his opposition by a cable.

O'Daniel recalled protests by men and officers of the Thirty-sixth division, largely composed of Texas national guardsmen, that Clark needlessly "wasted lives" in two futile attempts to cross the Rapido river in Italy against entrenched German opposition early in 1944.

Noting that Gen. Clark now is this nation's top-ranking officer in Austria and dealing with the Russians there, O'Daniel said he feared Clark's mistakes might lead "to another war."

He said Clark had been unable to gain the respect of the Russians and should be recalled.

Strong praise for Clark came from Senate Majority Leader Barkley and Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) and Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), acting chairman of the Senate Military committee which unanimously approved the promotion.

Pepper said he had visited both the Rapido scene and the Austrian occupation area and found that all men and officers highly respect the general.

Pepper said Clark was doing "an excellent job" and "getting along fine with the Russians."

Favorable action on Clark also brought permanent promotions for a long list of leading general officers in the recent war. Included was a promotion to major general for Walter Bedell Smith, now ambassador to Russia.

Vinson Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The Senate confirmed today the nomination of Fred M. Vinson, of Kentucky, to be chief justice of the United States.

Action came on a voice vote late in the day. No objection was made to the elevation of the man who has been President Truman's aide in the numerous government jobs, including that of secretary of treasury.

Previously, Sen. Moore (R-Okla) had indicated he would oppose confirmation but he was not on the floor when the nomination came up for action.

Vinson will succeed the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

He steps into the court at a time when it is torn by dissension, which recently led Justice Robert H. Jackson to aim unprecedented public criticism at Justice Hugo L. Black.

Houses but No Water

SALISBURY, Md., June 20 (AP)—J. Brice Long, local realtor, said he told the mayor and city council he had five new houses which could not be occupied because the city has not run water and sewer lines to them. The city council has announced that in addition to a maternal shortage it lacks funds for the project until a bond issue can be floated.

Peas for Holland

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP) —The Washington county Mennonities, comprising approximately 200 farmers of Maugansville, and their wives, have put up 2,600 cans of peas for shipment to Holland.

Gathered at the Amos Miller farm, the workers picked, hulled and canned the peas and made plans for shipping corn and beans overseas.

McNutt Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Paul V. McNutt won Senate confirmation today as this country's first ambassador to the new Philippine republic which will begin July 4 next.

WOULD REVOKE KU KLUX KLAN CHARTER

JUDGE FRANK A. HOOPER, JR., reads the papers filed in a civil suit in Fulton superior court at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday to revoke the charter of the Ku Klux Klan. The suit charges the Klan with conspiring to seize control of key governmental agencies. Attorney General Eugene Cook, right, and Dan Duke, assistant attorney general who filed the suit on behalf of the State of Georgia, look over Judge Hooper's shoulder.

Scratching Is Popular As Plague of Fleas Descends on Paris

PARIS, June 20. (AP) — A plague of fleas descended on Paris today, making life miserable in the subways, theaters, trains and other gathering places.

Even in the Constituent Assembly, highest legislative chamber of the land, deputies fiddled with ties or jingled coins in their pockets in an attempt to hide their scratching. But the insects became so insistent the deputies finally resorted to open and above boards digging at their bites, which recognized no party lines.

The plague hit the dignified opera last night placing one star, in public view, in a painful spotlight where she could not withstand scratching. And her audience scratched with her.

State of Georgia Seeks To Revoke Klan's Charter

KKK Is Charged with Conspiring To "Grab Control" of Government

ATLANTA, June 20 (AP)—A suit to revoke the charter of the Ku Klux Klan was filed by the State of Georgia in superior court today, and State Attorney General Eugene Cook said it was intended to dissolve the national organization of the invisible empire.

The modern Klan was born on Stone mountain near here in 1916 and through its heyday of the twenties and its recent resurgence has operated under a Georgia charter with Atlanta as the national headquarters.

The state suit recited a long list of terroristic acts which it charged members of Klan had committed, and declared that the hooded organization was conspiring to "grab control" of the government.

Fulton County (Atlanta) Superior Court Judge Frank A. Hooper, Jr., before whom the suit was filed ordered the Klan to show cause on or before July 1 why the charter should not be revoked.

Dr. Samuel H. Green, Atlanta physician who was identified in the suit as "grand dragon of the realm of Georgia," said he had not been served with a copy and "therefore I have no comment to make."

Also named in the suit, as an "exalted cyclops," was S. W. Roper, identified by Assistant Attorney General Dan Duke as an Atlanta policeman and head of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation under the administration of former Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

The state declared that the Klan intended to "organize police officers, cab drivers, truck drivers and others in key positions" so that it could "seize" parts of the state government charged with protection of citizens.

In support of its charges that the Klan conspired to violate life, liberty and property provisions of the state constitution, the state, in its petition, dealt at length with a "naturalization" ceremony held May 9, this year, atop Stone mountain.

There, the state said, robed and masked klansmen seized Robert H. Holloway, a United Press staff writer carrying his own camera, "restrained him of his liberty and confiscated his property," and:

"At such naturalization ceremony, citizens were seized, arrested and assaulted and forced to listen to a long tirade against the Jews, Catholics and negroes by two members of the knights of the Ku Klux

Indian Congress Party Protests Leader's Arrest

By PAUL MASON

NEW DELHI, June 20. (AP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, president-designate of the powerful All-India Congress party, was arrested in Kashmir state today and the Congress's working committee in quick protest postponed indefinitely its decision on accepting a British plan for an interim government of India.

Nehru had defied the order of a district magistrate at Srinagar, state capital, banning him from Kashmir, his native state. He was reported to have been slightly wounded in the cheek by a bayonet yesterday when he tried to pass sentries at the border.

"When we meet again depends upon Pandit Nehru's return," Congress President Maulana Abul Kalam Azad declared.

A statement issued by the Kashmir government said Nehru "is at liberty to return to British India whenever he wishes to do so."

The Punjab Youth Congress alerted thousands of volunteers for a possible march into Kashmir in support of Nehru, and in Bombay the "friends of the States People Committee" offered to send 10,000 men to back up Nehru. Dr. Khan Sahib, premier of the northwest frontier province, was reported to have arrived near Kashmir leading 200 red-shirted volunteers. Both Punjab and the northwest frontier province adjoin Kashmir.

(Reuters said a New Delhi broadcast reported a large crowd had set fire to an electric power station in Srinagar after hearing that Nehru had been wounded.)

Only yesterday there had been widespread optimism that the Congress party was about to accept the proposals for an interim government to rule while a constitution was drawn for an independent India. But today Congress leaders appeared gloomy.

Auto Dealer Pays

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP) —In the first case of its kind here, the local circuit court awarded William H. Gessford $418 from a local auto dealer for alleged over charges.

Gessford said he purchased a 1939 sedan for $1,200. He sued to collect $1,699.80 or three times the amount of the alleged overcharge.

Rubber Workers Strike

AKRON, O., June 20 (AP) — CIO-United Rubber Workers at the General Tire and Rubber Company struck at midnight tonight, halting all tire production. Joseph W. Childs, president of the plant's local union, said 2,400 production workers were affected.

Peace Comes after "Liar" and "Lobbying" Charges Are Hurled

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Senate and House conferees agreed today to exempt 18-year-olds from the draft and take youths of 19, opening the way toward a quick extension of Selective Service for nine months after July 1.

The conferees also approved separate legislation raising the pay in the armed services. It starts with a fifty per cent increase for buck privates and apprentice seamen, raising them from $50 to $75 a month, and following through with corresponding increases for other enlisted grades.

In general, the pay raise measure followed the ideas of the House. It gives army lieutenants and the lowest three grades of warrant officers boosts of twenty per cent.

All Issues Are Settled

A conference change from the House plan makes the raise for army captains and their navy counterparts fifteen per cent instead of ten. Higher ranking commissioned officers, and the two top grades of warrant officers, get ten per cent.

With the teen age draft issue disposed of quickly, the conferees quickly settled all other issues. Their agreement, however, has still to be ratified by Senate and House before it goes to the president.

Members of the group reported the compromise in brief excursions outside the closed conference chamber, then went back in to help dispose of the whole matter quickly. It had been conceded on all sides that with the age issue out of the way other differences between House and Senate bills could be reconciled without trouble.

Tempers Explode

The agreement indicated a quick cooling of tempers, which had exploded at this morning's session as the hot issue of drafting 18-year-olds was debated. Committeemen said such terms as "liar" and "lobbying" were tossed back and forth.

"Everything was love and kisses this afternoon," said Sen. Johnson (D-Colo), who with Sen. Bridges (R-NH) was among the first to come out of the meeting.

Johnson and Bridges said the application of the draft to 19-year-olds would be "without restriction." The House bill had exempted teenagers completely, while the Senate measure made them subject to induction.

The Senate conferees offered a plan to take volunteers first, then draftees twenty years old and up, followed by youths of 19 and those of 18.

The agreement represented a victory for the House conferees who had offered to let the 19 age group be drafted if the Senate would turn loose the 18 age group entirely.

Convict Is Acquitted Of Murder Charge

BALTIMORE, June 20. (AP)—After deliberating more than three hours, a criminal court jury tonight acquitted Floyd Madison, 21-year-old Maryland penitentiary convict, of a charge of slaying a fellow prisoner.

Madison was found innocent of the knife slaying of Theodore R. Quesenbury last May 5 following a prison baseball game.

House Receives Army Appropriation Bill, Biggest in Peacetime History

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Overriding the budget bureau on the major items, the House Appropriations committee today nearly doubled the army's atomic development fund and chopped $150,000,000 from its foreign relief allotment.

The changes were made in the biggest War department peacetime budget in history — $7,091,034,700—which the committee sent to the House floor for debate starting tomorrow.

The budget bureau, President Truman's agency for fiscal matters, had proposed $200,000,000 for the atomic program, which the committee boosted to $375,000,000. For army government and relief in occupied countries the bureau recommended $500,000,000 which the committee chopped to $350,000,000.

Despite the two major changes, however, the bill carries a net reduction of $117,172,729 from total budget estimates for the year starting July 1. Large reductions, in addition to the relief program cut, are $21,513,121 for the finance department, $17,956,544 for the quartermaster corps, $49,664,256 for the transportation corps, and $28,506,660 for the corps of engineers.

The atomic program increase was the only one put in by the committee.

Both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who headed the Manhattan district which produced the first atomic bombs, advised the committee against sharing the secret of the atomic bomb under existing conditions.

Truman Gets Rebuff In Plans To Reorganize Government Agencies

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The House Expenditures committee handed President Truman a rebuff today in his plans for reorganization of federal agencies.

The committee, frequently a stumbling block for administration proposals, adopted by a 10 to 3 vote three resolutions expressing disapproval of Mr. Truman's program.

Chief opposition was to one plan to centralize all federal housing activities in one agency. Also sharply criticized was a recommendation which would lay the groundwork for a new cabinet post — a department of welfare.

The committee has a long fight ahead, however, in its attempt to block the presidential proposals. Under the reorganization law passed last fall the recommendations will become law unless both the Senate and House adopt resolutions of disapproval within sixty days after the plans are submitted.

Elgin, Tawes's Campaign Manager, Says Lane Is "Like Spoiled Child"

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—The rival Democratic headquarters of William Preston Lane, Jr., and J. Millard Tawes, candidates for the governorship nomination, kept up their verbal exchanges today.

W. Lee Elgin, campaign manager for Tawes, asserting that Lane is "licked," said the opposing camp had displayed "poor sportsmanship" and likened Lane to a "spoiled child."

Elgin's statement today was in reply to one by Lane in which the latter said:

"The Tawes headquarters is using Mr. Elgin as the hatchet man. He has been picked to issue statements derogatory to me, my running mates and our discussion of the issues of this campaign. He accepts a salary from the taxpayers but uses a great deal of the time paid for by them

Hagerstown Mayor Indorses O'Conor

BALTIMORE, June 20. (AP)—Gov. O'Conor's political headquarters announced tonight that Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, of Hagerstown, had indorsed O'Conor for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in next Monday's primary.

The headquarters issued a statement quoting the three-time mayor as saying that "I think it is for the good of the state and of the nation that Gov. O'Conor be sent to the Senate."

The other major contender for the Democratic nomination is incumbent Sen. Radcliffe.

Chester Bowles Urges Management And Labor To Draw Up Peace Pact

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles urged management and labor today to get together in a peace pact which he said could take the country "out of the woods by Christmas."

Bowles told a news conference that he had been discussing such a commitment with "a great many people in the past few weeks." He would not say with whom he had talked.

Similarly, Wilson Wyatt, Housing expediter, was sounding out building trades leaders in the hope of getting a six months no-strike pledge to speed the veterans' housing program by making possible construction of thousands of homes by December 31.

Bowles was reluctant to say what reaction he had received from the biggest labor chiefs—AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray.

It was reported, however, that both men were reluctant to go before their unions with a recommendation for any no-strike pledge such as was given during the war.

Inherent in the Bowles peace suggestion is some government assurance that the price line will be held about where it is. Persons close to Green and Murray say the union leaders privately are skeptical about how Bowles could deliver the government's side of any such bargain, in view of the number of price increases allowed by OPA in the past few months.

"Thin" Blue Chips Tumble; Stock Market Average Takes Beating

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Exceptionally "thin" blue chips fell sharply on relatively small sales in today's stock market and gave the overall average one of its worst beatings of the past nine years.

Reasons given by brokers for the tumble varied. Little in the spot news picture could be found to account for it. Rails fed a selective recovery shift in the morning but dealings were sluggish. Selling became more insistent in the final hour as doubts arose among customers regarding forthcoming price control legislation, international problems and business prospects.

At the close, losses of one to about twenty points were widespread and the market was one of the broadest of 1946 to date. Transfers of 1,310,000 shares compared with 1,010,000 Wednesday and were the best since May 31. The final hour's aggregate was 670,000.

Prominent on the retreat were Eastman Kodak, off nineteen and one-half points at $228.50 on 400 shares; du Pont eight at $210, Allied Chemical five and one-half at $202, Goodrich four and one-half at $69.75, Union Pacific four at $153, Santa Fe at three and one-fourth at $114.50 and Montgomery Ward three and three-fourths at $88.25.

Minus signs of one to three or so were attached to United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, American Telephone, Kennecott, American Water Works, Woolworth, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris and United States Gypsum.

On the downside in the Curb were Electric Bond and Share, Pantepec, United Light, Middle West Corporation and Woodall Industries. Detroit Michigan Stove was an exception with a minor gain following a raised dividend. Turnover here was 540,000 shares versus 370,000 yesterday.

The bond market moved decisively lower in late dealings after tetering over a narrow price range in earlier trade.

Turnover picked up after a sleepy start but the session's total was only $3,840,000. This compared with $3,740,000 Wednesday.

United States government issues declared an outside of five-thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2½s off the maximum at 103 25-32 bid. Only a few sales were reported in the stock exchange.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

To a Girl whose heart
waited!

You waited, and wrote, and prayed. And you told yourself (over and over) that when HE came home, you'd get him all the things he wished for then. And now you're working on those dreams!

But maybe he hasn't even mentioned some of the "little" things he wished for! Little things like an honest-to-gosh cup of coffee. How many times that G-I longed for one—a cup of REAL coffee! And that's one more wish YOU can make "come true" for him now.

"Thin" Blue Chips Tumble; Stock Market Average Takes Beating

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Exceptionally "thin" blue chips fell sharply on relatively small sales in today's stock market and gave the overall average one of its worst beatings of the past nine years.

Reasons given by brokers for the tumble varied. Little in the spot news picture could be found to account for it. Rails led a selective recovery shift in the morning but dealings were sluggish. Selling became more insistent in the final hour as doubts arose among customers regarding forthcoming price control legislation, international problems and business prospects.

At the close, losses of one to about twenty points were widespread and the market was one of the broadest of 1946 to date. Transfers of 1,310,000 shares compared with 1,010,000 Wednesday and were the best since May 31. The final hour's aggregate was 670,000.

Prominent on the retreat were Eastman Kodak, off nineteen and one-half points at $228.50 on 400 shares; du Pont eight at $210, Allied Chemical five and one-half at $202, Goodrich four and one-half at $69.75, Union Pacific four at $153, Santa Fe at three and one-fourth at $114.50 and Montgomery Ward three and three-fourths at $88.25.

Minus signs of one to three or so were attached to United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, American Water Works, Woolworth, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris and United States Gypsum.

On the downside in the Curb were Electric Bond and Share, Pantepec, United Light, Middle West Corporation and Woodall Industries. Detroit Michigan Stove was an exception with a minor gain following a raised dividend. Turnover here was 540,000 shares versus 370,000 yesterday.

The bond market moved decisively lower in late dealings after tetering over a narrow price range in earlier trade.

Turnover picked up after a sleepy start but the session's total was only $3,840,000. This compared with $3,740,000 Wednesday.

United States government issues declared an outside of five-thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2½s off the maximum at 103 25-32 bid. Only a few sales were reported in the stock exchange.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

John J. Lighter, Jr. Enlists as Air Cadet In U. S. Navy Reserve

John Jacob Lighter, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lighter, Sr., 521 Pearre avenue, has enlisted in the navy as an aviator cadet V-5, United States Navy Reserve, according to Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, local recruiter. Lighter is a graduate of Allegany high school, class of 1946.

Smith said Thursday he has been divised by the Baltimore recruiting area that applicants for enlistment in class V-6, U. S. Naval Reserve, for inactive duty are no longer required to take a physical examination prior to enlistment.

Former navy, navy reserve, army, marine corps, coast guard and national guardsmen and reserve components thereof who served on active duty in World War II and who were honorably discharged are eligible.

V-6 men will have opportunity to attend training classes once a week and take a two-weeks' cruise annually with pay.

William L. Geppert

William L. Geppert would have no parts of an eulogy about himself. He was that kind of man.

He was a strong family man and a practicing Christian. He was a newspaperman to the core and a man who was not content unless he was taking an active part in civic affairs.

William L. Geppert was a sound newspaperman. He knew a good story when he saw one, and he had that indefinable "nose for news" that found a story when there didn't seem to be one.

As a creator of public opinion William L. Geppert occupied an important niche in this community where he resided for the past eleven years, first as managing editor of the old Cumberland Daily News and then as managing editor of The Cumberland News. His niche will not be easy to fill.

He held a place of esteem and high regard among the men who worked with him. In their relationship the men beneath him worked with him and for him, and they looked on him as a co-worker.

He had a smooth, easy-to-read, convincing style of writing, be it a news story or editorial. He sought out the truth.

One of the things he liked to do best was to sit down and recall his days as a reporter and some of the "scoops" he scored over men who at the time were more experienced than he. He had many a yarn to spin, and he had his own individual and pleasing way of spinning them.

William L. Geppert was the only managing editor The Cumberland News has had, and The News, a mere infant in age as newspapers go, has progressed more than satisfactorily under his leadership. This leadership was based on wide experience as a reporter, city editor, editor-in-chief and newspaper owner, as well as a broad educational background. It is not generally known that he held a law degree and was admitted to the bar in the State of West Virginia in 1911.

William L. Geppert's second love was politics, particularly Republican politics.

There are few men who were more loyal to their party than he, and he was at his best as an editorial writer in the heat of a political campaign. Just a few days ago he remarked that it was his ill-luck to be hospitalized as the primary election campaign was drawing to an end. "They're my special gravy," he said. They were his gravy.

In the death of William L. Geppert The Cumberland News and the Republican party have lost a staunch friend, and so have all who knew him personally or through his writing.

Persons of average intelligence make the safest motorists. Those below average are not alert, and those of the genius type usually are too preoccupied. This summary of intelligence as applied to automobile driving has been announced by the Los Angeles chapter of the National Safety Council. Certainly Los Angeles is a good vantage point for observation of the varying intelligence of drivers.

There is, of course, no point in emphasizing genius in relation to driving, as geniuses are few and far between. The average run of intelligence is to be considered, together with the fact that below-average intelligence is no bar to the legal operation of a motor car. The practical question is what degree of intelligence the average person brings to driving, not what intelligence he has on the basis of an IQ rating.

Conceivably, a fairly intellectual person might make a fool driver if he failed to appreciate that, apart from a conventional skill at the wheel, he needed a clear head, a respect for established standards of safety and a decent regard for the traffic rights of other persons, drivers as well as pedestrians. These, of course, are basic factors in intelligent driving, and the more intelligent a driver is as such, the more he will allow for circumstances beyond his control which nowadays make driving an inevitable personal risk.

Scientific advance has enabled even legless or armless persons to qualify as capable drivers, insofar as they compensate for their physical handicap with especially alert intelligence. In contrast there isn't enough room on the road for the modern automotive counterpart of the Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow. Accident statistics suggest that his name is legion.

Futile To Attempt To Buy Off Aggressor

Every now and then Americans are reminded that the seemingly interminable trial of the Nazi leaders is still going on before the international military tribunal at Nuernberg. For a day or so the testimony throws a new or strange light on known facts, the headlines grow bigger for a space, and the accounts with increased interest.

In recent days, for example, the court has been hearing witnesses called by defense attorneys for Arthur Seyss-Inquart, who managed the coup that resulted in the fall of the Schuschnigg government[3] in Austria and the parade of the German army into Vienna. That is, he managed it in the sense that he carried out Hitler's orders on the ground. The job was engineered in Berlin.

Edward von Glaise Horstenau, like Seysee-Inquart a minister under Schuschnigg, told the story behind the anschluss the other day. He testified that he was called to Berlin by Hitler, given a draft demand for Schuschnigg's resignation, notes for a radio speech, and a telegram asking Germany to send troops. These documents, he said, were to be delivered to Seyss-Inquart for use at a strategic time.

But the interesting and ironic twist given the account should not go unnoticed. For Horstenau also told how he and Seyss-Inquart argued with Schuschnigg that he ought not to hold out against the Nazis. If he did, they said, he might set off a new world war. Schuschnigg listened and did yield a little by calling off the plebiscite, but Hitler was impatient and the march-in came anyhow.

There could be no more vivid example of how futile it is for a statesman, or a people, to try to buy off an aggressor by appeasement. Austria was sacrificed, and so was Chechoslovakia later, but the world war came. The lesson is clear. Will men of good will ever learn it and act on it?

Greater Visibility For Auto Drivers

President George T. Christopher, of the Packard Motor Car Company, has some ideas on future trends in the automobile industry. He says that he believes that in ten of fifteen years gas turbine engines will replace the reciprocating engines with which automobiles have been equipped for half a century. He says most automobile companies will make more changes in their next year's models than in any previous year.

The idea behind any change in the design of an automobile is to improve it or make it more attractive. There is emphasis now on better brakes, engine efficiency and riding comfort. And one of the most important trends, if Mr. Christopher is correct in his forecast, is for greater visibility.

"The first cars ever built," he said, "put the drivers right up front. As the years went by, the drivers were inched farther toward the rear, gradually decreasing visibility. In the next few years I believe we'll return to originial ideas about visibility."

This is a prediction that has been made periodically for at least a decade. The cars of today remain handsome to look at, but their very design is a handicap to the people who drive them. No driver stowed away behind a massive hood and denied even a glimpse of his right fender can do no more than make a good guess as to his clearances. And guesswork is no sound contributor to highway safety.

Radical changes will be necessary in automobile design if practical visibility is to be restored. Motorists will have to get use to considerable differences in the way cars look, but any such readjustments are insignificant compared to the security that comes from seeing and knowing just how much room a car has in traffic.

Jet Planes Prove Their Reliability

Three of the four jet-propelled army planes that left March field, California, last week for a round trip to Andrews field, Maryland, were back again at their starting point in eleven hours, nine minutes flying time. Only one failed to complete the journey—and that was because the pilot accidentally dropped his wing tanks on his way east.

This flight offers further striking proof of the reliability as well as the terrific speed of these new aircraft. They averaged 446 miles an hour over a distance of 4,500 miles, and since they had a tail wind flying east and a head wind flying west the figure represents their normal cruising speed. They can fly faster if necessary. But the important point is that they can cover long distances at better than seven miles a minute and get to their destination.

One of the objects of this test was to get information on pilot fatigue under these conditions. The three pilots who completed the flight, according to news accounts, showed few signs of strain as a result of their hours in the air.

The fact that the army is going ahead with its development work on jet-propelled planes is especially interesting in the light of the word that came recently from abroad. British designers and plane builders have decided, according to report, that the jet engine is the engine of the future. They intend to concentrate on it at the expense of the gasoline power plants now in use. It is heartening to have this indication that this country will not be left behind in the race.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I have just seen the new suspense picture, "The Spiral Staircase," and I'm not saying it made my blood run cold. . . . But after I got out, I had to spend an hour walking up and down in front of the theater showing the new Rita Hayworth picture in order to defrost.

There was so much shrieking during the picture it actually hurt my ears. . . . to say nothing of my throat. But I'm not ashamed. . . . Jack Benny was in the audience and it scared him so much, his toupee stood on end.

Ethel Barrymore plays the whole picture lying in bed . . . but that doesn't handicap her. She's got eyebrows that are more menacing than John L's. . . . and she doesn't have to put coal dust in hers.

The story takes place in a big, gloomy house. The gloom is authentic . . . . They modeled it after a certain radio comedian's home just before option time. In fact, in a couple of scenes, you can see my overshoes in the hall.

I sat through the whole picture fairly glued to my seat. I would follow a guy who parked his chewing gum on top! But the picture really is keeping the audiences in their seats. In fact, the manager told me it was the first time in the history of the theater that the box-office ougrossed the popcorn machine.

I won't tell you who turns out to be the villain. . . . I can't. I closed my eyes with the first murder and didn't get up enough courage to open them in time for the payoff.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Many Justices Have Favored Former Law Clients, Drew Pearson Reports

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 20—If Justice Jackson really goes through with his determination to press for an investigation of supreme court justices' previous law connections, it should open up some extremely interesting facts which the public hitherto has never heard about.

If Justice Jackson or someone else had opened this up fifteen years before, it would have saved the taxpayers a lot of money. For there are some glaring examples where supreme court justices did not disqualify themselves when old law connections appeared before the supreme court. Why Jackson picked on Hugo Black—aside from personal pique—is a mystery. Here are some of the other cases he could also have cited:

Case No. 1—Justice Owen Roberts was formerly a director of the Bell Telephone Company, also of American Telephone and Telegraph, and handled legal work for those companies. Yet when the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, a subsidiary of these two companies which Roberts once represented, came before the supreme court, he did not step aside. On the contrary, he wrote the majority opinion.

That opinion overruled the Maryland Public Service Commission which wanted to reduce telephone rates. However, the former director and attorney for the parent telephone company, Justice Roberts, ruled otherwise. This ruling cost the telephone users of Maryland millions of dollars.

Famous Railroad Lawyer

Case No. 2—Three years later, Justice Pierce Butler sat in another historic case, where his old client, the Great Northern railroad, was involved. Not only had Justice Butler been the personal attorney for the Great Northern, but he was the intimate and personal friend of the railroad's founder, James J. Hill. He was so close to Hill that when his name came before the Senate for confirmation, Sen. Walsh, of Montana; Cummings, of Iowa, and Nelson, of Minnesota, exacted a promise that Butler would not sit in railroad cases.

In 1936, however, the supreme court had to decide whether the State of North Dakota was right in assessing certain taxes against Justice Butler's old client, the Great Northern.

And Pierce Butler, completely callous to public opinion, completely ignoring the pledge given to the now dead senators, not ony sat in the case but wrote the majority opinion. Hitherto, it was always assumed that states and municipalities had the power to tax. But acting for a majority of the supreme court, Justice Butler abrogated that power to the "Nine Old Men" and scaled $10,000,000 off the tax bill of his old client, the Great Northern railroad.

Joining Butler in the majority opinion were Justice Roberts, for thirty years an attorney for the Pennsylvania railroad; Justice Willis Van Devanter, former attorney for the Union Pacific, and Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, who had represented many railroads. They all voted with their old clients.

Roberts and Railroads

Case No. 3—Last year, when hard-hitting Gov. Arnall, of Georgia, sued the Pennsylvania railroad and other lines for discriminating against the South on freight rates, observers wondered whether Justice Roberts would disqualify himself. For years, his law firm, MacCracken and Roberts, had represented the Pennsylvania. But Roberts did not step aside. He sat in the case, and voted for his old clients against the State of Georgia.

Case No. 4—When the famous AAA case (Butler vs. United State) came before the supreme court, involving Roosevelt's entire agricultural program, it was argued by George Wharton Pepper, Philadelphia. Pepper was not only a lifelong friend, but had recommended Owen Roberts to Herbert Hoover for appointment to the supreme court. However, Roberts not only sat on the bench while his old friend argued, but handed down the court's opinion in favor of Pepper, throwing the AAA farm program into the discard.

Case No. 5—On January 2, 1946, the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone sat in the case of Duquesne Warehouse Company vs railroad retirement. The lawyer for the Duquesne Warehouse Company was none other than Stone's personal attorney, John S. Flannery, of the firm of McKenny, Flannery and Craighill. Anyone who wants to see how close Flannery was to Stone need only inspect the late chief justice's will. Flannery drew it up for him.

Stone vs Roberts

Case No. 6 is mentioned by Justice Jackson in his scathing blast against Hugo Black. Jackson states that Chief Justice Stone did not sit in the North American Holding Company case or the Engineers Public Service Company case because those companies were represented by his old law firm, Sullivan and Cromwell. That, however, was not the fact.

The real fact is that the chief justice did sit in these two cases—and under unique circumstances.

At first he disqualified himself from the North American Holding Company case, because he had handled North America's legal matters when he was with Sullivan and Cromwell. However, this gave the court a no quorum, because three other justices had been either with the Justice department or the SEC when the North American case was brought.

About this time the Engineers Public Service Company case also came before the court, involving the same holding company question. It also was represented by Stone's old law firm. So some of his colleagues urged him to reconsider his disqualification and sit.

Justice Roberts, however, did not join these colleagues. On the contrary, he was emphatically opposed, and told Stone that if he withdrew his disqualificaion in one case and kept it in another, he, Roberts, might feel obligated to write about it.

The chief justice was an easy man to get along with, but in recent years he and Roberts — both Republicans — did not love each other at all. And this remark caused Stone to hit the ceiling.

"I have been a member of this court for twenty-one years," he said, "and no one has ever undertaken to tell me what I should or should not do."

Whereup, the chief justice withdrew his disqualification and sat in both the above cases. Furthermore, he also sat in a third case also involving his old law firm, wherein Pacific Gas and Electric asked for a decision as to whether it was part of the North American Holding Company.

However, Stone was so irate at Roberts that he had a list compiled of cases in which Roberts had sat when his former clients or law firm were involved. He kept that list in his personal files during the balance of his career and it is quite possible that a congressional investigating committee could get it there today.

Labor Legislation Seems To Be Dead, Lawrence Asserts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 20—Legislation on the labor problem at this session of Congress seems to be dead.

This includes not only the Case bill which President Truman vetoed but the anti-strike legislation which the president sponsored.

It means that labor union monopolies will go unrestrained and that strikes against the public interest will occur whenever and wherever any labor union waits to call them. It means also that the public may suffer interruption in electric light and power, transportation and the problem of vital necessities. So far as Congress is concerned, it apparently doesn't care very much about all this inconvenience, and, so far as public opinion is concerned, the people do not seem to have asserted themselves sufficiently to cause Congress to act before adjournment comes.

If, as planned, Congress leaves here next month, the pending bills that have gone through one or the other of the two houses will die and will have to be introduced and debated all over again when the new congress assembles next January, unless, of course, Mr. Truman has occasion to call a special session before the present congress goes out of office.

Says Truman Failed

The legislative debacle is largely due to President Truman's failure as a leader either of his own party or of the nation. When the rail and coal strikes threatened, he drifted along in the hope that they could be settled by his mediators and, when the rail strike was at hand, he guaranteed the unions against prosecution if they would postpone the strike five days. Then, evidently angered by the fact that a strike was called which actually tied up the nation's transportation system, Mr. Truman proposed drastic legislation providing for seizure of plants or facilities and providing also that workers could be drafted into the army.

The House of Representatives passed the emergency legislation but the Senate modified it and extracted the draft provisions. Now the measure can be sent to conference but the labor unions have succeeded in preventing it from being acted upon and their chances of killing all the legislation this session are very good.

The labor unions did a splendid job from their standpoint in bringing about the desired result—no legislation. They first fought the Case bill and then the draft lgislation by a filibuster in the Senate. In the latter, they had as allies those Republicans who felt it was good politics to eliminate the draft provisions. These same Republicans could have amended the bill to make it satisfactory to the president and to the House and the whole thing could have been enacted in forty-eight hours. Thus the draft provisions could have been changed so that they would not be a penalty for failure to work but merely a means of calling on all able-bodied or skilled citizens to assist the government whenever seizure and operation of essential plants was deemed necessary.

Strange Coalition at Work

There were in Congress, too, politicians who opposed the president and thought that they would wait and see what he would do about the Case bill. Mr. Truman vetoed the measure and implied that it was not a choice between the Case bill and no legislation at all, because he had offered emergency legislation. Now, since the House failed by a handful of votes to override the veto on the Case bill and the labor group has killed off that measure, the guns are trained on the emergency program. There a strange coalition is at work. Those who favor some kind of legislation but think the president has assumed full responsibility for settling labor disputes in the future, and want him to exercise it, all allied with those who represent the union viewpoint of fighting any and all amendments to the Wagner act. This is enough to kill the bill.

So politics on both the Republican and Democratic side and labor union strategy have managed to shelve all labor legislation, and the president's bill will remain on the table unacted upon unless in the next fortnight the American people manifest to Congress their desire that something be done about it.

Then and Now

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Somerset Maugham has just had published his latest book, which he has called "Then and Now," in which he has contrasted the times of long ago with those of the present, and he seems to convince us that things run fairly well in circles. You can't change the workings of human nature.

From Thoreau's journal I came across this line: "It costs so much to publish, would it not be better for the author to put his manuscript in a safe?" Well, it is fortunate that most of the manuscripts of Thoreau were published! But they sold in very limited quantities. His "Week on the Merrimac" only sold a few hundred copies, and nearly a thousan of them had to rest in his own library for a long time. Today, however, each one of those first editions, printed in 1849, are rare treasures to the lover of Thoreau. And the statement about the manuscript was made in 1855! I hardly think, however, that there was any paper shortage then. The shortage was in appreciative book buyers.

In all the history of every nation, and the individual as well, there have been times in the past when things looked most dark, but the law of nature, and of life, is that of change, but along the same pattern. Darkness and dawn are duplicated in the experiences of nations and individuals, so that we must be reminded that we must keep faith alive, for that alone guides us on.

We are apt to thing that our present times are more difficult than those that have passed. But they are not. They only call for reenforcements, gauged to means of the present, to solve them as a problem.

Human nature never changes. We merely shuffle our ideas and conduct to fit the hour and the day. We are driven to study the ideas and actions of those long gone, that we may fit their formula to our needs and emergencies.

The lesson learned of life is that appreciation comes slowly to us all. It has been so to the worthy in the past, and it is just as true today. Our greatest satisfaction must come from wishing for nothing that we would not happily give away.

British designers and plane builders have decided, according to report, that the jet engine is the engine of the future. They intend to concentrate on it at the expense of the gasoline power plants now in use. It is heartening to have this indication that this country will not be left behind in the race.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I have just seen the new suspense picture, "The Spiral Staircase," and I'm not saying it made my blood run cold. . . . But after I got out, I had to spend an hour walking up and down in front of the theater showing the new Rita Hayworth picture in order to defrost.

There was so much shrieking during the picture it actually hurt my ears. . . . to say nothing of my throat. But I'm not ashamed. . . . Jack Benny was in the audience and it scared him so much, his toupee stood on end.

Ethel Barrymore plays the whole picture lying in bed . . . but that doesn't handicap her. She's got eyebrows that are more menacing than John L's. . . . and she doesn't have to put coal dust in hers.

The story takes place in a big, gloomy house. The gloom is authentic . . . . They modeled it after a certain radio comedian's home just before option time. In fact, in a couple of scenes, you can see my overshoes in the hall.

I sat through the whole picture fairly glued to my seat. I would follow a guy who parked his chewing gum on top! But the picture really is keeping the audiences in their seats. In fact, the manager told me it was the first time in the history of the theater that the box-office ougrossed the popcorn machine.

I won't tell you who turns out to be the villain. . . . I can't. I closed my eyes with the first murder and didn't get up enough courage to open them in time for the payoff.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Many Justices Have Favored Former Law Clients, Drew Pearson Reports

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 20—If Justice Jackson really goes through with his determination to press for an investigation of supreme court justices' previous law connections, it should open up some extremely interesting facts which the public hitherto has never heard about.

If Justice Jackson or someone else had opened this up fifteen years before, it would have saved the taxpayers a lot of money. For there are some glaring examples where supreme court justices did not disqualify themselves when old law connections appeared before the supreme court. Why Jackson picked on Hugo Black—aside from personal pique—is a mystery. Here are some of the other cases he could also have cited:

Case No. 1—Justice Owen Roberts was formerly a director of the Bell Telephone Company, also of American Telephone and Telegraph, and handled legal work for those companies. Yet when the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, a subsidiary of these two companies which Roberts once represented, came before the supreme court, he did not step aside. On the contrary, he wrote the majority opinion.

That opinion overruled the Maryland Public Service Commission which wanted to reduce telephone rates. However, the former director and attorney for the parent telephone company, Justice Roberts, ruled otherwise. This ruling cost the telephone users of Maryland millions of dollars.

Famous Railroad Lawyer

Case No. 2—Three years later, Justice Pierce Butler sat in another historic case, where his old client, the Great Northern railroad, was involved. Not only had Justice Butler been the personal attorney for the Great Northern, but he was the intimate and personal friend of the railroad's founder, James J. Hill. He was so close to Hill that when his name came before the Senate for confirmation, Sen. Walsh, of Montana; Cummings, of Iowa, and Nelson, of Minnesota, exacted a promise that Butler would not sit in railroad cases.

In 1936, however, the supreme court had to decide whether the State of North Dakota was right in assessing certain taxes against Justice Butler's old client, the Great Northern.

And Pierce Butler, completely callous to public opinion, completely ignoring the pledge given to the now dead senators, not ony sat in the case but wrote the majority opinion. Hitherto, it was always assumed that states and municipalities had the power to tax. But acting for a majority of the supreme court, Justice Butler abrogated that power to the "Nine Old Men" and scaled $10,000,000 off the tax bill of his old client, the Great Northern railroad.

Joining Butler in the majority opinion were Justice Roberts, for thirty years an attorney for the Pennsylvania railroad; Justice Willis Van Devanter, former attorney for the Union Pacific, and Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, who had represented many railroads. They all voted with their old clients.

Roberts and Railroads

Case No. 3—Last year, when hard-hitting Gov. Arnall, of Georgia, sued the Pennsylvania railroad and other lines for discriminating against the South on freight rates, observers wondered whether Justice Roberts would disqualify himself. For years, his law firm, MacCracken and Roberts, had represented the Pennsylvania. But Roberts did not step aside. He sat in the case, and voted for his old clients against the State of Georgia.

Case No. 4—When the famous AAA case (Butler vs. United State) came before the supreme court, involving Roosevelt's entire agricultural program, it was argued by George Wharton Pepper, Philadelphia. Pepper was not only a lifelong friend, but had recommended Owen Roberts to Herbert Hoover for appointment to the supreme court. However, Roberts not only sat on the bench while his old friend argued, but handed down the court's opinion in favor of Pepper, throwing the AAA farm program into the discard.

Case No. 5—On January 2, 1946, the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone sat in the case of Duquesne Warehouse Company vs railroad retirement. The lawyer for the Duquesne Warehouse Company was none other than Stone's personal attorney, John S. Flannery, of the firm of McKenny, Flannery and Craighill. Anyone who wants to see how close Flannery was to Stone need only inspect the late chief justice's will. Flannery drew it up for him.

Stone vs Roberts

Case No. 6 is mentioned by Justice Jackson in his scathing blast against Hugo Black. Jackson states that Chief Justice Stone did not sit in the North American Holding Company case or the Engineers Public Service Company case because those companies were represented by his old law firm, Sullivan and Cromwell. That, however, was not the fact.

The real fact is that the chief justice did sit in these two cases—and under unique circumstances.

At first he disqualified himself from the North American Holding Company case, because he had handled North America's legal matters when he was with Sullivan and Cromwell. However, this gave the court a no quorum, because three other justices had been either with the Justice department or the SEC when the North American case was brought.

About this time the Engineers Public Service Company case also came before the court, involving the same holding company question. It also was represented by Stone's old law firm. So some of his colleagues urged him to reconsider his disqualification and sit.

Justice Roberts, however, did not join these colleagues. On the contrary, he was emphatically opposed, and told Stone that if he withdrew his disqualificaion in one case and kept it in another, he, Roberts, might feel obligated to write about it.

The chief justice was an easy man to get along with, but in recent years he and Roberts — both Republicans — did not love each other at all. And this remark caused Stone to hit the ceiling.

"I have been a member of this court for twenty-one years," he said, "and no one has ever undertaken to tell me what I should or should not do."

Whereup, the chief justice withdrew his disqualification and sat in both the above cases. Furthermore, he also sat in a third case also involving his old law firm, wherein Pacific Gas and Electric asked for a decision as to whether it was part of the North American Holding Company.

However, Stone was so irate at Roberts that he had a list compiled of cases in which Roberts had sat when his former clients or law firm were involved. He kept that list in his personal files during the balance of his career and it is quite possible that a congressional investigating committee could get it there today.

Labor Legislation Seems To Be Dead, Lawrence Asserts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 20—Legislation on the labor problem at this session of Congress seems to be dead.

This includes not only the Case bill which President Truman vetoed but the anti-strike legislation which the president sponsored.

It means that labor union monopolies will go unrestrained and that strikes against the public interest will occur whenever and wherever any labor union waits to call them. It means also that the public may suffer interruption in electric light and power, transportation and the problem of vital necessities. So far as Congress is concerned, it apparently doesn't care very much about all this inconvenience, and, so far as public opinion is concerned, the people do not seem to have asserted themselves sufficiently to cause Congress to act before adjournment comes.

If, as planned, Congress leaves here next month, the pending bills that have gone through one or the other of the two houses will die and will have to be introduced and debated all over again when the new congress assembles next January, unless, of course, Mr. Truman has occasion to call a special session before the present congress goes out of office.

Says Truman Failed

The legislative debacle is largely due to President Truman's failure as a leader either of his own party or of the nation. When the rail and coal strikes threatened, he drifted along in the hope that they could be settled by his mediators and, when the rail strike was at hand, he guaranteed the unions against prosecution if they would postpone the strike five days. Then, evidently angered by the fact that a strike was called which actually tied up the nation's transportation system, Mr. Truman proposed drastic legislation providing for seizure of plants or facilities and providing also that workers could be drafted into the army.

The House of Representatives passed the emergency legislation but the Senate modified it and extracted the draft provisions. Now the measure can be sent to conference but the labor unions have succeeded in preventing it from being acted upon and their chances of killing all the legislation this session are very good.

The labor unions did a splendid job from their standpoint in bringing about the desired result—no legislation. They first fought the Case bill and then the draft lgislation by a filibuster in the Senate. In the latter, they had as allies those Republicans who felt it was good politics to eliminate the draft provisions. These same Republicans could have amended the bill to make it satisfactory to the president and to the House and the whole thing could have been enacted in forty-eight hours. Thus the draft provisions could have been changed so that they would not be a penalty for failure to work but merely a means of calling on all able-bodied or skilled citizens to assist the government whenever seizure and operation of essential plants was deemed necessary.

Strange Coalition at Work

There were in Congress, too, politicians who opposed the president and thought that they would wait and see what he would do about the Case bill. Mr. Truman vetoed the measure and implied that it was not a choice between the Case bill and no legislation at all, because he had offered emergency legislation. Now, since the House failed by a handful of votes to override the veto on the Case bill and the labor group has killed off that measure, the guns are trained on the emergency program. There a strange coalition is at work. Those who favor some kind of legislation but think the president has assumed full responsibility for settling labor disputes in the future, and want him to exercise it, all allied with those who represent the union viewpoint of fighting any and all amendments to the Wagner act. This is enough to kill the bill.

So politics on both the Republican and Democratic side and labor union strategy have managed to shelve all labor legislation, and the president's bill will remain on the table unacted upon unless in the next fortnight the American people manifest to Congress their desire that something be done about it.

Then and Now

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Somerset Maugham has just had published his latest book, which he has called "Then and Now," in which he has contrasted the times of long ago with those of the present, and he seems to convince us that things run fairly well in circles. You can't change the workings of human nature.

From Thoreau's journal I came across this line: "It costs so much to publish, would it not be better for the author to put his manuscript in a safe?" Well, it is fortunate that most of the manuscripts of Thoreau were published! But they sold in very limited quantities. His "Week on the Merrimac" only sold a few hundred copies, and nearly a thousan of them had to rest in his own library for a long time. Today, however, each one of those first editions, printed in 1849, are rare treasures to the lover of Thoreau. And the statement about the manuscript was made in 1855! I hardly think, however, that there was any paper shortage then. The shortage was in appreciative book buyers.

In all the history of every nation, and the individual as well, there have been times in the past when things looked most dark, but the law of nature, and of life, is that of change, but along the same pattern. Darkness and dawn are duplicated in the experiences of nations and individuals, so that we must be reminded that we must keep faith alive, for that alone guides us on.

We are apt to thing that our present times are more difficult than those that have passed. But they are not. They only call for re-enforcements, gauged to means of the present, to solve them as a problem.

Human nature never changes. We merely shuffle our ideas and conduct to fit the hour and the day. We are driven to study the ideas and actions of those long gone, that we may fit their formula to our needs and emergencies.

The lesson learned of life is that appreciation comes slowly to us all. It has been so to the worthy in the past, and it is just as true today. Our greatest satisfaction must come from wishing for nothing that we would not happily give away.

Polio Terrifies By Its Mystery, Physician Says

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis terrifies not only by its known effects, but also by its mystery.

Apparently pouncing out of nowhere, it is doubly feared by parents because there seems to be no sure way of guarding against it. This is because the question of just how this disease spreads has never been fully answered.

At one time, it was throught to be air-borne. More recently, research workers have come to believe that insects may play a part in carrying the disease from one human host to another.

Study Carried Out

Much light has been thrown on this problem by a study carried out in Chicago by Dr. Albert E. Casey, Birmingham, and Dr. William I. Fishbein, Chicago, under the supervision of the president of the Chicago Board of Health.

In trying to determine just how the disease spreads most often, they found much evidence indicating that infantile paralysis is passed from one child to another just as are the other common diseases of childhood, by direct contact. This discovery points the way to control of this crippling disorder by methods which have proved effective against other contagions, early diagnosis and isolation.

The study was made by watching children who had come in contact with another child who had infantile paralysis and determining whether or not they developed any symptoms like those of poliomyelitis. As a result of this study it was found that once infantile paralysis enters a neighborhood there is no evidence that insects have any role in spreading the disease.

Direct Contact

There was a great deal of evidence that the disease was spread by direct contact. This was shown by the fact that many children who had come in contact with the disease developed poliomyelitis or disorders with fever like poliomyelitis, while in another group of children who were not in contact with the disease, very few developed such symptoms, and not one developed poliomyelitis.

It was concluded that in children from 1½ to 3½ years of age, infantile paralysis is as contagious as measles, mumps, or others of the well-known catching diseases of childhood.

Of the children tudied, paralysis occurred in only one case out of six. Most of the cases were so mild that the physician was not called to take care of the child. Only about one out of every four cases would have been diagnosed if special efforts and tests had not been employed.

Protein in Spinal Fluid

It was interesting to note that even in the mildest cases there was an increase in the protein in the spinal fluid. It was believed, however, that even in the mildest cases there was enough reaction to the diseases to produce immunity against it.

It seems, therefore, that there is good evidence that poliomyelitis is spread from one child to another, and that many children get the disease early in life, which makes them immune to the condition. It is only in occasional instances that paralysis occurs.

Further efforts must be exerted to find a method of diagnosing poliomyelitis early. In this way it may be possible to separate children who have the disease from those who do not have it, and in this way, perhaps, keep the disease from spreading.

Of course, whenever a child has symptoms like those of infantile paralysis, such as fever, headache, stiff neck and, perhaps, sickness to the stomach and vomiting, the physician should be called at once so that a diagnosis may be made.

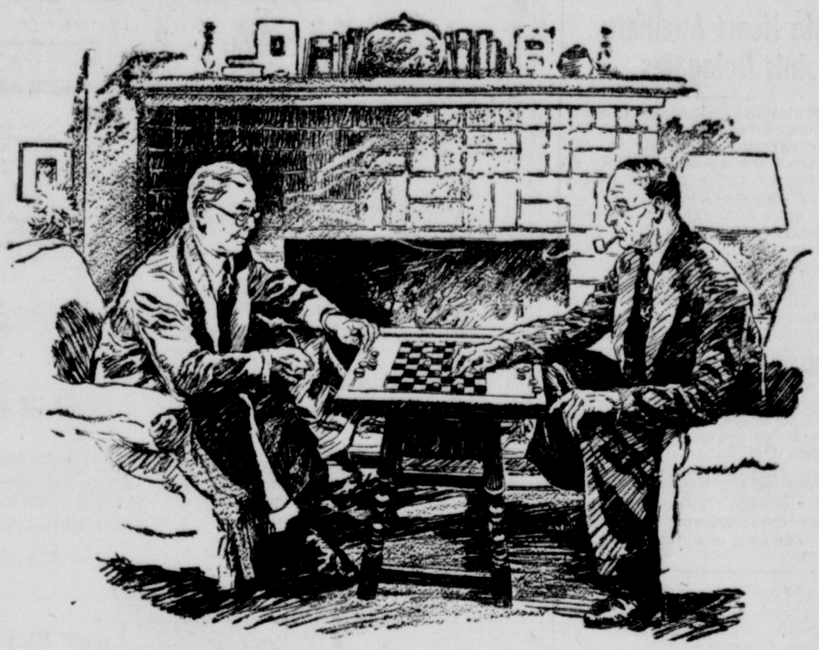
THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...



FRANK: "Would you mind repeating those percentages again, Judge . . . they're very interesting to me?"

OLD JUDGE: "Certainly, Frank. Men who have made a study of drinking report that 95% of those who drink, drink sensibly. 5% drink excessively at times. And included in that 5% is the small percentage of drinkers known as alcoholics."

FRANK: "And what was that about alcoholics being sick people?"

OLD JUDGE: "That is what scientific research disclosed. In other words, it was found that, in most cases, it was not a craving for alcohol that made people drink to excess. Alcoholics were found to be suffering from some deep-rooted mental, physical or emotional condition. If they hadn't turned to alcohol for escape, they would have turned to something else."

FRANK: "I am glad to learn about that enlightened viewpoint, Judge. I can see how it is possible to cure so many of these sick folks today . . . now the real cause is known."

Polio Terrifies By Its Mystery, Physician Says

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis terrifies not only by its known effects, but also by its mystery.

Apparently pouncing out of nowhere, it is doubly feared by parents because there seems to be no sure way of guarding against it.

This is because the question of just how this disease spreads has never been fully answered.

At one time, it was throught to be air-borne. More recently, research workers have come to believe that insects may play a part in carrying the disease from one human host to another.

Study Carried Out

Much light has been thrown on this problem by a study carried out in Chicago by Dr. Albert E. Casey, Birmingham, and Dr. William I. Fishbein, Chicago, under the supervision of the president of the Chicago Board of Health.

In trying to determine just how the disease spreads most often, they found much evidence indicating that infantile paralysis is passed from one child to another just as are the other common diseases of childhood, by direct contact. This discovery points the way to control of this crippling disorder by methods which have proved effective against other contagions, early diagnosis and isolation.

The study was made by watching children who had come in contact with another child who had infantile paralysis and determining whether or not they developed any symptoms like those of poliomyelitis. As a result of this study it was found that once infantile paralysis enters a neighborhood there is no evidence that insects have any role in spreading the disease.

Direct Contact

There was a great deal of evidence that the disease was spread by direct contact. This was shown by the fact that many children who had come in contact with the disease developed poliomyelitis or disorders with fever like poliomyelitis, while in another group of children who were not in contact with the disease, very few developed such symptoms, and not one developed poliomyelitis.

It was concluded that in children from 1½ to 3½ years of age, infantile paralysis is as contagious as measles, mumps, or others of the well-known catching diseases of childhood.

Of the children tudied, paralysis occurred in only one case out of six. Most of the cases were so mild that the physician was not called to take care of the child. Only about one out of every four cases would have been diagnosed if special efforts and tests had not been employed.

Protein in Spinal Fluid

It was interesting to note that even in the mildest cases there was an increase in the protein in the spinal fluid. It was believed, however, that even in the mildest cases there was enough reaction to the diseases to produce immunity against it.

It seems, therefore, that there is good evidence that poliomyelitis is spread from one child to another, and that many children get the disease early in life, which makes them immune to the condition. It is only in occasional instances that paralysis occurs.

Further efforts must be exerted to find a method of diagnosing poliomyelitis early. In this way it may be possible to separate children who have the disease from those who do not have it, and in this way, perhaps, keep the disease from spreading.

Of course, whenever a child has symptoms like those of infantile paralysis, such as fever, headache, stiff neck and, perhaps, sickness to the stomach and vomiting, the physician should be called at once so that a diagnosis may be made.

Shades of Old West Revive in New York

WOODSTOCK, N. Y. (AP) — When the Joseph Gilberts returned to their farm home one night, their cattle were making such a fuss that they investigated. In a pasture near the barn they found the scant remains of a $1,500 cow — all some rustler had bothered to leave after carting off several hundred pounds of meat, probably for the black market.

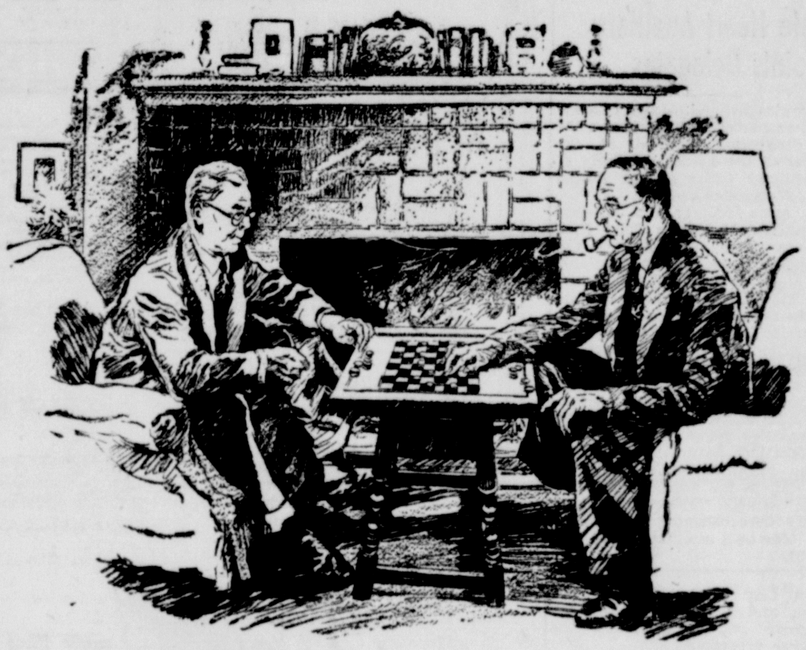
THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...



FRANK: "Would you mind repeating those percentages again, Judge . . . they're very interesting to me?"

OLD JUDGE: "Certainly, Frank. Men who have made a study of drinking report that 95% of those who drink, drink sensibly, 5% drink excessively at times. And included in that 5% is the small percentage of drinkers known as alcoholics."

FRANK: "And what was that about alcoholics being sick people?"

OLD JUDGE: "That is what scientific research disclosed. In other words, it was found that, in most cases, it was not a craving for alcohol that made people drink to excess. Alcoholics were found to be suffering from some deep-rooted mental, physical or emotional condition. If they hadn't turned to alcohol for escape, they would have turned to something else."

FRANK: "I am glad to learn about that enlightened viewpoint, Judge. I can see how it is possible to cure so many of these sick folks today . . . now the real cause is known."

Robert Frederick Bane Weds Florence Elva Rice

Marriage Is Performed in St. Paul's Lutheran Church by Pastor

The marriage of Miss Florence Elva Rice, 447 Cumberland street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee M. Rice, to Robert Frederick Bane, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Bane, 103 Washington street, took place yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at noon in St. Paul's Lutheran church, in the presence of the immediate families, with the Rev. Hixon T. Bowersox, D. D., officiating.

The bride had her sister, Mrs. C. Ralph Nicodemus, Baltimore, as her matron of honor, and only attendant. David T. Davis was best man for his brother-in-law.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school and until her recent resignation was employed as secretary to Dr. Howard L. Tolson.

The bridegroom attended Allegany high school, finished at Randolph Macon Academy, Bedford, Va., and graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Ashland, Va. Mr. Bane, outstanding in district tennis circles, was former county net champion. He is employed on the staff of the CA department at the Celanese Corporation of America.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride, for members of her bridal party and the immediate families. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bane will make their home at 447 Cumberland street.

Young Adults Y Social Club To Open June 25

The Y Social Club, organized to provide a recreational program for young adults throughout the county, will launch its activities with an informal open house and dance Tuesday evening, at Central YMCA.

Feeling the need for such a program the executive committee formed the club for young adults of 19 years and older. Arrangements have been made to use the facilities of the Y for one program a month during the summer, and more frequent meetings during the fall and winter, depending upon the interest shown in the project.

The opening program, for members and prospective members, will begin with the open house at 7:30. There will be swimming, under the direction of Eugene (Jake) Hopkins; bridge, under the chairmanship of Miss Naomi Enfield and Miss Jane Gilchrist; and pingpong.

Jay Van's orchestra will play for the dancing from 9 o'clock until midnight. The gym will be decorated and arranged in cabaret style with small tables. Miss Betty Shaffer, Miss Wandalee Hanks, Miss Catherine Ullery and Miss Eva Henry are in charge of the decorations.

James J. Kave, Wesley Laughrie, Miss Gilchrist and Miss Enfield comprise the ticket promotion committee. Anyone, who is not contacted and wishes to attend the social, may procure tickets at the door.

Robert Hook is acting chairman of the group and the committee of arrangements consists of John Breakiron and Mr. Hopkins.

Ali Ghan Shrine Band Will Attend Picnic

All members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Band, and their ladies, have been invited to attend a picnic in their honor, sponsored by the Hagerstown Shrine Club, June 23.

The Hagerstown picnic will be an elaborate affair. One of the many features of the program will be a concert given by the Nobles of the local band, under the direction of Dr. W. E. Capaldi.

A caravan of approximately sixty persons will meet at the Shrine City Club, South Centre street, Sunday morning ready to leave at 11:30 o'clock.

B and P Women's Clubs Plan National Convention

Local Club Receives Acknowledgement from Norway

Miss Anna Nicht, president of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, will represent the club at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, July 7-12, in Cleveland. Miss Kay Keenan has been named alternate.

Major speakers will include Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota; Senator Wayne Morse, Ore.; and Robert Watson, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, O., and Major Thomas Burke, Cleveland, will extend greetings at the opening session, Sunday evening. Miss Margaret A. Hickey, president of the federation, will give the major address.

Daytime sessions will be devoted to organization business, supplemented by legislative round tables, devoted to equal pay for women, the equal rights amendment, increased funds for the Federal Women's Bureau, jury service for women, federal aid to education and child labor.

There will also be workshops on health, international employment and public affairs discussions and classes in parliamentary law and public speaking for delegates who wish this sort of help.

Employment discussions will focus on such problems as whether or not women can retain their war gains, what women can do to insure the future for themselves economically and how to achieve better relations between employers and employes.

In international affairs, attention will be given to women's part in this field, and how they can help solve the problems involved in maintaining peace.

The Ohio federation, acting as hostess, will hold a reception for the delegates following the opening session; and will entertain the National Board of Directors at dinner Saturday evening. Social activities will also include a dinner Wednesday evening by the Cleveland Club, and a luncheon Thursday under the sponsorship of the International Federation.

A letter of appreciation for the contributions to members overseas has been received by the local club, from Sigrid Naerup Gunderud, national chairman of study and research, in Oslo, Norway.

It begins, "Dear B. and P. friend," and continues, "It was my intention to write each one of you a personal letter. And so I did to start with. But packages are still running in so abundantly that I must ask you to forgive me sending you a 'family' letter.

"We are greatly touched at the way you have given expression of your feeling of fellowship, sympathy and understanding. And I can assure you that we all more than appreciate your kind letters, clothing, foodstuffs and various other items. You have given joy to more than one of our members and others in need."

Jeanne Bowersox Graduates Cum Laude From Smith College

Miss Jeanne McClellan Bowersox, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Hixson T. Bowersox, 309 Washington street, graduated "cum laude" at Smith college, Northhampton, Mass., Monday. Besides her bachelor of arts degree, she was also awarded the Bacteriology prize.

Her outstanding record in her academic work includes being on the dean's list all four years and this year becoming a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society. An extra curricular activities she participated in the program of the Smith College Association for Christian Work; was a member of the class choir and Glee Club, was in the rally day show her junior year and received honorable mention for the Arthur Ellis Hamm scholarship prize, the highest freshman honor.

Miss Bowersox returned home Tuesday night with her parents who were in Northhampton for the weekend activities. She will spend a short vacation here and July 1, will begin her work in research of viruses at Yale Medical school.

Sisters Receive Honors At Oak Grove School

Eleanor and Joan Tolson, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Howard L. Tolson, Braddock road, have returned from Oak Grove School for Girls, Vassalboro, Me., where they won several awards.

The former received her athletic monogram, featured in the Winter Carnival and served as class treasurer. The latter, president of her class, won a membership in the K of A; and a ribbon in the spring horse show.

Personals

George L. Carney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carney, LaVale, returned home Wednesday night after receiving his discharge earlier in the day at Fort George G. Meade. Sgt. Carney returned to the states last Friday after being stationed in Germany for the past six months. He was in the army for two and one-half years.

Mrs. Eleanor Lewis Butler has left for Alameda, Calif., to join her husband, Frederick H. Butler, USN amm 2-c.

Francis Carney has returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carney, 411 Valley street, after undergoing a minor operation at Allegany hospital.

Mrs. Marshall Robison, Philadelphia, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Deal, LaVale.

Miss Ruth O'Donnell, 535 Henderson avenue, is a patient in Allegany hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Powell and son, William, Patterson, N. J., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Powell, 512 Hill street.

Events in Brief

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory picnic scheduled for tomorrow at the Celanese pool, has been postponed because of the constant rains. It will be held instead sometime in August, Warren Nichols, chairman, announces.

The Young Adults Assembly of the Methodist church will be held at Westminster June 21, 22 and 23.

McKinley Chapter, OES will induct a class of men at the final meeting of the season this evening. Mrs. Elinor Umstot, Miss Erma Harshbarger and Mrs. Margaret Wonn, assisted by Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Bessie Koch are in charge of arrangements.

Robert Frederick Bane Weds Florence Elva Rice

Marriage Is Performed in St. Paul's Lutheran Church by Pastor

The marriage of Miss Florence Elva Rice, 447 Cumberland street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee M. Rice, to Robert Frederick Bane, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Bane, 103 Washington street, took place yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at noon in St. Paul's Lutheran church, in the presence of the immediate families, with the Rev. Hixon T. Bowersox, D. D., officiating.

The bride had her sister, Mrs. C. Ralph Nicodemus, Baltimore, as her matron of honor, and only attendant. David T. Davis was best man for his brother-in-law.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school and until her recent resignation was employed as secretary to Dr. Howard L. Tolson.

The bridegroom attended Allegany high school, finished at Randolph Macon Academy, Bedford, Va., and graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Ashland, Va. Mr. Bane, outstanding in district tennis circles, was former county net champion. He is employed on the staff of the CA department at the Celanese Corporation of America.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride, for members of her bridal party and the immediate families. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bane will make their home at 447 Cumberland street.

Young Adults Y Social Club To Open June 25

The Y Social Club, organized to provide a recreational program for young adults throughout the county, will launch its activities with an informal open house and dance Tuesday evening, at Central YMCA.

Feeling the need for such a program the executive committee formed the club for young adults of 19 years and older. Arrangements have been made to use the facilities of the Y for one program a month during the summer, and more frequent meetings during the fall and winter, depending upon the interest shown in the project.

The opening program, for members and prospective members, will begin with the open house at 7:30. There will be swimming, under the direction of Eugene (Jake) Hopkins; bridge, under the chairmanship of Miss Naomi Enfield and Miss Jane Gilchrist; and pingpong.

Jay Van's orchestra will play for the dancing from 9 o'clock until midnight. The gym will be decorated and arranged in cabaret style with small tables. Miss Betty Shaffer, Miss Wandalee Hanks, Miss Catherine Ullery and Miss Eva Henry are in charge of the decorations.

James J. Kave, Wesley Laughrie, Miss Gilchrist and Miss Enfield comprise the ticket promotion committee. Anyone, who is not contacted and wishes to attend the social, may procure tickets at the door.

Robert Hook is acting chairman of the group and the committee of arrangements consists of John Breakiron and Mr. Hopkins.

Ali Ghan Shrine Band Will Attend Picnic

All members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Band, and their ladies, have been invited to attend a picnic in their honor, sponsored by the Hagerstown Shrine Club, June 23.

The Hagerstown picnic will be an elaborate affair. One of the many features of the program will be a concert given by the Nobles of the local band, under the direction of Dr. W. E. Capaldi.

A caravan of approximately sixty persons will meet at the Shrine City Club, South Centre street, Sunday morning ready to leave at 11:30 o'clock.

Local Man's Cousin Is Ordained Priest

Robert A. Moore, cousin of Lawrence J. Moore, 438 North Centre street, was ordained to the Catholic priesthood June 15 in St. James pro-cathedral, Brooklyn, N. Y.

In former years, Father Moore, whose home is in Flushing, N. Y., visited this city several times.

Clary Club Deed Filed

B and P Women's Clubs Plan National Convention

Local Club Receives Acknowledgement from Norway

Miss Anna Nicht, president of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, will represent the club at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, July 7-12, in Cleveland. Miss Kay Keenan has been named alternate.

Major speakers will include Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota; Senator Wayne Morse, Ore.; and Robert Watson, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, O., and Major Thomas Burke, Cleveland, will extend greetings at the opening session, Sunday evening. Miss Margaret A. Hickey, president of the federation, will give the major address.

Daytime sessions will be devoted to organization business, supplemented by legislative round tables, devoted to equal pay for women, the equal rights amendment, increased funds for the Federal Women's Bureau, jury service for women, federal aid to education and child labor.

There will also be workshops on health, international employment and public affairs discussions and classes in parliamentary law and public speaking for delegates who wish this sort of help.

Employment discussions will focus on such problems as whether or not women can retain their war gains, what women can do to insure the future for themselves economically and how to achieve better relations between employers and employes.

In international affairs, attention will be given to women's part in this field, and how they can help solve the problems involved in maintaining peace.

The Ohio federation, acting as hostess, will hold a reception for the delegates following the opening session; and will entertain the National Board of Directors at dinner Saturday evening. Social activities will also include a dinner Wednesday evening by the Cleveland Club, and a luncheon Thursday under the sponsorship of the International Federation.

A letter of appreciation for the contributions to members overseas has been received by the local club, from Sigrid Naerup Gunderud, national chairman of study and research, in Oslo, Norway.

It begins, "Dear B. and P. friend," and continues, "It was my intention to write each one of you a personal letter. And so I did to start with. But packages are still running in so abundantly that I must ask you to forgive me sending you a 'family' letter.

"We are greatly touched at the way you have given expression of your feeling of fellowship, sympathy and understanding. And I can assure you that we all more than appreciate your kind letters, clothing, foodstuffs and various other items. You have given joy to more than one of our members and others in need."

Jeanne Bowersox Graduates Cum Laude From Smith College

Miss Jeanne McClellan Bowersox, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Hixson T. Bowersox, 309 Washington street, graduated "cum laude" at Smith college, Northhampton, Mass., Monday. Besides her bachelor of arts degree, she was also awarded the Bacteriology prize.

Her outstanding record in her academic work includes being on the dean's list all four years and this year becoming a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society. An extra curricular activities she participated in the program of the Smith College Association for Christian Work; was a member of the class choir and Glee Club, was in the rally day show her junior year and received honorable mention for the Arthur Ellis Hamm scholarship prize, the highest freshman honor.

Miss Bowersox returned home Tuesday night with her parents who were in Northhampton for the weekend activities. She will spend a short vacation here and July 1, will begin her work in research of viruses at Yale Medical school.

Sisters Receive Honors At Oak Grove School

Eleanor and Joan Tolson, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Howard L. Tolson, Braddock road, have returned from Oak Grove School for Girls, Vassalboro, Me., where they won several awards.

He has served as a Judge of the highest Court in the State, and as Associate Judge of this Circuit for more than two years.

The Governor of the State, in appointing Judge Capper Chief Judge of this Circuit on April 14th, 1944, said that before making the appointment he sought the views of leading members of the Bar and Judges in all parts of the State; that the largest number of lawyers consulted favored the appointment of Mr. Capper.—(Baltimore Sun, April 15, 1944.)

The Governor further stated that even those who desired the appointment of another, frankly admitted that Mr. Capper possessed all the qualifications for the office. The Governor added that not a single lawyer interviewed denied the capabilities of Mr. Capper.

He is a past president of the Maryland State Bar Association and of the Allegany County Bar Association. He has also been a member of many commissions and organizations for the improvement of the law.

"I've got Poison Ivy!"

A doctor wrote a prescription for a patient suffering from irritating poison ivy. The quick relief he got was amazing. The doctor gave the druggist who fills the prescription permission to put it up for sale. It's called Cal-A-Grin, and is now on sale in your town. If you don't find it the greatest thing you ever used to relieve the itching of tormenting ivy and oak poison, you can have your money back without an argument. Cal-A-Grin is also great for the itching of athlete's foot, insect bites and minor skin irritations. Thousands of delighted users.

Miss Patricia Geatz, who will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. V. H. Parsons, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home, Cumberland street.

An informal party was given by Mrs. Joseph P. Hoyle, a bridesmaid honoring Miss Geatz and her bridal party, at her home, Greene street.

Mr. and Mrs. Geatz will entertain with a breakfast at the Elks Club following the ceremony and a reception during the afternoon at their home.

Albert Shaffer Jr., Weds Shirley Sapp

The marriage of Shirley Jean Sapp to Albert Shaffer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shaffer, 228 Union street, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sapp, 232 North Centre street, parents of the bride. The ceremony was performed January 26 in St. Mark's Lutheran church, Oakland, with the Rev. George Burke officiating.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, where she was a cheer leader for two years and served as advertising and business manager for the Sentinel. She is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and Rec Club Council and Winterettes. She is also a graduate of Ursuline Business school.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, where he was quarterback on the football squad and member of the track team. At present he is life guard at the Constitution park pool.

—Great Britain acquired the island of Bombay from the Portuguese in 1661. It was the second British possession in India.

MISS ATLANTIC CITY

BLONDE Betty Jones, 21, is pictured soon after she was acclaimed "Miss Atlantic City of 1946" in competition with 27 other beauties in Atlantic City, N. J. She will serve as hostess for this year's Miss America pageant, scheduled to take place in September.

W. M. Benson Weds Miss Bettie Roemer

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Bettie Roemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Roemer, North Centre street, to Warren M. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Benson, North Easton, Mass.

The double ring ceremony was performed June 16 in First Congregational church, Washington, D. C., with the Rev. Dr. Anderson officiating. Mrs. Hilman Willis, Washington, was the matron of honor and Paul Scherf, Washington, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school, where she was active in dramatics and music. For several years she was vocal soloist with Jimmy Andrews orchestra. A former member of the staff at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, she recently has been employed as secretary at the Retail Credit Institute of America, Washington.

The bridegroom is an engineering graduate of Northeastern university, North Easton, and of the University of Pittsburgh. During the war he served in an administrative position with the Bureau of Ships, and now is employed by Westinghouse Electric Corporation, in the Marine and Aviation Sales department.

Following a party at the Hotel 2400 the couple left for a trip to Luray Caverns, Hot Springs, Va., and Cape Cod, Mass. They will reside in Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Couple Have Fifty-third Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Handell, 610 North Ann place, observed their fifty-third wedding anniversary yesterday at the home of their son, Warren F. Handell, Washington, Pa.

Residents of Cumberland for the past twenty-six years, Mr. and Mrs. Handell were married June 20, 1893, in the First Christian church, Sandy Lake, Pa., with the Rev. F. A. Bright officiating. They have two sons, Oscar, who resides at home, and Warren, and six grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Handell are members of First Christian church here. The latter will be 82 on July 7 and is active and did much work for the war effort. Mr. Handell is a former employe of the Potomac Glass Company, but has not been so active since he underwent a major operation five years ago.

Jeanne Geatz Is Honored at Parties

Several pre-nuptial parties are being given honoring Miss Elizabeth Jeanne Geatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Geatz, 11 South Smallwood street, who will become the bride of Jams Edward Printy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Printy, Hollidaysburg, Pa., Saturday.

Miss Patricia Geatz, who will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. V. H. Parsons, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home, Cumberland street.

An informal party was given by Mrs. Joseph P. Hoyle, a bridesmaid honoring Miss Geatz and her bridal party, at her home, Greene street.

Mr. and Mrs. Geatz will entertain with a breakfast at the Elks Club following the ceremony and a reception during the afternoon at their home.

Albert Shaffer Jr., Weds Shirley Sapp

The marriage of Shirley Jean Sapp to Albert Shaffer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shaffer, 228 Union street, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sapp, 232 North Centre street, parents of the bride. The ceremony was performed January 26 in St. Mark's Lutheran church, Oakland, with the Rev. George Burke officiating.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, where she was a cheer leader for two years and served as advertising and business manager for the Sentinel. She is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and Rec Club Council and Winterettes. She is also a graduate of Ursuline Business school.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, where he was quarterback on the football squad and member of the track team. At present he is life guard at the Constitution park pool.

—Great Britain acquired the island of Bombay from the Portuguese in 1661. It was the second British possession in India.

MISS ATLANTIC CITY

BLONDE Betty Jones, 21, is pictured soon after she was acclaimed "Miss Atlantic City of 1946" in competition with 27 other beauties in Atlantic City, N. J. She will serve as hostess for this year's Miss America pageant, scheduled to take place in September.

W. M. Benson Weds Miss Bettie Roemer

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Bettie Roemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Roemer, North Centre street, to Warren M. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Benson, North Easton, Mass.

The double ring ceremony was performed June 16 in First Congregational church, Washington, D. C., with the Rev. Dr. Anderson officiating. Mrs. Hilman Willis, Washington, was the matron of honor and Paul Scherf, Washington, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school, where she was active in dramatics and music. For several years she was vocal soloist with Jimmy Andrews orchestra. A former member of the staff at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, she recently has been employed as secretary at the Retail Credit Institute of America, Washington.

The bridegroom is an engineering graduate of Northeastern university, North Easton, and of the University of Pittsburgh. During the war he served in an administrative position with the Bureau of Ships, and now is employed by Westinghouse Electric Corporation, in the Marine and Aviation Sales department.

Following a party at the Hotel 2400 the couple left for a trip to Luray Caverns, Hot Springs, Va., and Cape Cod, Mass. They will reside in Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Couple Have Fifty-third Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Handell, 610 North Ann place, observed their fifty-third wedding anniversary yesterday at the home of their son, Warren F. Handell, Washington, Pa.

Residents of Cumberland for the past twenty-six years, Mr. and Mrs. Handell were married June 20, 1893, in the First Christian church, Sandy Lake, Pa., with the Rev. F. A. Bright officiating. They have two sons, Oscar, who resides at home, and Warren, and six grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Handell are members of First Christian church here. The latter will be 82 on July 7 and is active and did much work for the war effort. Mr. Handell is a former employe of the Potomac Glass Company, but has not been so active since he underwent a major operation five years ago.

William T. Lewis Services Are Held In Eckhart

Military Honors Are Accorded to World War II Veteran

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 20 (AP)—Final rites for William Thomas Lewis, 38, Eckhart, veteran of World War II, who died Sunday at his home from a heart attack, were held Wednesday at 4 p. m., at the residence, with the Rev. Sidney Aldrich, pastor of the Eckhart Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. John Wilson, pastor of Eckhart Methodist church and the Rev. Walter Mehrling, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, conducting the services.

Pallbearers were John Herman, Wilbur Shuck, James Michaels, Elmer Loar, Ray Loar and Glenn Pryor.

Military honors were accorded by a firing squad consisting of members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The squad, in chage of Olen Spiker with Earl R. Miller as chaplain, consisted of Richard Jenkins and Paul Stewart, color bearers; Walter Evans and Bernard Cordial, color guards and James Spiker, James Bennett, Elmer Warnick and Charles Greening, Frank T. Mrs. Idella White Dies in Hospital

Methodist Minister Conducts Services for St. George Resident

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., June 20—Funeral services were conducted at the Mount Carmel church this week for Mrs. Idella E. White, 68, St. George, who died in the Tucker county hospital a few days after being admitted.

She was born in Preston county, a daughter of the late Newton S. and Sarah Miller Michaels and had lived in this county for more than thirty-five years. Her husband, Page White, died only a few months ago.

She is survived by one daughter, Vespa White, at home, one foster daughter, Alberta Sanders, Thornville, O. Brothers and sisters surviving are Genus Michaels, Tunnelton; Homer Michaels, Olympia, Wash; Mrs. Orpha Everly, Tunnelton; Mrs. Minnie Gains, Clarksburg, and Mrs. Iva Hayes, Crellin, Md.

The Rev. Frantz Casto, pastor of St. George Methodist church, officiated and interment was in the Shay cemetery near Tunnelton.

Phillip T. Runner Dies

Funeral services were conducted at the Union Chapel church in Clover district Wednesday afternoon for Phillip T. Runner, 64, who died of a heart attack while working at Greenville, O., on Sunday. He had the first attack on Thursday and on Sunday suffered the second attack which caused his death.

FINAL PROSECUTION WITNESS TESTIFIES AT ROLLINS'S TRIAL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 20 (AP)—Defeated in an attempt to place in evidence the record of a previous court-martial in which Chief Steward Walter W. Rollins had testified, the prosecution finished with its last announced witness today in the negro enlisted man's trial on sex charges, theft and embezzlement.

The move came after the stenographic record of testimony taken in secret sessions was made available by prosecution and defense agreement.

This record disclosed that Curtis Carter, Steward's mate first class, had testified behind closed doors last Thursday that he had seen the blonde wife of a naval academy bandsman with Rollins in his tiny basement room while she was partially disrobed.

The record stated Carter was shown a framed photograph of Mrs. Margaret A. Sima, Jr., and that he identified her as the woman he saw in the Virgin islands negro's room one night last summer when he looked through an aperture in the wall of his adjoining compartment.

Mrs. Sima previously denied from the witness stand that she had ever been alone with Rollins. The defendant himself pleaded innocent to all charges at the outset of his trial fourteen days ago.

Local Graduates Are Passing Up Service Branches

Local high school graduates are not taking to the armed services for careers or brief hitches in anything near the numbers that were recorded before the congressional squabble over induction of teen agers, according to Cumberland recruiting officials.

However, graduates of nearby tristate high schools are responding to the local recruiting programs a little better, with an average of seven or eight a week enlisting in the three branches.

The local army office has not inducted a single Cumberland high graduate while the navy office has sent four on their way for boot training. The marine office signed up twenty-five of the local graduates during the recent campaign to fill a sectional platoon.

Pending changes in the draft act may spur enlistment, the recruiting officers said, but larger numbers are expected shortly since the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights expire October 5. Men must sign up for at least eighteen months to be eligible.

Keyser Leases Playground Space For Children

100,000 Square Feet Obtained; Grading Work Started

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., June 20—To supplement the playground space and particularly for the benefit of children living north of the B. & O. tracks, the city has obtained a lease on ground formerly occupied by the Western Maryland station. The leased property comprises nearly 100,000 square feet, streaching from Main street along Ditch alley to West street.

In commenting on the need of a playground in that section, Mayor John C. Freeland stated that there were frequent calls from citizens, complaining that windows were being broken and lawns tramped by children who were compelled to use the streets and alleys for a play ground. He said that officers were forced to tell the children not to play in the streets, but could not tell them where they could play. To aid in correcting this situation the lease was secured.

The city took possession of the ground June 1 and set to work with graders to put it in shape for athletic games and other out-door sports. City playground director Fred "Tack" Clark will have general supervision of this new playground in connection with his work in other sections of the city.

Restaurant Chain Head Is Guilty of Tax Evasion

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Henry Lustig, president of the Longchamps restaurant chain, and two associates were found guilty today by a federal court jury on all counts of a twenty - three - count indictment charging conspiracy to evade payment of $2,872,756 in income taxes.

The jury deliberated less than four hours.

The other defendants were E. Allen Lustig, nephew of the chief defendant, and Joseph Sobel, chief accountant for the restaurant chain.

As a result of the conviction each defendant faces possible imprisonment for a maximum of 112 years and $230,000 in fines.

The indictment charged that the defendants deliberately evaded payment of federal incomes taxes for the years 1940 through 1944.

—Queen Berengaria, wife of Richard the Lionhearted, King of England, never set foot on English soil.

FINAL PROSECUTION WITNESS TESTIFIES AT ROLLINS'S TRIAL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 20 (AP)—Defeated in an attempt to place in evidence the record of a previous court-martial in which Chief Steward Walter W. Rollins had testified, the prosecution finished with its last announced witness today in the negro enlisted man's trial on sex charges, theft and embezzlement.

The move came after the stenographic record of testimony taken in secret sessions was made available by prosecution and defense agreement.

This record disclosed that Curtis Carter, Steward's mate first class, had testified behind closed doors last Thursday that he had seen the blonde wife of a naval academy bandsman with Rollins in his tiny basement room while she was partially disrobed.

The record stated Carter was shown a framed photograph of Mrs. Margaret A. Sima, Jr., and that he identified her as the woman he saw in the Virgin islands negro's room one night last summer when he looked through an aperture in the wall of his adjoining compartment.

Mrs. Sima previously denied from the witness stand that she had ever been alone with Rollins. The defendant himself pleaded innocent to all charges at the outset of his trial fourteen days ago.

Fresh Produce Prices Listed

The OPA community price list of fresh fruits and vegetables for the week beginning yesterday has twelve articles of fresh produce included. They are:

Central American bananas, 12 cents a pound; Florida and Texas white grapefruit, nine and a half cents a pound; Florida and Texas pink grapefruit, 10½ cents a pound; lemons, size 360 or larger, 14½ cents a pound; size 432 or smaller, 12½ cents a pound; California oranges, all sizes, 14 cents a pound.

Oregon, Washington, California or imported pears, 19 cents a pound; green snap beans, 19½ cents a pound; carrots, 11 cents a bunch, loose (without) tops, eight and a half cents a pound; lettuce, small heads, 13 cents; medium heads, 15 cents and large heads, 19 cents.

Onions, over three inches, yellow type, 11 cents a pound; yellow onions under three inches, 10½ cents a pound, white onions under three inches, 11 cents a pound; boiler and pickler onions, 14 cents a pound; sweet potatoes and yams, 14½ cents a pound and spinach, 14½ cents a pound.

WESTMINSTER, Md., June 20 (AP)—Carroll county's two most outstanding women of the year, so designated by the local Soroptimist club at its annual dinner-meeting, are Miss Margaret Harris, member of the town council, and Mrs. Charles O. Clemson, leader in women's club and community activities.

Local Graduates Are Passing Up Service Branches

Local high school graduates are not taking to the armed services for careers or brief hitches in anything near the numbers that were recorded before the congressional squabble over induction of teen agers, according to Cumberland recruiting officials.

However, graduates of nearby tristate high schools are responding to the local recruiting programs a little better, with an average of seven or eight a week enlisting in the three branches.

The local army office has not inducted a single Cumberland high graduate while the navy office has sent four on their way for boot training. The marine office signed up twenty-five of the local graduates during the recent campaign to fill a sectional platoon.

Pending changes in the draft act may spur enlistment, the recruiting officers said, but larger numbers are expected shortly since the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights expire October 5. Men must sign up for at least eighteen months to be eligible.

Keyser Leases Playground Space For Children

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., June 20—To supplement the playground space and particularly for the benefit of children living north of the B. & O. tracks, the city has obtained a lease on ground formerly occupied by the Western Maryland station. The leased property comprises nearly 100,000 square feet, streaching from Main street along Ditch alley to West street.

In commenting on the need of a playground in that section, Mayor John C. Freeland stated that there were frequent calls from citizens, complaining that windows were being broken and lawns tramped by children who were compelled to use the streets and alleys for a play ground. He said that officers were forced to tell the children not to play in the streets, but could not tell them where they could play. To aid in correcting this situation the lease was secured.

The city took possession of the ground June 1 and set to work with graders to put it in shape for athletic games and other out-door sports. City playground director Fred "Tack" Clark will have general supervision of this new playground in connection with his work in other sections of the city.

Mrs. Ravenscroft Dies

Mrs. Mary Isador Spencer Ravenscroft, 77, of Twenty-first Bridge, died in Potomac Valley hospital at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday. She was a native of Mineral county and spent her entire life within the county. Her parents were the late John and Margaret Burns Spencer.

KEEP MOVING

"You are," writes he reproachfully, "inconsistent. You say one thing one day and another the next. I never know where you stand."

In which case, brother, you have nothing on me! I, also, never know where I stand. And, what's more and worse, I don't care. For I don't want to stand anywhere. I want to keep moving!

As far as I can see, this present age has no use for anything but movers. Time was when stand patters won all the medals. Life changed little from one generation to another. A person could pick out a nice, respectable set of ideas for himself at twenty and use them right through until he was ninety. Indeed, most people didn't even bother to select their own ideas. They just used the set their fathers or grandfathers had used, and nobody knew the difference.

It was a very comfortable state of society, and people who preserved that comfort, consistent people who stayed stationary and didn't wiggle, were highly esteemed. While, on the other hand, people who bounced about and tried to start something were naturally given dog eye. Civilization is on the flit.

But those comfortable days are no more. The consistent person who thinks today what he thought last month and who follows the program which he followed five years ago is no longer an asset to the community. He's a pest. He gets in everyone's way, including his own. He ties up traffic.

This is the era of limited parking. By the time you've parked too long on one idea the signals have changed, the traffic is moving and it's up to you to move with it. If you don't move, you're out of luck and the peeved spectators will speedily make you realize it.

Keep moving! Keep changing! This world in which you are living changes every hour. Its laws....its knowledge....its customs....its social attitudes are in flux. You do not need to accept all these new ideas and attitudes, but you should recognize them, study them and adapt your life to them. Unless you do keep adapting, you're not worth a hoot to yourself or anyone else. Consistency? Pooh! You might as well boast about wearing the same shirt steadily as boast about thinking the same thoughts steadily.

Keep moving!

Life's zooming ahead .... zoom with it!

Miss Fairfax Has Little Sympathy For Golddigger

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriages

Last week I printed a letter signed by a group of veterans who complained bitterly about the unreliability of the feminine sex. One of their accusations was that girls lead men on, making them think they care; then drop them "like a hot potato" when they feel so inclined.

Now while I'd hold out for a long time before I'd agree that the girls have any monopoly on this type of thing, one has to admit that some of them are not above encouraging masculine attention purely for what they can get out of it, whether for the sake of appearing the more enviably popular in the eyes of others, or for what it means in concrete terms of handsome presents.

This last is a particularly dangerous fame to play since it is apt to get entirely out of hand. And when it does, the girl is likely to find herself involved in something she does not know how to get out of.

Keeps His Friendship

That's just what has happened to a girl who writes this column for advice on how to drop the man whose gifts she has been accepting and how to interest one from whom she'd like to receive them. Maybe this girl will think that's not quite a fair way to put it, but you can judge for yourself, whether it is or not, from her own words. Here is what she says:

"My problem is, I have been writing to a boy who is overseas as yet, and whom I've known a long time. I'm not in love with him, and I don't think I could ever learn to like him, although I did go out with him and I have received many beautiful things from him. I believe that is why I have been keeping his friendship."

See? She frankly admits she's "been keeping his friendship" because he sent her beautiful things.

She goes on to say that this boy "tells me over and over again that he is in love with me, and that I'm the only girl for him, and he keeps writing things about the future for both he and I." She never told him she liked him, she declares, nor that she was waiting for him. But what else would the poor guy think when she willingly accepted so much from him and apparently never hinted in her letters that it was the presents, rather than himself, to which she was partial?

Confession Is Answer

Then, she says, the boy wrote her that if she ever told him she didn't care for him and did care for someone else, he would never come back home. This scared her so that she was afraid to tell him she "was going out with many other boys," and that there actually was one special boy in whom she was interested. She also says the boy's family, consisting of married sisters, "also think I'm waiting for their brother, but I'm not." I wonder how the family ever got such an idea?

So now she wants to know how she can diplomatically shake the first boy and intrigue the second, who doesn't seem particularly eager to be intrigued.

Somehow I can't feel awfully sympathetic with this problem. I can understand, as perhaps you remember I tried to explain to the veterans mentioned at the beginning, how girls got themselves entangled during the war because they wanted to be kind to boys going overseas. Then they hated to hurt the boys while they were away.

But when a girl apparently encourages a man purely for the nice presents he sends her, I can't feel too sorry for her when she gets caught with the goods right on her. About all she can do is to confess to the boy and take the consequences of her folly. As for interesting the other boy, maybe she's better try sending him presents!

Miss Fairfax Has Little Sympathy For Golddigger

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriages

Last week I printed a letter signed by a group of veterans who complained bitterly about the unreliability of the feminine sex. One of their accusations was that girls lead men on, making them think they care; then drop them "like a hot potato" when they feel so inclined.

Now while I'd hold out for a long time before I'd agree that the girls have any monopoly on this type of thing, one has to admit that some of them are not above encouraging masculine attention purely for what they can get out of it, whether for the sake of appearing the more enviably popular in the eyes of others, or for what it means in concrete terms of handsome presents.

This last is a particularly dangerous fame to play since it is apt to get entirely out of hand. And when it does, the girl is likely to find herself involved in something she does not know how to get out of.

Keeps His Friendship

That's just what has happened to a girl who writes this column for advice on how to drop the man whose gifts she has been accepting and how to interest one from whom she'd like to receive them. Maybe this girl will think that's not quite a fair way to put it, but you can judge for yourself, whether it is or not, from her own words. Here is what she says:

"My problem is, I have been writing to a boy who is overseas as yet, and whom I've known a long time. I'm not in love with him, and I don't think I could ever learn to like him, although I did go out with him and I have received many beautiful things from him. I believe that is why I have been keeping his friendship."

See? She frankly admits she's "been keeping his friendship" because he sent her beautiful things.

She goes on to say that this boy "tells me over and over again that he is in love with me, and that I'm the only girl for him, and he keeps writing things about the future for both he and I." She never told him she liked him, she declares, nor that she was waiting for him. But what else would the poor guy think when she willingly accepted so much from him and apparently never hinted in her letters that it was the presents, rather than himself, to which she was partial?

Confession Is Answer

Then, she says, the boy wrote her that if she ever told him she didn't care for him and did care for someone else, he would never come back home. This scared her so that she was afraid to tell him she "was going out with many other boys," and that there actually was one special boy in whom she was interested. She also says the boy's family, consisting of married sisters, "also think I'm waiting for their brother, but I'm not." I wonder how the family ever got such an idea?

So now she wants to know how she can diplomatically shake the first boy and intrigue the second, who doesn't seem particularly eager to be intrigued.

Somehow I can't feel awfully sympathetic with this problem. I can understand, as perhaps you remember I tried to explain to the veterans mentioned at the beginning, how girls got themselves entangled during the war because they wanted to be kind to boys going overseas. Then they hated to hurt the boys while they were away.

But when a girl apparently encourages a man purely for the nice presents he sends her, I can't feel too sorry for her when she gets caught with the goods right on her. About all she can do is to confess to the boy and take the consequences of her folly. As for interesting the other boy, maybe she's better try sending him presents!

House Prices Are Bound to Crash, Babson Asserts

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 21.—The market for houses—both old and new—is today as crazy as was the stock market in 1929. Someday there is bound to be a crash in the price of houses such as came to the stock market after the last big boom. Houses that cost $8,000 or more to build twenty years ago and which could have been bought ten years ago at $6,000 are now being sold at $12,000 or more.

There are three reasons for this unhealthy boom in houses: (1) The discharge from the army of 12,000,000 men, a large percentage of whom have been married during the past five years and now naturally want a home. (2) The crazy regulations of the government making it difficult to build new homes. (3) The labor union rules and the aim of their members to do as little work, instead of as much work, in the day as possible. Hence, it is difficult to get a new house built within a year even if one is willing to pay the fantastic prices.

Slow-down Is Wrong

I don't blame labor for unionizing and for demanding reasonable wage increases, but this "slow-down" in the work is absolutely wrong. Not only will wage-workers themselve be obliged to pay more in rents, but they may start a buyers' strike. People are disgusted with the way bricklayers, carpenters and painters are apparently doing as little as possible and dragging out the work. The nation's standard of living can be raised only by all of us producing more. We cannot pull ourselves up by our bootstraps.

Should houseowners who have a chance to double their money on their present house now sell? My answer is that if it is a house which you own and do not occupy, but from which you collect rents, sell it. This will give you a good profit and you will be rendering a service by helping to break this present crazy market. On the other hand, if it is a house in which you live, unless you definitely have some other place to go, you cannot afford to sell even at these crazy high prices.

The same general advices apply to business property and farm property. Factories, stores and farms which you occupy yourself, you should continue to hold; but now is the time to "cash in" on those which you don't occupy but are collecting rents therefrom. Of course, we are in inflation and it will continue to increase, but there has never yet been an era of inflation that was not followed by an era of deflation.

The general rules about getting tenants out of houses which they now occupy are as follows: (1) If the property is bought by a GI man who immediately gets a lawyer to prepare proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in three months. (2) If the property is bought by anyone who is to occupy it himself with his family and who immediately employes a lawyer to prepare proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in six months. (3) If your case conforms with neither of the two above mentioned, you will have a hard time in getting the tenant out unless he is willing to move out. Thus, the purchase of homes for speculation, is risky.

Contractors Are Handicapped

Not only are old houses selling for more than they are worth, but new houses are likewise inflated. This, however, is not the fault of the contractors. They are working hard to give you as good a house as they can at a fair price. They, moreover, are severely handicapped by labor conditions and material shortages. Yes, they long for the time when they will again be able to build good houses at reasonable prices. They are not only handicapped by the labor unions, but they hate to use the green lumber and small sizes which they are compelled to do at the present time.

Therefore, my final suggestion is that if you can get on without buying a house at the present time, you had better do so. On the other hand, this probably means waiting until after 1950 before you can get a decent house at a fair price.

House Prices Are Bound to Crash, Babson Asserts

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 21.—The market for houses—both old and new—is today as crazy as was the stock market in 1929. Someday there is bound to be a crash in the price of houses such as came to the stock market after the last big boom. Houses that cost $8,000 or more to build twenty years ago and which could have been bought ten years ago at $6,000 are now being sold at $12,000 or more.

There are three reasons for this unhealthy boom in houses: (1) The discharge from the army of 12,000,000 men, a large percentage of whom have been married during the past five years and now naturally want a home. (2) The crazy regulations of the government making it difficult to build new homes. (3) The labor union rules and the aim of their members to do as little work, instead of as much work, in the day as possible. Hence, it is difficult to get a new house built within a year even if one is willing to pay the fantastic prices.

Slow-down Is Wrong

I don't blame labor for unionizing and for demanding reasonable wage increases, but this "slow-down" in the work is absolutely wrong. Not only will wage-workers themselve be obliged to pay more in rents, but they may start a buyers' strike. People are disgusted with the way bricklayers, carpenters and painters are apparently doing as little as possible and dragging out the work. The nation's standard of living can be raised only by all of us producing more. We cannot pull ourselves up by our bootstraps.

Should houseowners who have a chance to double their money on their present house now sell? My answer is that if it is a house which you own and do not occupy, but from which you collect rents, sell it. This will give you a good profit and you will be rendering a service by helping to break this present crazy market. On the other hand, if it is a house in which you live, unless you definitely have some other place to go, you cannot afford to sell even at these crazy high prices.

The same general advices apply to business property and farm property. Factories, stores and farms which you occupy yourself, you should continue to hold; but now is the time to "cash in" on those which you don't occupy but are collecting rents therefrom. Of course, we are in inflation and it will continue to increase, but there has never yet been an era of inflation that was not followed by an era of deflation.

The general rules about getting tenants out of houses which they now occupy are as follows: (1) If the property is bought by a GI man who immediately gets a lawyer to prepare proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in three months. (2) If the property is bought by anyone who is to occupy it himself with his family and who immediately employes a lawyer to prepare proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in six months. (3) If your case conforms with neither of the two above mentioned, you will have a hard time in getting the tenant out unless he is willing to move out. Thus, the purchase of homes for speculation, is risky.

Contractors Are Handicapped

Not only are old houses selling for more than they are worth, but new houses are likewise inflated. This, however, is not the fault of the contractors. They are working hard to give you as good a house as they can at a fair price. They, moreover, are severely handicapped by labor conditions and material shortages. Yes, they long for the time when they will again be able to build good houses at reasonable prices. They are not only handicapped by the labor unions, but they hate to use the green lumber and small sizes which they are compelled to do at the present time.

Therefore, my final suggestion is that if you can get on without buying a house at the present time, you had better do so. On the other hand, this probably means waiting until after 1950 before you can get a decent house at a fair price.

Appeal for Paint Shop Permit Is Filed with Board

Paul M. Nehring and John W. Shober filed an appeal with the board of zoning appeals yesterday when their application for a permit to use a private garage as a paint shop was denied by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, on the ground that the garage is located in a Residential B zoning district.

The garage is located at the rear of a vacant lot at 511 Holland street, on an alley between Shawnee and Sylvan avenues. The one-story structure measures 20 by 20 feet, with a concrete floor, frame walls and a tarpaper roof. The lot has been owned for the past sixteen years by Paul C. Nehring, 410 Franklin street, father of Paul M. Nehring, who resides at 451 Henderson avenue. Shober lives at 502 North Centre street.

Two building permits were granted yesterday, both for the construction of new homes.

Granville W. Kaylor and Ernest Wilson Kaylor, both of 612 Louisiana avenue, secured permits to construct two residences. The former's permit calls for the building of a one-story house on Lot 10, Block 13 at Sheridan place, at an estimated cost of $4,000. The house will measure 34 by 28 feet, with a concrete block foundation, veneered brick walls and a composition roof.

The other house, to be located on Lot 14 in the same block at Sheridan place, will be one story high and will measure 34 to 33 feet, with the same materials to be used. It will cost an estimated $4,500. Work in both cases will be done by Dayton M. Lewis, who made the applications.

Keyser Athlete Enlists in Army For 18 Months

Robert Dorsey, Keyser, W. Va., athlete and recent winner of the Sgt. J. Edward Kelley sports award, was one of four men to enlist in the army yesterday at the local recruiting office.

Dorsey, son of Mrs. Flo Dorsey, Keyser, was an outstanding basketball and football player at Keyser high school in recent years. He was the first man to receive the Kelley award, which is presented annually in memory of Sgt. Kelley, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously for heroism in World War II. Dorsey enlisted for eighteen months.

Sgt. Charles B. Fair, 26, 102 Main street, Ridgeley, former commander of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, enlisted for three years with the chemical warfare service. He served three years and one month during World War II and was awarded the Purple Heart medal with cluster, Bronze Star medal for bravery, Presidential citation, Good Conduct medal and ETO ribbon with battle stars.

Two other enlistments today were Arnold Leon Simone, 17, 75 Vernon street, Keyser, W. Va., and Charles L. Feller, 17, 681 West Piedmont street, Keyser, W. Va. Simone signed for three years with the air force in the Pacific and Feller joined the transportation corps in the ETO for three years.

Paul Robert Ridings, Martinsburg, W. Va., was found not guilty yesterday morning in trial magistrates' court on a charge of speeding on Route 40 at LaVale Wednesday. Cpl. C. A. Disney, of the state police, made the arrest.

Good Apple Crop Looms

HANCOCK, Md., June 20 (AP)—Local apple growers report they are making ready for a good harvest by building camps for Jamaican and other temporary pickers.

The local laboratory estimated total cold weather damage, except for the Delicious variety, was not over ten per cent. Growers say that with prospects of a good crop, additional harvest labor is imperative.

posals on this item—one which has plagued Allied peacemaking efforts since the end of the war.

Molotov declared he still preferred a permanent solution, but if one could not be achieved then something temporary or an agreement to postpone a decision should be adopted.

On a motion by Byrnes the council named a four-man commission to study the proposal and work out details for a report back to the ministers.

The four men named were Ben Cohen, United States State Department counsellor; Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister; Maurice Couve De Murville, French deputy foreign minister; Gladwyn Jebb, British deputy foreign secretary.

19-Year-Olds Are Scarce

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP)—Washington county will be able to supply only an estimated twenty men in the 26 through 29 age group for induction into the armed forces, William A. Tobias, co-ordinator for local Selective Service boards, said today.

He said there were no 19-year-old men available since up to May 15 the boards had been inducting all those between 18 and 26 years old.

had criticized merger plans previously. Mr. Truman said without qualification that he will receive one from Forrestal, who has been out of town.

Food—Former President Herbert Hoover reported at the White House during the day that he had a successful trip to South America and will make a formal report later.

Palestine — Negotations are are continuing with the British on the American proposal for the admittance of 100,000 European Jews but there are no developments.

WSA Chief To Resign

Resignations—Maj. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory has been wanting to quit as head of the War Assets Administration and will do so when a satisfactory successor can be found. Rexford Guy Tugwell also wishes to resign as governor of Puerto Rico but the president has not decided upon a successor.

Pacific—The matter of American bases, along with other Pacific matters, was discussed by the president with Herbert Evatt, Australian foreign minister, who visited the White House during the day with Dean Acheson, acting secretary of state. Evatt will have further conferences at the State department.

Labor — Negotiations to settle the Allis-Chalmers strike are still continuing. There is no indication when the government may turn the soft coal mines back to the operators.

Politics — The president was asked whether he has indorsed a proposal to run Sen. James Mead, of New York, as the Democratic candidate for governor and F. H. LaGuardia, former mayor of New York and now director-general of UNRRA, for Mead's seat. Mr. Truman answered that he is not making any political indorsements outside his home state of Missouri.

Elgin, Tawes'

Elgin denied neglecting his duties as state commissioner of motor vehicles, saying he was not at the Tawes headquarters during office hours.

"He's like a spoiled child," Elgin said of Lane. "If things go his way, he's happy; but when he can't have his way he turns to sulking. If anyone differs with him he gets violently mad. Mr. Lane stops at nothing to gain his point."

As support of this point, Elgin said Lane "became so mad" when a Hagerstown American Legion post approved a bonus after World War I, that he withdrew from the post.

"He came back to the Legion when he got the notion to run for office," Elgin asserted.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that both the Lane and Tawes forces had appealed to Maryland liquor dealers for support of their candidacies. Each held that the nomination of the other would carry a threat of state liquor stores.

Eugene H. Beer, Jr., treasurer of the Lane organization, issued a letter in which he said that Attorney General William Curran, a Tawes supporter, proposed consideration of state stores for Baltimore in 1943.

Beer said the letter was written for the purpose of offsetting one sent to dealers last month by Eugene J. C. Raney, a Tawes worker.

Raney said he was put out of his beer business in 1941 because E. Brooke Lee "had a law passed" in Montgomery county which put the beer business into a county store.

Raney described Lee as "the man behind Preston Lane."

"If Preston Lane is elected governor," he said, "Brooke Lee will control the State of Maryland."

Lane appealed tonight for support of his entire state ticket, including James J. Lacy for comptroller, and Hall Hammond for attorney general, in an address prepared for radio broadcast. He also urged voters to participate in the primary election Monday, regardless of their convictions.

Governor O'Conor announced that he had received the indorsement of Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, Hagerstown, for Democratic nomination to the Senate. Sweeney said O'Conor had acquired an experience which "few if any Marylanders have enjoyed" and that because of his age would be "vigorous in advocating those things for which the Maryland people stand."

In Republican circles, Paul Robertson, party chairman in Baltimore, announced indorsement of D. John Markey, Frederick, for the United States Senate nomination. In view of his own candidacy for the House of Representatives from the Fourth district, Robertson said he would remain "personally neutral" in the race between Mayor McKeldin and Herman L. Mills for the governorship nomination.

DEATHS

The body will be taken to the home of his brother in Purgittsville where funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m.

MRS. MARY NAYLON

Final rites will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Mary Naylon, 75, widow of John Naylon, 409 Winmer street, who died Wednesday in Memorial hospital. She was in failing health for the past six months and was admitted Sunday.

The body is at the Hafer funeral home where services will be conducted by the Rev. Hiri A. Kester, pastor of Kingsley Methodist church. Burial will be in Rose hill cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPHINE McCLAIN

A requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's church Saturday at 9 a. m. for Mrs. Josephine McClain, 76, widow of Martin McClain, 428 Arch street, who died Wednesday night at the home of her niece, Miss Mary Joyce, 432 Grand avenue. She had been ill since January. The body is at the home of her niece.

Interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery.

MRS. LILLIE CONNOR

Mrs. Lillie Connor, 74, widow of Harvey Connor, 456 North Centre street, died yesterday morning at 1:01 o'clock in Memorial hospital where she had been a patient since May 8. She had been seriously ill for the past three months.

Mrs. Connor had been a resident of this city for over fifty years and was a member of Centre Street Methodist church.

Her husband, who died here about 1932, was a well known local tailor and had operated a tailor shop on North George street for many years.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Himmell, 92, Confluence, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. G. A. Frantz, Confluence, and Mrs. William Sands, Franklin, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock E.S.T. in the C. B. Humbert funeral home, Confluence, by the Rev. Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist church. Interment will be in Addison, Pa.

STAIR RITES PLANNED

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for William Henry Stair, who was found dead in his second floor apartment, 445 North Centre street, Wednesday. The body is at the Hafer funeral home where rites will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church.

Interment will be in Friends Cove, Pa., cemetery.

stairs. She came downstairs again Saturday afternoon, Michael said, and again fell from her chair.

Michael told Harris he was so disgusted that time that he let her lie on the floor for about twenty minutes after which he became concerned and carried her upstairs and put her to bed.

Michael told Harris his wife was apparently unconscious and showed no signs of life from that time until Saturday morning between 3:30 and 4:30 o'clock when she moved in bed. Mrs. Michael was admitted to the local hospital at 10:15 Saturday and died while still in a state of coma, Harris said he was told.

The state's attorney said the kick or kicks on the woman's head produced the fracture which resulted in the fatal hemorrhage.

Harris said Mr. and Mrs. Michael were married January 18, 1946, and have lived on the Buckley farm a short distance east of Spring Gap for the past two months.

Michael, a machine repairman at the Celanese plant for nine years, has no criminal record, the state's attorney said.

Harris said the investigation is not entirely complete although all the important features of the case have been investigated.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Michael will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein funeral home. The Rev. M. Vermillia, acting pastor of Davis Memorial Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Spring Gap cemetery.

Appeal for Paint Shop Permit Is Filed with Board

Paul M. Nehring and John W. Shober filed an appeal with the board of zoning appeals yesterday when their application for a permit to use a private garage as a paint shop was denied by Ralph L. Riser, city engineer, on the ground that the garage is located in a Residential B zoning district.

The garage is located at the rear of a vacant lot at 511 Holland street, on an alley between Shawnee and Sylvan avenues. The one-story structure measures 20 by 20 feet, with a concrete floor, frame walls and a tarpaper roof. The lot has been owned for the past sixteen years by Paul C. Nehring, 410 Franklin street, father of Paul M. Nehring, who resides at 451 Henderson avenue. Shober lives at 502 North Centre street.

Two building permits were granted yesterday, both for the construction of new homes.

Granville W. Kaylor and Ernest Wilson Kaylor, both of 612 Louisiana avenue, secured permits to construct two residences. The former's permit calls for the building of a one-story house on Lot 10, Block 13 at Sheridan place, at an estimated cost of $4,000. The house will measure 34 by 28 feet, with a concrete block foundation, veneered brick walls and a composition roof.

The other house, to be located on Lot 14 in the same block at Sheridan place, will be one story high and will measure 34 to 33 feet, with the same materials to be used. It will cost an estimated $4,500. Work in both cases will be done by Dayton M. Lewis, who made the applications.

Keyser Athlete Enlists in Army For 18 Months

Robert Dorsey, Keyser, W. Va., athlete and recent winner of the Sgt. J. Edward Kelley sports award, was one of four men to enlist in the army yesterday at the local recruiting office.

Dorsey, son of Mrs. Flo Dorsey, Keyser, was an outstanding basketball and football player at Keyser high school in recent years. He was the first man to receive the Kelley award, which is presented annually in memory of Sgt. Kelley, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously for heroism in World War II. Dorsey enlisted for eighteen months.

Sgt. Charles B. Fair, 26, 102 Main street, Ridgeley, former commander of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, enlisted for three years with the chemical warfare service. He served three years and one month during World War II and was awarded the Purple Heart medal with cluster, Bronze Star medal for bravery, Presidential citation, Good Conduct medal and ETO ribbon with battle stars.

Two other enlistments today were Arnold Leon Simone, 17, 75 Vernon street, Keyser, W. Va., and Charles L. Feller, 17, 681 West Piedmont street, Keyser, W. Va. Simone signed for three years with the air force in the Pacific and Feller joined the transportation corps in the ETO for three years.

Missing Vet Returns

John Allen, 25, ex-soldier has returned to his home in Mt. Savage, after being reported missing since last Tuesday, police said they were informed yesterday.

Car Is Stolen

Mrs. Ray Carter, Bedford road reported to police that her car, a 1930 Nash coupe was stolen from North Cedar street Wednesday evening about 11:30 o'clock.

Driver Is Acquitted

Paul Robert Ridings, Martinsburg, W. Va., was found not guilty yesterday morning in trial magistrates' court on a charge of speeding on Route 40 at LaVale Wednesday. Cpl. C. A. Disney, of the state police, made the arrest.

Good Apple Crop Looms

HANCOCK, Md., June 20 (AP)—Local apple growers report they are making ready for a good harvest by building camps for Jamaican and other temporary pickers.

The local laboratory estimated total cold weather damage, except for the Delicious variety, was not over ten per cent. Growers say that with prospects of a good crop, additional harvest labor is imperative.

posals on this item—one which has plagued Allied peacemaking efforts since the end of the war.

Molotov declared he still preferred a permanent solution, but if one could not be achieved then something temporary or an agreement to postpone a decision should be adopted.

On a motion by Byrnes the council named a four-man commission to study the proposal and work out details for a report back to the ministers.

The four men named were Ben Cohen, United States State Department counsellor; Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister; Maurice Couve De Murville, French deputy foreign minister; Gladwyn Jebb, British deputy foreign secretary.

19-Year-Olds Are Scarce

HAGERSTOWN, Md. June 20 (AP)—Washington county will be able to supply only an estimated twenty men in the 26 through 29 age group for induction into the armed forces, William A. Tobias, co-ordinator for local Selective Service boards, said today.

He said there were no 19-year-old men available since up to May 15 the boards had been inducting all those between 18 and 25 years old.

had criticized merger plans previously. Mr. Truman said without qualification that he will receive one from Forrestal, who has been out of town.

Food—Former President Herbert Hoover reported at the White House during the day that he had a successful trip to South America and will make a formal report later.

Palestine — Negotations are are continuing with the British on the American proposal for the admittance of 100,000 European Jews but there are no developments.

WSA Chief To Resign

Resignations—Maj. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory has been wanting to quit as head of the War Assets Administration and will do so when a satisfactory successor can be found. Rexford Guy Tugwell also wishes to resign as governor of Puerto Rico but the president has not decided upon a successor.

Pacific—The matter of American bases, along with other Pacific matters, was discussed by the president with Herbert Evatt, Australian foreign minister, who visited the White House during the day with Dean Acheson, acting secretary of state. Evatt will have further conferences at the State department.

Labor — Negotiations to settle the Allis-Chalmers strike are still continuing. There is no indication when the government may turn the soft coal mines back to the operators.

Politics — The president was asked whether he has indorsed a proposal to run Sen. James Mead, of New York, as the Democratic candidate for governor and F. H. LaGuardia, former mayor of New York and now director-general of UNRRA, for Mead's seat. Mr. Truman answered that he is not making any political indorsements outside his home state of Missouri.

Elgin denied neglecting his duties as state commissioner of motor vehicles, saying he was not at the Tawes headquarters during office hours.

"He's like a spoiled child," Elgin said of Lane. "If things go his way, he's happy; but when he can't have his way he turns to sulking. If anyone differs with him he gets violently mad. Mr. Lane stops at nothing to gain his point."

As support of this point, Elgin said Lane "became so mad" when a Hagerstown American Legion post approved a bonus after World War I, that he withdrew from the post.

"He came back to the Legion when he got the notion to run for office," Elgin asserted.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that both the Lane and Tawes forces had appealed to Maryland liquor dealers for support of their candidacies. Each held that the nomination of the other would carry a threat of state liquor stores.

Eugene H. Beer, Jr., treasurer of the Lane organization, issued a letter in which he said that Attorney General William Curran, a Tawes supporter, proposed consideration of state stores for Baltimore in 1943.

Beer said the letter was written for the purpose of offsetting one sent to dealers last month by Eugene J. C. Raney, a Tawes worker.

Raney said he was put out of his beer business in 1941 because E. Brooke Lee "had a law passed" in Montgomery county which put the beer business into a county store.

Raney described Lee as "the man behind Preston Lane."

"If Preston Lane is elected governor," he said, "Brooke Lee will control the State of Maryland."

Lane appealed tonight for support of his entire state ticket, including James J. Lacy for comptroller, and Hall Hammond for attorney general, in an address prepared for radio broadcast. He also urged voters to participate in the primary election Monday, regardless of their convictions.

Governor O'Conor announced that he had received the indorsement of Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, Hagerstown, for Democratic nomination to the Senate. Sweeney said O'Conor had acquired an experience which "few if any Marylanders have enjoyed" and that because of his age would be "vigorous in advocating those things for which the Maryland people stand."

In Republican circles, Paul Robertson, party chairman in Baltimore, announced indorsement of D. John Markey, Frederick, for the United States Senate nomination. In view of his own candidacy for the House of Representatives from the Fourth district, Robertson said he would remain "personally neutral" in the race between Mayor McKeldin and Herman L. Mills for the governorship nomination.

The body will be taken to the home of his brother in Purgittsville where funeral services will be held, Saturday at 3 p. m.

MRS. MARY NAYLON

Final rites will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Mary Naylon, 75, widow of John Naylon, 409 Winmer street, who died Wednesday in Memorial hospital. She was in failing health for the past six months and was admitted Sunday.

The body is at the Hafer funeral home where services will be conducted by the Rev. Hirl A. Kester, pastor of Kingsley Methodist church. Burial will be in Rose hill cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPHINE McCLAIN

A requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's church Saturday at 9 a. m. for Mrs. Josephine McClain, 76, widow of Martin McClain, 428 Arch street, who died Wednesday night at the home of her niece, Miss Mary Joyce, 432 Grand avenue. She had been ill since January. The body is at the home of her niece.

Interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery.

MRS. LILLIE CONNOR

Mrs. Lillie Connor, 74, widow of Harvey Connor, 456 North Centre street, died yesterday morning at 1:01 o'clock in Memorial hospital where she had been a patient since May 8. She had been seriously ill for the past three months.

Mrs. Connor had been a resident of this city for over fifty years and was a member of Centre Street Methodist church.

Her husband, who died here about 1932, was a well known local tailor and had operated a tailor shop on North George street for many years.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Himmell, 92, Confluence, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. G. A. Frantz, Confluence, and Mrs. William Sands, Franklin, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock E.S.T. in the C. B. Humbert funeral home, Confluence, by the Rev. Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist church. Interment will be in Addison, Pa.

STAIR RITES PLANNED

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for William Henry Stair, who was found dead in his second floor apartment, 445 North Centre street, Wednesday. The body is at the Hafer funeral home where rites will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church.

Interment will be in Friends Cove, Pa., cemetery.

stairs. She came downstairs again Saturday afternoon, Michael said, and again fell from her chair.

Michael told Harris he was so disgusted that time that he let her lie on the floor for about twenty minutes after which he became concerned and carried her upstairs and put her to bed.

Michael told Harris his wife was apparently unconscious and showed no signs of life from that time until Saturday morning between 3:30 and 4:30 o'clock when she moved in bed. Mrs. Michael was admitted to the local hospital at 10:15 Saturday and died while still in a state of coma, Harris said he was told.

The state's attorney said the kick or kicks on the woman's head produced the fracture which resulted in the fatal hemorrhage.

Harris said Mr. and Mrs. Michael were married January 18, 1946, and have lived on the Buckley farm a short distance east of Spring Gap for the past two months.

Michael, a machine repairman at the Celanese plant for nine years, has no criminal record, the state's attorney said.

Harris said the investigation is not entirely complete although all the important features of the case have been investigated.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Michael will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein funeral home. The Rev. M. Vermillia, acting pastor of Davis Memorial Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Spring Gap cemetery.

Higbe Chalks Up Seventh Straight Win over Pirates

Dodgers' Ace Survives Stormy First Frame and Wins, 7-3

BROOKLYN, June 20 (AP)—Rocked for three runs in the first inning, Kirby Higbe settled down today and blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates the rest of the way to chalk up his seventh straight victory as the Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind to win, 7-3.

The fire-balling righthander gave up four hits in the initial frame but allowed only five safeties the rest of the way to enable the pace-setting Dodgers to retain their one-and-one-half game National league margin over the St. Louis Cardinals who trounced the Boston Braves.

Higbe fanned eight and walked seven as his mates scored single runs in the first and third innings and two in the fifth to go out in front to stay. Box:

CARDS WALLOP BRAVES

BOSTON, June 20 (AP)—Sending twelve to bat in the eighth inning, the St Louis Cardinals set off an eight-run explosion today for a 9-1 victory that gave them a clean sweep of their four-games series with the Boston Braves.

Ed Wright had held the Cards under fair control until that fatal frame, when they broke a 1-1 tie by doing their wholesale scoring on six hits, two passes and error. Harry Walker and Stan Musial each connected twice in that inning, the latter bashing out a pair of doubles, the second of which found two runners on base. Box:

A blood clot formed behind that joint which buckled after Barrett ran out a grounder during last night's Braves-Cardinals game.

Bill Dietrich Scores Over Chandler, 3-1; Hank Greenberg Hits Fifteenth Home Run

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—The New York Yankees missed a grand opportunity to cut an appreciable slice from the Boston Red Sox's huge first place margin today when the Chicago White Sox held them to a split in their doubleheader before 10,171 paying customers. Bespectacled Bill Dietrich handcuffed them in the opener 3-1, but the Bronx Bombers came back to win the nightcap, 6-1.

Spud Chandler, gunning for his eleventh mound success in the opener, met his third reversal instead when Chicago's big Hal Trosky doubled with the bases loaded in the third inning to drive in all the White Sox runs. The Yankees had gone one-up in their half of the third when Charlie Keller connected with one of Dietrich's curve balls for his fifteenth home run of the season.

The Yankees wasted little time against Ed Smith in the nightcap, tagging the solid southpaw for three runs in the first frame which was featured by Joe DiMaggio's two-run triple. Box:

TIGERS TRIM A's

DETROIT, June 20 (AP) — With their smallest home crowd of the season—5,431 cash customers—looking on under threatening skies, the Detroit Tigers threw a barrage of home runs at the Philadelphia Athletics today, scoring seven times on four circuit swats to beat the A's for the ninth straight time 9 to 2.

Hank Greenberg poled his fifteenth homer of the season for two runs in the fourth off starter Luther Knerr after Eddie Lake had swatted his third of the year with nobody on base in the opening inning. Box:

Hogan and Demaret Gallop into Lead In Toledo Tourney

TOLEDO, O., June 20 (AP)—Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., belter and Jimmy Demaret, the grinning gentleman from Houston, Tex., galloped into the lead today in the 1946 Inverness invitational golf tournament on the strength of a pair of red hot putters.

They finished with a seven-hole advantage over E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., and Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Mich.

In the Inverness tournament, the number of holes won carry over from one match to another until each team has played every other team.

Running second at the end of the first round was the duo of Byron Nelson of Toledo and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., which finished with a three margin over Bob Hamilton and Dick Metz of Chicago.

Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Herman Keiser of Akron, O., grabbed a two-hole advantage over Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn. Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, the 1946 National Open champion, and Lawson Little were one up over Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y.

Louis May Visit Paris

PARIS, June 20 (AP) —Several Parisian newspapers today expressed the opinion-or hope-that Joe Louis would come here for the fight July 28 between Marcel Cerdan, French middleweight champion, and Holman Williams, of Detroit, third ranking United States middleweight.

Williams, a negro, is an old friend of the world's champion.

The papers said Louis has been invited to London by Jack Solomons, British promoter, and would come here later.

MARYLAND AMATEUR TITLE GOLF TOURNEY WILL START TODAY

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—The twenty-sixth Maryland amateur golf championship will start tomorrow at the Maryland Country Club —with six former titleholders attempting to regain their laurels.

All six figure largely in pre-game calculations, now that Roger Peacock, of Washington, who won last year's tournament, has joined the ranks of the professionals.

The hopefuls are Bill Eager, Elkridge; Harry Parr, III, Baltimore; Otto Greiner and Ernie Caldwell, Country Club of Maryland; Spencer Overton, Roliing Road, and Volney Burnett, Indian Spring.

Washington clubswingers who may be among the leaders in tomorrow's 18-hole qualifier are Buddy Sharkey, Ray Swearinger, Donald Cooke and Bill Wenzel.

Reds Trim Blues, 18 to 7 in Game Climaxing Session

An intra-squad game yesterday climaxed the session with the "Reds" trimming the "Blues" 18 to 7.

Two of the touchdowns were made by Harold (Bud) Freese of Wheeling, who spent his freshman year in 1944 playing in the Pitt backfield. Freese dashed fifty yards near the finish of the game for one of the counters.

Jack Morton, hefty fullback from Parkersburg, scored the other six-pointer for the "Blues."

The lone "Reds" touchdown was by Guido Deveechis of Weirton. It came after a long pass, with Deveechis smashing over a little later from the three-yard line.

Cards Invade Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, June 20 (AP)—Brooklyn, still riding in first place, is heading into its first "crooshul" series of the year with the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals coming to town for a three-game set opening with a night game tomorrow.

The Dodgers' hopes of staying out front are bolstered by the absence of Max Lanier who had beaten them ten straight times before he, "deserted" to the Mexican league.

Higbe Chalks Up Seventh Straight Win over Pirates

Dodgers' Ace Survives Stormy First Frame and Wins, 7-3

BROOKLYN, June 20 (AP)—Rocked for three runs in the first inning, Kirby Higbe settled down today and blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates the rest of the way to chalk up his seventh straight victory as the Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind to win, 7-3.

The fire-balling righthander gave up four hits in the initial frame but allowed only five safeties the rest of the way to enable the pace-setting Dodgers to retain their one-and-one-half game National league margin over the St. Louis Cardinals who trounced the Boston Braves.

Higbe fanned eight and walked seven as his mates scored single runs in the first and third innings and two in the fifth to go out in front to stay. Box:

CARDS WALLOP BRAVES

BOSTON, June 20 (AP)—Sending twelve to bat in the eighth inning, the St Louis Cardinals set off an eight-run explosion today for a 9-1 victory that gave them a clean sweep of their four-games series with the Boston Braves.

Ed Wright had held the Cards under fair control until that fatal frame, when they broke a 1-1 tie by doing their wholesale scoring on six hits, two passes and error. Harry Walker and Stan Musial each connected twice in that inning, the latter bashing out a pair of doubles, the second of which found two runners on base. Box:

Bill Dietrich Scores Over Chandler, 3-1; Hank Greenberg Hits Fifteenth Home Run

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—The New York Yankees missed a grand opportunity to cut an appreciable slice from the Boston Red Sox's huge first place margin today when the Chicago White Sox held them to a split in their doubleheader before 10,171 paying customers. Bespectacled Bill Dietrich handcuffed them in the opener 3-1, but the Bronx Bombers came back to win the nightcap, 6-1.

Spud Chandler, gunning for his eleventh mound success in the opener, met his third reversal instead when Chicago's big Hal Trosky doubled with the bases loaded in the third inning to drive in all the White Sox runs. The Yankees had gone one-up in their half of the third when Charlie Keller connected with one of Dietrich's curve balls for his fifteenth home run of the season.

The Yankees wasted little time against Ed Smith in the nightcap, tagging the solid southpaw for three runs in the first frame which was featured by Joe DiMaggio's two-run triple. Box:

Reds Trim Blues, 18 to 7 in Game Climaxing Session

An intra-squad game yesterday climaxed the session with the "Reds" trimming the "Blues" 18 to 7.

Two of the touchdowns were made by Harold (Bud) Freese of Wheeling, who spent his freshman year in 1944 playing in the Pitt backfield. Freese dashed fifty yards near the finish of the game for one of the counters.

Jack Morton, hefty fullback from Parkersburg, scored the other six-pointer for the "Blues."

The lone "Reds" touchdown was by Guido Deveechis of Weirton. It came after a long pass, with Deveechis smashing over a little later from the three-yard line.

Bob Hope Named In Negotiations For Tribe Sale

Movie-Radio Comedian Expresses Faith in Bill Veeck, Jr.

CLEVELAND, June 20 (AP) — The name of Bob (Home Town Boy) Hope came to light today in the pending negotiations conducted by Bill Veeck, Jr., for purchase of the Cleveland Indians.

"I have a sentimental interest in the club, having been reared in Cleveland," said the movie and radio comedian in New Orleans, where he had appeared yesterday in a famine-relief rally.

"And I have a world of faith in Bill Veeck, Jr., who's in with me on the possible purchase of the Indians," said Hope.

He also quipped that "It'll give me my first chance to yell with impunity at the guys with muscles," and said it seemed a good time to break into the sports world "before Bing Crosby gets the thing monopolized."

Hope's connection with the offer was disclosed here by his attorney, J. J. Klein, who said Hope "is glad to be in on the deal and thinks the club will do very well. He thinks Veeck is a swell fellow and a smart baseball operator."

Neither Veeck nor Klein would mention any other names in connection with the negotiations.

Hope was born in a suburb of London, but his parents brought him here when he was four. He grew up in the Doan's Corners neighborhood at East 105th and Euclid, carried papers, sang in a "sidewalk quartet" and became an amateur hoofer.

His sports activities in those days were limited to amateur boxing—for three fights. He once recalled that in the "last" one he drew an opponent called Happy Walsh, so named because "every time you hit him he smiled." Hope said "I gave Walsh my Sunday punch. He smiled. Then everything turned black."

Spy Song Is Winner At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, June 20. (AP)—Dixiana Stable's Spy Song, making his first start since running second in the Kentucky Derby, easily turned back four three year old opponents in the $7,500 Colin purse at Arlington Park today.

Backed down to 1 to 4 by the crowd of 10,000, Spy Song went winging at the start and never was headed.

The crowd gasped when he went wide on the stretch turn, and Brolite Farm's With Pleasure neared the lead, but Spy Song came again to win by a length and a half.

With Pleasure was second and John Marsch's Mighty Story a distant third. Seaman's Pal and Double Slam completed the field.

Style Tip

LONDON, (AP)—Small tip-of-the chin beards are becoming popular in London again, especially among men between 20 and 30.

Bob Hope Named In Negotiations For Tribe Sale

Movie-Radio Comedian Expresses Faith in Bill Veeck, Jr.

CLEVELAND, June 20 (AP) — The name of Bob (Home Town Boy) Hope came to light today in the pending negotiations conducted by Bill Veeck, Jr., for purchase of the Cleveland Indians.

"I have a sentimental interest in the club, having been reared in Cleveland," said the movie and radio comedian in New Orleans, where he had appeared yesterday in a famine-relief rally.

"And I have a world of faith in Bill Veeck, Jr., who's in with me on the possible purchase of the Indians," said Hope.

He also quipped that "It'll give me my first chance to yell with impunity at the guys with muscles," and said it seemed a good time to break into the sports world "before Bing Crosby gets the thing monopolized."

Hope's connection with the offer was disclosed here by his attorney, J. J. Klein, who said Hope "is glad to be in on the deal and thinks the club will do very well. He thinks Veeck is a swell fellow and a smart baseball operator."

Neither Veeck nor Klein would mention any other names in connection with the negotiations.

Hope was born in a suburb of London, but his parents brought him here when he was four. He grew up in the Doan's Corners neighborhood at East 105th and Euclid, carried papers, sang in a "sidewalk quartet" and became an amateur hoofer.

His sports activities in those days were limited to amateur boxing—for three fights. He once recalled that in the "last" one he drew an opponent called Happy Walsh, so named because "every time you hit him he smiled." Hope said "I gave Walsh my Sunday punch. He smiled. Then everything turned black."

Spy Song Is Winner At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, June 20. (AP)—Dixiana Stable's Spy Song, making his first start since running second in the Kentucky Derby, easily turned back four three year old opponents in the $7,500 Colin purse at Arlington Park today.

Backed down to 1 to 4 by the crowd of 10,000, Spy Song went winging at the start and never was headed.

The crowd gasped when he went wide on the stretch turn, and Brolite Farm's With Pleasure neared the lead, but Spy Song came again to win by a length and a half.

With Pleasure was second and John Marsch's Mighty Story a distant third. Seaman's Pal and Double Slam completed the field.

Style Tip

LONDON, (AP)—Small tip-of-the chin beards are becoming popular in London again, especially among men between 20 and 30.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Junior Golf Tourney

Maryland and District of Columbia Entries Vie at Cumberland Country Club July 10

Qualifying rounds for the first annual national junior amateur golf tournament will be held Wednesday, July 10, at the Cumberland Country Club for all amateur golfers who are residents of Maryland or the District of Columbia, and who will have not reached their eighteenth birthday on or before August 5, 1946, it was announced yesterday by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The four low qualifiers will be eligible to compete in the national junior amateur golf tournament to be held August 5 to 10 at the Indian Canyon Golf Course, Spokane, Wash., and will represent the State of Maryland and District of Columbia in that event. All participants must pay their own expenses and conduct themselves in such a manner that is not detrimental to their amateur status.

The qualifying round is an eighteen-hole medal play event. United States Golf Association rules will govern, save where modified by local rules approved by the committee.

Entry Deadline Is July 5

Entries should be sent to C. Van Roby, care of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Room 514, Liberty Trust building, and should be received not later than 5 p. m., Wednesday, July 5. Entries must be accompanied by a signed statement from parent, guardian, club professional or secretary as to age. Post entries will not be accepted.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in the qualifying round. Players will be paired and starting times assigned by the committee in charge, and will be announced in the newspapers.

At Spokane, all players will qualify at 18 holes per day the first and second days. The sixty-four low medal scorers will play elimination rounds of 18 holes each, with the semi-finals and finals being at 36 holes. Those who fail to qualify will participate in a consolidation, match play tournament.

200 To Vie at Spokane

The championship tournament is being conducted by the Spokane Junior Chamber of Commerce and the event will be held annually. The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will name the host city each year. Results of all state tournaments will be in the hands of the Spokane golf committee not later than July 22. The host city will enter eight players making a total field of 200.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Cup and a medal will be awarded the winner at Spokane. Medals will be awarded to the runner-up; low medal scorer in the qualifying round and to the low medal scorer of the 18-hole consolation tourney.

TODAY'S GAME
Texcel vs. Woodmen (Rolling Mill)

Solving the slants of Jimmie Angellatta for an even dozen safeties, the Knights of Columbus kept their record unblemished by registering their ninth consecutive victory over the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Campobello. The score was 8-2.

The Moose scored two runs in the first inning but were blanked thereafter by Gene Scaletta.

Ray Madden led the Casey attack with three hits, "Chick" Snider and Sammy DeLuca had two each and Manager Jim Browning and "Bobby" Cavanaugh rapped two-baggers. DeLuca at first base and Norman Gerdeman at third starred afield. Russ Minnicks obtained two of the losers' four hits—a double and single.

Elks Subdue Outdoor Club

The idle Woodmen, who are scheduled to play Texcel today, moved into the runner-up spot as a result of the B. P. O. Elks' 7-3 victory over the Cumberland Outdoor Club at Fort Hill. The victory put the Elks in a third place tie with the Outdoor Club, two and one-half games in the rear of the pace-setting Caseys.

Trailing 3-2 going into the fifth, the Elks won the game with a four run outburst. Van Roby doubled with the bases loaded to drive in two runs and Mel Henry batted in two more with a timely single. Johnson and Hahn smacked homers for the Outdoor Club.

P. E. Scores First Win

Potomac Edison snapped a nine-game losing streak to turn in its first victory of the season over the Knights of Pythias on the Rolling Mill diamond. The score was 12-6.

P. E.'s 12-hit assault included Buday's home run and single and a circuit wallop by Harrison. Rizer homered with one aboard and Robertson and Weimer had two hits each for the Pythians

Play for Title Spot

St. John's Lutheran and Grace Methodist will clash today at Fort Hill field for a place in the championship series of the Central YMCA Sunday School Softball League. The game is scheduled for 6:15 o'clock. The winner will gain the right to play First Presbyterian in a three-game series, starting Monday, for the championship.

Legislator Will File Damage Suit Against Jacobs

Rep. Donald L. O'Toole Says Promoter Accused Him of Extortion

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — A fiery little Irishman from Brooklyn, Rep. Donald L. O'Toole, today waded into the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight with oral punches, calling it a "national fraud and scandal."

O'Toole, Democrat from New York's Thirteenth district, sent a telegram to Edward Egan, New York State Boxing Commission chairman, asking for an investigation of the bout.

He also demanded that the purses of the principals in last night's world heavyweight championship fight be held up "in justice to those who were swindled."

Unless such action is taken as a result of Louis's easy eighth-round knockout of Conn, O'Toole indicated that he will seek federal action.

Jacobs Answers Attack

In New York, Promoter Mike Jacobs said in response to O'Toole's blast:

"Before the fight, O'Toole's office called me up and demanded complementary tickets to see it. I turned them down. So now he's hollering."

O'Toole quickly denied that he sought free seats.

"I wouldn't know how to get in touch with Jacobs if I wanted to," he told reporters. "Furthermore, I had a chance to attend the fight as a guest of my law partner in New York but turned it down."

Later, O'Toole announced that he would sue Jacob for $100,000 for his remarks about tickets.

"Jacobs is accusing me of extortion," he said, "and for that I have instructed my New York attorneys to file suit for $100,000 damages."

In an interview, O'Toole told a reporter that the "whole fight setup in New York is as false as Jacobs's store teeth.

"A fight such as the Louis-Conn affair becomes national scandal when the mails are used to send out tickets, accept checks and ballyhoo the bout, and the radio and television also brought into the picture," he said.

The 44-year old New Yorker also attacked what he termed "Jacobs's monopoly."

Monopoly Is Denounced

"Jacobs operates an absolute monopoly," he said. "He has all of the top fighters tied up.

"In order for a promising young fighter to get a shot at a title, he has to sign up with Jacobs to defend that title, if he wins it, for Uncle Mike.

Bill Stevenson's Texas League single to left field scored Dick Lynch with the run which gave the Queen City Brewers a 2 to 1 decision over the Cumberland Eagles yesterday in a City Baseball League game at Stitcher field.

With the score knotted at 1-1, Lynch opened the fifth and final inning by working Elliott for a pass. After Minnicks flied out, Joe Wagner's second two base wallop of the game advanced Lynch to third. Then Stevenson drove in the winning run. Deremer flied out and Lee fanned to end the inning.

Queen City scored its first run in the opening frame. Minnicks singled and moved to third on Wagner's double. Stevenson hit to Joe Geatz whose perfect throw cut down Minnicks at the plate. Wagner scored when Zembower muffed Deremer's fly ball in left field.

The Eagles tied the score in the lower half of the first when DeRosa got a life on an error, pilfered second and third and raced home on Joe Geatz's hit.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, won by forfeit when the Loyal Order of Moose failed to field a team for the game scheduled yesterday at Community Park. Box:

Louis To Get $625,916 For Knocking Out Conn

Billy Conn Picks Up Check for $312,958 and Confirms His Retirement Plans

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Joe Louis, still king of the ring after twenty-two heavyweight championship defenses, had a check for $625,916.44 waiting at Promoter Mike Jacobs' office today for knocking Billy Conn into retirement — but Bomber Joe went out to play golf instead of picking it up.

Louis

Billy wound up up with just half as much money — $312,985.22 — plus such assorted abrasions as a cut across the bridge of his nose and bruises under both eyes for having the roof caved in on him in the eighth round last night at Yankee stadium, after seven sloppy sessions.

Confirms Retirement Plans

Billy picked up his check and confirmed his retirement plans, despite Jacobs's suggestion that he change his mind.

The fight mob, meantime, cut the battle to bits and agreed:

(A) That this was the last heavyweight title bout in a long time, not only because Joe plans to rest until next year, but simply because there's no outstanding swatter left for him to fight;

(B) That Billy fought the bomber directly opposite to the style he found so successful in facing Joe in their 1941 fight.

(C) That no one who gives Louis a clear shot at him is going to beat the Bomber.

There was considerable hilarity, too, over the contention of Representative O'Toole (D-NY) in Washington that the fight last night was a "stinkeroo" and shourd be investigated. Promoter Jacobs shrugged it off with the statement that O'Toole's office called him before the fight "and wanted complimentary tickets and I refused—so now comes the hollering."

Urges Investigation

To O'Toole's declaration that such things as the preparations for the fight, the agreements between Jacobs and two thumpers, the splitting of the purses and the "existence" of debts Billy and Joe owe Mike should be looked into, the older boulevardiers merely pointed out that two guys got into a ring and fought it out and the best one won. As for debts, these same older hands argued, when a fellow needs cash, he borrows it from some one who has it.

There were some who claimed last night's fight was a financial "flop" because it didn't draw the $3,000,000 Jacobs originally anticipated. It was pointed out for them, however, that the $1,925,453 gross gate was the second largest in fistic history.

What's more, the 45,266 customers paid considerably more than the 120,757 who chipped into a pot o $1,895,733 to see Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in their first fight in Philadelphia, hitherto the second largest financial lure in fistic history.

The net gate was $1,514,791.11 to which was added $50,000 for radio and television rights. Of this Joe got 40 per cent and Billy 20. They also will slice the same percentage from the motion picture money, which can not be estimated yet until distrubtion reports are in.

Games Listed Sunday

The Midget Baseball League contest between Mower's Bakery and the DeMolay, originally set for today, has been postponed until Sunday and will be played as the second game of a doubleheader at Campobello at 4 p. m. In the opening game at 2 p. m., Don and Bud's Confectionery will cross bats with Lover's Leap Service Station.

In the third game billed for Sunday, Mapleside will play Jerry's Confectionery at Penn Avenue field at 2 p. m.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Junior Golf Tourney

Maryland and District of Columbia Entries Vie at Cumberland Country Club July 10

Qualifying rounds for the first annual national junior amateur golf tournament will be held Wednesday, July 10, at the Cumberland Country Club for all amateur golfers who are residents of Maryland or the District of Columbia, and who will have not reached their eighteenth birthday on or before August 5, 1946, it was announced yesterday by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The four low qualifiers will be eligible to compete in the national junior amateur golf tournament to be held August 5 to 10 at the Indian Canyon Golf Course, Spokane, Wash., and will represent the State of Maryland and District of Columbia in that event. All participants must pay their own expenses and conduct themselves in such a manner that is not detrimental to their amateur status.

The qualifying round is an eighteen-hole medal play event. United States Golf Association rules will govern, save where modified by local rules approved by the committee.

Entry Deadline Is July 5

Entries should be sent to C. Van Roby, care of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Room 514, Liberty Trust building, and should be received not later than 5 p. m., Wednesday, July 5. Entries must be accompanied by a signed statement from parent, guardian, club professional or secretary as to age. Post entries will not be accepted.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in the qualifying round. Players will be paired and starting times assigned by the committee in charge, and will be announced in the newspapers.

At Spokane, all players will qualify at 18 holes per day the first and second days. The sixty-four low medal scorers will play elimination rounds of 18 holes each, with the semi-finals and finals being at 36 holes. Those who fail to qualify will participate in a consolidation, match play tournament.

200 To Vie at Spokane

The championship tournament is being conducted by the Spokane Junior Chamber of Commerce and the event will be held annually. The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will name the host city each year. Results of all state tournaments will be in the hands of the Spokane golf committee not later than July 22. The host city will enter eight players making a total field of 200.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Cup and a medal will be awarded the winner at Spokane. Medals will be awarded to the runner-up; low medal scorer in the qualifying round and to the low medal scorer of the 18-hole consolation tourney.

TODAY'S GAME
Texcel vs. Woodmen (Rolling Mill)

Solving the slants of Jimmie Angellatta for an even dozen safeties, the Knights of Columbus kept their record unblemished by registering their ninth consecutive victory over the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Campobello. The score was 8-2.

The Moose scored two runs in the first inning but were blanked thereafter by Gene Scaletta.

Ray Madden led the Casey attack with three hits, "Chick" Snider and Sammy DeLuca had two each and Manager Jim Browning and "Bobby" Cavanaugh rapped two-baggers. DeLuca at first base and Norman Gerdeman at third starred afield. Russ Minnicks obtained two of the losers' four hits—a double and single.

Elks Subdue Outdoor Club

The idle Woodmen, who are scheduled to play Texcel today, moved into the runner-up spot as a result of the B. P. O. Elks' 7-3 victory over the Cumberland Outdoor Club at Fort Hill. The victory put the Elks in a third place tie with the Outdoor Club, two and one-half games in the rear of the pace-setting Caseys.

Trailing 3-2 going into the fifth, the Elks won the game with a four run outburst. Van Roby doubled with the bases loaded to drive in two runs and Mel Henry batted in two more with a timely single. Johnson and Hahn smacked homers for the Outdoor Club.

P. E. Scores First Win

Potomac Edison snapped a nine-game losing streak to turn in its first victory of the season over the Knights of Pythias on the Rolling Mill diamond. The score was 12-6.

P. E.'s 12-hit assault included Buday's home run and single and a circuit wallop by Harrison. Rizer homered with one aboard and Robertson and Weimer had two hits each for the Pythians.

Legislator Will File Damage Suit Against Jacobs

Rep. Donald L. O'Toole Says Promoter Accused Him of Extortion

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — A fiery little Irishman from Brooklyn, Rep. Donald L. O'Toole, today waded into the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight with oral punches, calling it a "national fraud and scandal."

O'Toole, Democrat from New York's Thirteenth district, sent a telegram to Edward Egan, New York State Boxing Commission chairman, asking for an investigation of the bout.

He also demanded that the purses of the principals in last night's world heavyweight championship fight be held up "in justice to those who were swindled."

Unless such action is taken as a result of Louis's easy eighth-round knockout of Conn, O'Toole indicated that he will seek federal action.

Jacobs Answers Attack

In New York, Promoter Mike Jacobs said in response to O'Toole's blast:

"Before the fight, O'Toole's office called me up and demanded complementary tickets to see it. I turned them down. So now he's hollering."

O'Toole quickly denied that he sought free seats.

"I wouldn't know how to get in touch with Jacobs if I wanted to," he told reporters. "Furthermore, I had a chance to attend the fight as a guest of my law partner in New York but turned it down."

Later, O'Toole announced that he would sue Jacob for $100,000 for his remarks about tickets.

"Jacobs is accusing me of extortion," he said, "and for that I have instructed my New York attorneys to file suit for $100,000 damages."

In an interview, O'Toole told a reporter that the "whole fight setup in New York is as false as Jacobs's store teeth.

"A fight such as the Louis-Conn affair becomes national scandal when the mails are used to send out tickets, accept checks and ballyhoo the bout, and the radio and television also brought into the picture," he said.

The 44-year old New Yorker also attacked what he termed "Jacobs's monopoly."

Monopoly Is Denounced

"Jacobs operates an absolute monopoly," he said. "He has all of the top fighters tied up.

"In order for a promising young fighter to get a shot at a title, he has to sign up with Jacobs to defend that title, if he wins it, for Uncle Mike.

"It's too bad that one of the finest, cleanest men in the game, Louis, should have to depend on this outfit for a living."

As to the fight, which O'Toole saw in a television show at the Statler hotel along with other members of congress and ranking government figures, the New Yorker said:

"I went up to both camps and saw them train. Louis had good men to toughen him. Conn had nobody that a girl couldn't have hit. Louis and Conn should never have been permitted to enter the same ring together."

Queen City 2, Eagles 1

Bill Stevenson's Texas League single to left field scored Dick Lynch with the run which gave the Queen City Brewers a 2 to 1 decision over the Cumberland Eagles yesterday in a City Baseball League game at Stitcher field.

With the score knotted at 1-1, Lynch opened the fifth and final inning by working Elliott for a pass. After Minnicks filed out, Joe Wagner's second two base wallop of the game advanced Lynch to third. Then Stevenson drove in the winning run. Deremer flied out and Lee fanned to end the inning.

Queen City scored its first run in the opening frame. Minnicks singled and moved to third on Wagner's double. Stevenson hit to Joe Geatz whose perfect throw cut down Minnicks at the plate. Wagner scored when Zembower muffed Deremer's fly ball in left field.

The Eagles tied the score in the lower half of the first when DeRosa got a life on an error, pilfered second and third and raced home on Joe Geatz's hit.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, won by forfeit when the Loyal Order of Moose failed to field a team for the game scheduled yesterday at Community Park. Box:

Louis To Get $625,916 For Knocking Out Conn

Billy Conn Picks Up Check for $312,958 and Confirms His Retirement Plans

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Joe Louis, still king of the ring after twenty-two heavyweight championship defenses, had a check for $625,916.44 waiting at Promoter Mike Jacobs' office today for knocking Billy Conn into retirement — but Bomber Joe went out to play golf instead of picking it up.

Louis

Billy wound up up with just half as much money — $312,985.22 — plus such assorted abrasions as a cut across the bridge of his nose and bruises under both eyes for having the roof caved in on him in the eighth round last night at Yankee stadium, after seven sloppy sessions.

Confirms Retirement Plans

Billy picked up his check and confirmed his retirement plans, despite Jacobs's suggestion that he change his mind.

The fight mob, meantime, cut the battle to bits and agreed:

(A) That this was the last heavyweight title bout in a long time, not only because Joe plans to rest until next year, but simply because there's no outstanding swatter left for him to fight;

(B) That Billy fought the bomber directly opposite to the style he found so successful in facing Joe in their 1941 fight.

(C) That no one who gives Louis a clear shot at him is going to beat the Bomber.

There was considerable hilarity, too, over the contention of Representative O'Toole (D-NY) in Washington that the fight last night was a "stinkeroo" and shourd be investigated. Promoter Jacobs shrugged it off with the statement that O'Toole's office called him before the fight "and wanted complimentary tickets and I refused—so now comes the hollering."

Urges Investigation

To O'Toole's declaration that such things as the preparations for the fight, the agreements between Jacobs and two thumpers, the splitting of the purses and the "existence" of debts Billy and Joe owe Mike should be looked into, the older boulevardiers merely pointed out that two guys got into a ring and fought it out and the best one won. As for debts, these same older hands argued, when a fellow needs cash, he borrows it from some one who has it.

There were some who claimed last night's fight was a financial "flop" because it didn't draw the $3,000,000 Jacobs originally anticipated. It was pointed out for them, however, that the $1,925,453 gross gate was the second largest in fistic history.

What's more, the 45,266 customers paid considerably more than the 120,757 who chipped into a pot o $1,895,733 to see Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in their first fight in Philadelphia, hitherto the second largest financial lure in fistic history.

The net gate was $1,514,791.11 to which was added $50,000 for radio and television rights. Of this Joe got 40 per cent and Billy 20. They also will slice the same percentage from the motion picture money, which can not be estimated yet until distrubtion reports are in.

Games Listed Sunday

The Midget Baseball League contest between Mower's Bakery and the DeMolay, originally set for today, has been postponed until Sunday and will be played as the second game of a doubleheader at Campobello at 4 p. m. In the opening game at 2 p. m., Don and Bud's Confectionery will cross bats with Lover's Leap Service Station.

In the third game billed for Sunday, Mapleside will play Jerry's Confectionery at Penn Avenue field at 2 p. m.

McNeill To Mark Breakfast Club Anniversary

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—It's an event for Don McNeill on Friday's ABC network at 8 a. m. He says it marks the beginning of his fourteenth year as master of ceremonies of the Breakfast club. There will be a program in celebration.

Taken from the Saturday matinee schedule, Easy Money, a network produced show, gets a nighttime listing at 7:30 on NBC by going in as the summer replacement for Duffy's Tavern. It is an expose series using the drama form, giving particular attention to gamblers, racketeers and confidence men.

An NBC special for 11:15 a. m. is titled "Age of Air," in which America's air research is to be dramatized and in which there will be description of the flight of a P-80 jet plane from New York to Albany.

Maybe the Friday night bout broadcasting will be somewhat of a letdown after the Louis-Conn affair, but nonetheless the regular schedule of ABC will go on as usual at 9 p. m. Principals are Tony Pellone and Billy Graham of the welterweight class.

A guest double bill is slated for Paul Lavalle's Melody on the highway via NBC at 7. Vivan della and Lowe will play some two-piano Chiesa, soprano, comes back for another singing, while Whittemore tunes.

Peter Lawford, whom the announcement describes as "one of the screen's newest heart throbs," will be on hand for the Kate Smith CBS show at 7:30. . . Orson Welles, CBS at 9, is to do "The Hitchhiker" instead of the previously announced "Les Miserables."

—Put a good wax finish on white enameled woodwork and it will resist fingermarks and guard against mars as well.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our Mother, Mrs. Luvinea W. Rotruck. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.
THE CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved son, S-Sgt. William C. Kirby, who was killed two years ago today in Normandy.

So many years ago there came a boy,
Bringing to us our overflow of joy!
Cradled and taught to walk, with tender care . . .
Growing to manhood, strong to do his share.
Then came the summons . . . ah, how cruel the blow! . . . .
How could he leave us, who had loved him so?
Father who seest us, hear our parent-prayer;
As we watched here, O God, please watch him There!

Sadly missed by his Mother, Father and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved son, S-Sgt. William C. Kirby, who was killed two years ago today in Normandy.

So many years ago there came a boy,
Bringing to us our overflow of joy!
Cradled and taught to walk, with tender care,
Growing to manhood, strong to do his share.
Then came the summons . . . ah, how cruel the blow! . . .
How could he leave us, who had loved him so?
Father who seest us, hear our parent-prayer;
As we watched here, O God, please watch him There!

Mother, Father and Family.

William L. Geppert, 64, News Managing Editor, Dies in Local Hospital

Veteran Newspaperman Worked 45 Years in Three States; Headed News for Eleven Years

William L. Geppert, 64, managing editor of The Cumberland News for eleven years and a newspaperman for over forty-five years, died yesterday afternoon in Memorial hospital. He had been in failing health for over a year.

A native of Cincinnati, O., he was born September 18, 1882, the son of the late William and Simonetta Kilmartan Geppert, the former who was editor of the Musical Courier of New York for many years.

Mr. Geppert spent his boyhood days in Gallipolis, O., where he attended the public schools and was a boyhood chum of the late O. O. McIntyre, who later became a distinguished syndicated columnist. Mr. Geppert, like "Odd" McIntyre, started his newspaper career on the Gallipolis Daily Journal of which he became city editor.

From Gallipolis, he moved to Clarksburg, W. Va., as city editor of the Daily Post and one year later, in 1901, he became owner of the paper. After a merger of Clarksburg papers, he became editor-in-chief and director of the Clarksburg Daily Telegram.

Studied Law

He found time during the West Virginia phase of his career to attend West Virginia university at Morgantown and traveled the forty miles back and forth from Charleston for several years until he received a law degree. He was admitted to the West Virginia Bar in 1911. Mr. Geppert did not acquire his law degree with any intention of ever practicing law but solely for the purpose of aiding him in his newspaper work.

The year 1911 was significant in Mr. Geppert's life for another reason, for it was on April 5 of that year that he journeyed to California to marry Miss Ruth Henking, San Diego, Calif., whom he had met while she was attending the University of Wisconsin. Instead of going home one Christmas, the then Miss Henking visited relatives in Gallipolis where she met her future husband.

In 1935, Mr. Geppert came to Cumberland as editor of the old Cumberland Daily News, which, with a plant merger in 1938, became The Cumberland News.

Strong Republican

Mr. Geppert was a lifelong Republican and during his career as a newspaperman in three states he never worked on a paper that did not operate under a Republican masthead. He was a strong party man and a firm believer in the two-party system. In recent months he had expressed the opinion that returning servicemen should show more enthusiasm in identifying themselves with either one or the other of the two major parties, preferably the Republican, and getting in the habit of working for their organization.

Like many other Republican editors throughout the country, he was the author of many sizzling editorials against certain practices of the New Deal. He was against too much "government meddling" and one of his last editorials was on this subject.

He was also intensely jealous of the freedom of the press, and on June 6 he published an editorial entitled "A Court Decision of Real Importance" in which he lauded the supreme court's reversal of a contempt conviction against the "Miami Herald," of Florida, growing out of two editorials and a cartoon published in 1944.

AP Chairman

Mr. Geppert helped to organize the West Virginia State Council of Journalism and he had been chairman for the last several years of the Chesapeake Associated Press Association whose members are editors and publishers of AP member papers in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Hanover, Pa., and Wilmington, Del.

Following yesterday's AP bulletin concerning his death, a number of tributes were received at the News editorial room lauding the editor.

Max Fullerton, chief of bureau, Associated Press, Baltimore, wired: "The entire staff of the Associated Press long associated with W. L. Geppert in his capacity as chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press is greatly shocked and deeply grieved at his death. A ranking reporter, an able editor and a constant seeker after the truth, he commanded without asking the respect of all of his profession. As for myself I have lost a long-time personal friend whose departure is a serious deprivation."

Editor Gives Eulogy

Oscar Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times and vice president of the AP association, in expressing regret of the AP members at Geppert's death, said:

"A distinguished and enterprising career as a newspaperman in three important eastern states has ended. For more than a decade, William L. Geppert has been one of the brighter lights of the profession in Maryland and the cessation of his efforts in service to the people will be felt by all those whose duty it is to inform the public through their publications. As chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press, Mr. Geppert served earnestly and always capably, and the membership joins me in expressing their deep sorrow."

Members of the News staff recalled last night that Mr. Geppert was always a stickler for correct usage and would on occasion call staff members into his office to consult the dictionary and discuss words or groups of words they had used improperly. His red-pencilled memos regarding grammatical errors and misuse of newspaper style were well known by every member of the staff. With the exception of the sports page, in which he confessed a lack of interest, he read the paper from cover to cover daily.

Liked To Study New Bills

As a writer, staff members recalled last night that Mr. Geppert's interest in local and national affairs was lively and keen and that he was in his element with a new bill from Annapolis or Washington to read, study and finally to comment on with searching probity.

And while he was essentially a writer of the national and local political scene as he interpreted it, readers of his editorial page will recall that the editor had a lighter side as was evinced by the essays he would write on occasion concerning various aspects of nature, gardening and people at their daily work which had a warmth that seldom failed to bring in replies from interested readers.

Many Activities

Mr. Geppert's activities in the community were numerous. He was a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce for a number of years, which group last night met and adjourned a previously called meeting out of respect to him. He was a member of Emanuel Episcopal church and has served as a vestryman. He was active in the Rotary club, a member of the Country club and while in Charleston was a member of the Elks Lodge.

Following the announcement of his death yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Aurelia Becker, manager of Station WTBO, announced that the station will have a prelude program today from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. when Mr. Geppert's favorite musical selections including "Goin' Home" from the New World Symphony will be played. The station will also observe a minute's silence in Mr. Geppert's honor at 7:29.

Mr. Geppert is survived by his wife; a son, William H. Geppert, Cumberland attorney; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Dionis Owens, Bolivar, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Chester G. Marsh, Winston-Salem, N. C.; and two granddaughters.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence at 766 Fayette street with the Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church, officiating.

VETERAN EDITOR DIES—William L. Geppert, 64, managing editor of The Cumberland News since March, 1935 and a newspaperman for over forty-five years, died yesterday afternoon in Memorial hospital where he had been a patient since June 11. He had been in failing health for over a year. Funeral services will be Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence, 766 Fayette street.

Cumberland Postal Workers Get Raise

$400 Yearly Increase Is Authorized for Local Mail Employes

All of Cumberland's seventy-three regular and fifteen substitute employes at the local post office will receive salary boosts with retroactive wages to January 1, as a result of the recent $400 yearly increase authorized by Congress.

According to the Postal Bulletin, official publication of the Postmaster General's office, an increase of $400 a year is authorized for all regular postal employes and all hourly rates are to be increased 20 per cent.

The Bulletin gave all postmasters authority to change their official records to show the $400 increase for each regular employee and an additional 20 cents per hour for each substitute and other hourly employees as of January 1, 1946, and to make salary payments retroactive to that date.

The increase was made by Public Law 386, of the Seventy-ninth Congress, approved May 21. Provisions of the act shall not apply to skilled trades employees of the mail-equipment shops, job clerks in first and second class post offices or employees who are paid on a fee or commission basis.

The Cumberland office employs 26 clerks and nine substitutes; 24 mail carriers and six substitutes; five rural mail carriers; eight custodians; four special delivery and miscellaneous employees and six officials. All will benefit from the increase.

V-6 Naval Reserve Is Planned Here

Applications for enrollment in a volunteer V-6 naval reserve group now being formed here will be accepted at the local navy recruiting station, according to Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, in charge of the station.

Honorably discharged veterans of navy service between the ages of 17 and 50, inclusive, may join the group with the same rating they held at the time of discharge, thus retaining their rating in case of national emergency, Chief Smith said.

Any honorably discharged veterans of service in the army, marine corps, coast guard, national guard and reserve components of those services may also join the V-6 group if they are between the ages of 17 and 35, inclusive, the recruiter stated.

No physical examination is required of veterans who served on active duty in World War II and who received honorable discharges.

V-6 men will have an opportunity to attend training classes once a week and to go on a two-week annual cruise with pay. Arrangements for the training classes are incomplete, but it is expected that they will be started about July 1, Chief Smith said.

Heavy Rains Cause 4.07 River Rise

A rise of 4.07 feet in the Potomac river and Wills creek was noted in the twenty-four hour period ending at 8 o'clock yesterday morning following heavy rains of the past few days.

James D. Paugh, Kitzmiller, said he measured the rise of the water in the Potomac near there and noticed a two feet nine inch rise between 10:50 and 11.15 yesterday morning, but added that a decline was recorded from then on.

Light Terms City Sewers "Critical"

Commissioner Tells Mayor Bad Health Condition May Result

"Critical" and "deplorable" were the words used by City Commissioner Myers G. Light to describe sections of Cumberland's sewer system and many of the streets to Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday.

Light cited conditions in the Bedford road and Mapleside sections and said that a bad health condition may develop if something isn't done about that and other sections, but added that the present city fund will not permit major repair or replacements to be made.

While discussing the problem with Mayor Post, he said money must be obtained from some source to correct the conditions since the present appropriation for sewer and street work is little more than a maintenance fund and will not allow major improvements.

Both the mayor and Light agreed that every effort will be made to use the $68,000 alloted the city for street repairs, and expressed hope that additional funds can be obtained.

So far municipal officials haven't been able to learn just what the requirements are for obtaining federal funds but the information is being sought, Mayor Post said. Both the mayor and Light are confident the city will be able to qualify for such money.

Light said that some street, Braddock road in particular, have reached the state where something must be done if the road bed is to be preserved. Otherwise extensive rebuilding will be necessary.

Light said that Braddock road is part of the state highway and Virginia avenue, also in need of repair, is part of Route 28, and state funds should be used to repair them.

He pointed out that residents of Decateur street have been very patient and the street cannot be allowed to go another winter without some work being done.

112 Attend Kiwanis Ladies Night Dinner

A variety program of stunts and musical entertainment featured the semi-annual ladies night dinner of the Cumberland Kiwanis club, attended by 112 persons yesterday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Each guest was presented with a card divided into twenty-five squares, to be filled in with the signatures of other guests attending the dinner. The cards were used later in a game, conducted by James W. Bishop, and the prize was won by Mrs. George Buchanan, whose husband, vice president of the club, presided at the dinner.

Three "baby members" of the club, who became members recently, were dressed up in nightgowns, caps and bibs, given bottles of milk, and instructed to conduct a contest to see who could drink his milk the soonest. Harry Williams, Harold Wilson and George M. Martin took part in the contest, which Williams won.

A. Florian Wilson appeared in costume as a Hindu mystic, and answered questions with the aid of a crystal ball. The entertainment was concluded with a contest of group singing between the men and women guests. Piano accompaniments were furnished by Joseph Williams.

The Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Fairview Avenue Methodist church, gave the invocation. He and Wilson led group singing.

Charles Helmrich, chairman in charge of arrangements, was assisted by John J. Robinson, Joseph Williams, Bishop, Dr. W. H. Ryan, R. A. Burke, Thomas B. Finan and Ronald Meyers.

Ex-Vet Fined $10 For Assault Threat

An ex-serviceman who gave his residence as 223 Avirett avenue paid a $10 fine in police court yesterday morning on a charge of threatening to assault Officer F. O. Daum.

Officer Daum, said that the man, James Flanagan, accosted him on North Mechanic street and told him to "take off his things and fight."

Police said Flanagan was arrested several weeks ago for removing a "no parking" sign, and complained that the arrest caused embarrassment to his family

House Approves Flood Control Bill for 1946

Completion of Savage River Dam Included in Measure

The House of Representatives yesterday afternoon overwhelmingly passed H.R. 6597, the Flood Control Bill for 1946, which contains several projects for the Potomac River Basin and authorizes the $7,420,000 project for Cumberland and Ridgeley and the $1,900,000 project for completion of the Savage River Dam.

The bill which goes to the Senate, authorizes a total of $11,000,000 worth of projects for the Potomac River basin and calls for an additional $29,000,000 to be spent on other streams in Virginia.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Maryland Sixth District, is a member of the House Flood control committee program. The bill also receives the support of Rep. Jennings Randolph of the West Virginia Second district.

First Since War

The measure, first of its type passed since the war, authorizes approximately $900,000,000 in flood control work throughout the United States. It does not appropriate funds as specific appropriations must be made later.

During debate, Rep. Randolph spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, the legislation now before us for consideration contains projects for the Potomac River Basin. I have been privileged to work closely with Representative Beall, of Maryland, and others, in the furtherance of the items calling for—

"First. A local flood-protection development at Cumberland and West Cumberland, in the State of Maryland, and Ridgeley—a community which I represent—in West Virginia. This program was authorized in the Flood Control Act approved June 22, 1936. Under the provision of House Bill 6597, we would amend the project which has been previously authorized by providing for the finishing of the work in accordance with certain army engineer recommendations, which have been the results of many years of study.

Clarifies Situation

"There is an estimated cost for the project by the Federal Government of $1,520,000. In this connection I desire to make it very clear that Ridgeley is a relatively small community when compared with Cumberland. We realize the necessity for co-operation between these two municipalities, but I would remind my colleagues that Ridgeley finds itself, as a political subdivision, unable to provide local funds which would be out of proportion to its ability to raise necessary money.

"In company with Congressman Beall, I have held many conferences with officials of both Ridgeley and Cumberland, and many splendid individual citizens, in an effort to better understand our mutual problems. The able chairman of the Flood Control Committee (Mr. Whittington) was most courteous to us when we testified.

"Second. The additional project to which I call your attention is the Savage River Dam on the tributary waters of the Potomac about Westernport, Md. and Piedmont, W. Va. This meritorious item, as contained in the legislation now before us, would be completed at an estimated cost to the Federal Government of $1,900,000.

Matching Fund Ready

"This sum would become available on condition that local interests contribute $200,000 toward the cost of the work. We are pleased to advise that this latter sum is available. At this point I wish to commend Owen Hitchins and those individuals of his commission who have worked diligently and constructively over a long period of time to bring about the completion of the Savage River Dam. When finished it will bring needed flood control to the communities of Westernport and Luke, Md., and Piedmont and Keyser, W. Va.

"Mr. Chairman, many members of both the House and Senate have worked for years during their service in the Congress in furtherance of the worth-while projects to which I have made reference. I desire to remember their efforts and to publicly at this time again pay tribute to their helpfulness."

The action today follows a visit to Vicksburg, Miss., by Cumberland and Ridgeley officials to see a model of the proposed program for this area in operation.

Other Potomac basin work calls for an expenditure of $1,431,000 at Waynesboro, Va., and $500,000 at Washington.

Other Projects Listed

Other Virginia propects authorized in the bill:

1. Rappahannock river basin, $17,755,000 to construct the multiple purpose Salem Church dam as the first step in a comprehensive flood control plan.

2. James River basin, $11,000,000 for construction of the Gathright reservoir and the Falling Spring regulating dam on Jackson river, a tributary of the James.

3. Galax, Va., $267,125 for local flood protection works on Chestnut creek.

The Salem Church dam is designed principally to protect the City of Fredericksburg, Va.

While the legislation does not fix the height of the dam to be constructed Chairman Whittington (D-Miss) of the House Flood Control Committee has promised Gov. William M. Tuck that his recommendation for a 220-foot dam will be carefully considered.

Dependency Benefits For Navy End Sunday

Men who plan to enlist in the navy and benefit by the dependency allowances offered, must join before midnight Sunday, June 30, according to Chief Boatswain Mate Bradford Smith, of the local recruiting office.

Smith said the local office will be open all day Saturday and Sunday, June 29 and 30, to give men a greater opportunity to take advantage of the last two days before the dependency allotment is discontinued.

Lane Cannot Be Dominated, Lacy Says in Address

Democratic Candidate for Comptroller Nomination Speaks at Rally

Praising the "sincerity, honesty and magnetism" of William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, James J. Lacy said last night that the only reason Senator Millard E. Tydings and Attorney General William Curran are not supporting Lane is because the latter "cannot and will not be dominated by anyone."

Lacy, a candidate for comptroller on the Lane ticket, came here from Baltimore to address a meeting at 8 p. m., at the Democratic Cosmopolitan club, North Mechanic street. His son, James J. Lacy, Jr., who was discharged from the navy yesterday after service in the Pacific theater, was introduced to the audience of over 200 persons later in the evening by William C. Walsh, former attorney general.

Predicts Baltimore Victory

"Lane is the only logical candidate for governor, and Western Maryland should be proud to offer to the state a man like Lane, a veteran of World War I and a successful lawyer and businessman," Lacy said.

Predicting that Lane will carry five of the six districts in Baltimore city, and possibly the entire six, Lacy said he feels "pretty sure" that Lane will also carry Baltimore county. He recalled that two Eastern Shore counties, Kent and Cecil, recently changed their indorsements to Lane, and predicted that Kent county "will go six to four" for Lane.

The speaker said he finds it hard to understand why there should be any opposition to Lane in Allegany county, because he knows the problems of Western Maryland.

"He is not a weak sister and not a man to be ashamed of," Lacy concluded. "We are going to put him over because he has the qualities, characteristics, fortitude and integrity of a great man."

Walsh Gives Talk

Walsh, who gave the closing talk at the meeting, reviewed Lane's war and business record and stated that his opponents cannot challenge Lane's unimpeachable record.

Recalling that Lane was seriously considered for the position of under secretary of the United States Treasury, and offered the position of vice president and general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Walsh stated that Lane declined both offers because he wanted to devote his talents to public service.

"Those offers themselves prove his ability and standing as a businessman and lawyer," Walsh said.

Simon F. Reilly, Midland, one of the three men in charge of Lane's campaign headquarters here, praised the efforts of party workers in Lane's behalf, and urged them to continue working until the polls close Monday evening. James E. Kenney, Westernport, chairman of the Lane campaign committee, presided and introduced the speakers.

Six Births Are Reported Here

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy S. Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 716 Brookfield avenue, Wednesday night in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bennett, Flintstone, announce the birth of a son Wednesday evening in Memorial hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Harrison, 782 McDonald terrace, in Memorial hospital Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Combs, Long, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital last evening.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Byrum, Rt. 5, Bowling Green, in Memorial hospital last night. Mrs. Byrum, the former Elenor Yeargen, is a graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing Class of '44.

Strike of Blue Ridge Bus Line Workers Ends

PITTSBURGH, June 20 (AP) — A forty-seven-day-old strike of 215 drivers and maintenance and terminal workers that had tied up two tri-state divisions of the Blue Ridge bus lines ended tonight, with the workers getting immediate pay boosts of from ten to fifteen cents an hour.

Settlement of the dispute was announced in a joint statement by C. A. Martin, operating manager of Blue Ridge's western division, and John M. Elliott, international representative of the AFL-Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes.

Commendation Received By Marine Recruiter

Staff Sgt. Murrell W. Brainerd, in charge of the local marine corps recruiting station, has been commended for "outstanding performance' in recruiting a Cumberland platoon of fifty-one young men of this area, according to a letter he received yesterday from Col. F. M. Wulbern, Philadelphia, officer in charge of the northeastern recruiting division.

The letter cited Sgt. Brainerd's "perseverance, energy and ingenuity" in obtaining the enlistments and arranging a mass enlistment ceremony held June 11 at the Strand theater.

Improves After Fall

Meeting Fails To End Brewery Strike Here

An official of Local 265, United Brewery Workers of America, said there was "nothing to report" from a meeting of the union membership last evening in the Eagles home.

The union called the special meeting so that members, who have been on strike since June 11, might hear a report on a meeting with officials of the Queen City and Cumberland breweries Wednesday afternoon.

The union official added he believed the union and the companies will meet again in a few days.

Local Woman Is Hurt when Hit By Drifting Car

Five Persons Treated in Allegany Hospital for Severe Cuts

A 23-year-old local woman was slightly injured early last evening when she was struck by a runaway automobile at the Bedford street B. and O. crossing.

The victim of the unusual accident, Mrs. Louis Bell, 714 Bedford street, was treated in Allegany hospital about 8:30 p. m. for brush burns on the upper right thigh and on the left ankle and shin bone.

Mrs. Bell told authorities she was standing at the crossing waiting for a train to go by and happened to turn around and see the oncoming car, which had drifted down one block from Columbia street. She was unable to dodge the vehicle, however.

Police said the car, owned by Russell O'Neal, 1205 Bedford street, started after the brakes let loose and drifted down a block and onto the railroad.

Officers J. Carl Stouffer and James W. Brown, who investigated, did not prefer charges against the driver, police said.

Worker Is Hurt

Virliss Peer, 27, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in the same hospital at 5 p. m. for a severe laceration of the third finger of the left hand. The G. C. Sensabaugh, Inc., worker said he was unloading boxes at the city dump when a nail in one of the boxes caught his hand. Attaches said a ring had to be cut off the workman's finger before the laceration could be treated.

Jean Klahre, 10, Ellerslie, was treated in Allegany hospital at 4 p. m. for a severe laceration on the wrist. Attaches said the girl explained she was running through the house and ran her arm through the glass of the front door, which she believed to be open.

Suffers Eye Injury

Inez Beck, 12, 812 Shade's lane, was treated at 1 p. m. in Allegany hospital for a laceration above the left eye. She told attaches she was hurt when she fell from a bicycle.

Thomas Miller, 10, Flintstone, was treated yesterday at noon in the same hospital for a two and one-half inch laceration on the left forearm. The boy told attaches he was injured when he fell upon an axe.

Local Woman Held On Assault Charge

Charged with assaulting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rachel Gormer, 8 South Allegany street, was ordered held under $300 bond for action of the October Grand Jury when she was arraigned in Trial Magistrates court yesterday morning.

Charges were preferred by Mrs Sarah Graves, 15 South Allegany street, who police described as a sister-in-law. Mrs. Graves testified that she and Mrs. Gormer had been on "friendly terms" prior to last Wednesday when she was attacked on a local street. Mrs. Graves said that as a result of the attack her glasses were broken, and a resulting wound bled profusely.

According to testimony, the attack occurred after a neighbor reportedly told Mrs. Gormer that Mrs. Graves had said "something" about her. Magistrate Frank A. Perdew presided at the hearing.

Allegany Graduates Of 1940 To Unite

A semi-formal dance at the Clary club Friday night, July 19, and a picnic Sunday July 21 at Minke's cottage will be two of the features of the initial reunion of the graduating class of 1940, Allegany high school.

Plans for both events were discussed at a meeting last night in Central YMCA and the following were named to the information committee:

William Richards, Phone No. 137-J-3; Arthur Lancaster, Phone No. 1861-M; Ann Beier, Phone No. 4253-J; and Rita Sears, 1414-J.

The planning committee will meet again June 25 at the Y to mail invitations to class members.

Money left over will be used to purchase a plaque in honor of late members of the class.

Anyone Seen "Micky"?

If anyone sees a small, shy Manchester dog named "Micky" roaming about, his owner, School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp, would greatly appreciate it if they would call him at either 1553 or 2351.

"Micky", who is black, has big ears and weighs six pounds, really belongs to Mrs. Kopp and when his mistress went away for a few days recently the dog apparently became lonely.

Anyway, "Micky" managed to push the screen door open and has gone exploring.

Mr. Kopp, who is offering a reward for the recovery of the dog, said "Micky" is very shy and possibly would not respond to his name.

Charge of Murder Will Be Entered Against Michael In Wife's Death

State's Attorney Harris Says Information Shows Woman Was Kicked in Head by Her Husband

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney of Allegany county, said yesterday afternoon that a charge of murder will be filed against Nile J. Michael, 45, Route 4, Oldtown road, since the results of an autopsy indicated that his wife, Mrs. Irene E. Michael, 34, died as a result of a slight skull fracture, a contusion of the brain and a slow intra-cranial hemorrhage.

The state's attorney said formal charges will be preferred at a preliminary hearing to be held this morning at 10 o'clock in trial magistrates court.

Harris said county authorities have information that Michael was seen kicking his wife on the top of the head as she was lying on the ground in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buckley, between Short Gap and Oldtown, last Thursday evening about 7 o'clock.

In Constant Coma

Mrs. Michael, known to police as "Irene Murphy," died Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock in Memorial hospital where she was admitted last Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock. Harris said the woman was in a constant state of coma while in the hospital.

The state's attorney said the results of the autopsy performed in Memorial hospital Wednesday at 11 a. m. indicated Mrs. Michael died from injuries resulting from the kick or kicks on the head last Thursday.

Michael has been held without bond in the county jail since Tuesday afternoon at 12:10 o'clock when he was arrested by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and Sgt. Raymond R. Johnston as he was leaving Memorial hospital where he had visited his wife.

Harris said the fatal assault took place as the couple were returning to their home after some shopping in Cumberland. Both, he added, had been drinking.

Alighted from Bus

The couple, Harris said he was told, alighted from the bus after Mrs. Michael decided to stop in to see her sister, Mrs. Buckley. Michael stated his wife was intoxicated and fell down several times while they were on their way to the Buckley home, Harris said.

Harris said it was while the couple were nearing the Buckley home that Mrs. Michael was seen lying on the ground and Michael was seen kicking his wife on the top of the head.

The Buckleys, Harris said, came out of their home and remonstrated with Michael for his conduct and took Mrs. Michael into the house after which Michael went to his home about a quarter of a mile away.

Harris said that when Mrs. Michael arrived at the Buckley home she was wearing her husband's coat and did not have on either her jacket or shirtwaist.

Harris said that when Mrs. Michael was at the Buckley home she began to tear the coat of her husband's that she was wearing, giving as a reason that he had torn her clothing.

The shirtwaist was later found in a shopping bag but no trace has been found of the dead woman's jacket. Harris said Michael explained merely that his wife had taken the articles of clothing off.

Saw Blood Flowing

The Buckleys told Harris that when Mrs. Michael came into their home they saw blood flowing from a wound on the top of the head. The woman stayed overnight at the Buckley home and then returned to her home Friday morning and prepared breakfast for herself and her husband after which the couple came to Cumberland, the state's attorney related.

Harris reported that Michael said he bought a half pint of whiskey and that both he and his wife had "a couple of drinks" and that they then did some shopping after which Mrs. Michael went to a local beauty parlor to secure a permanent wave.

The beautician, he said, noticed the cut on the top of the head while she was shampooing Mrs. Michael's hair.

After the beauty treatment, Harris said, Mrs. Michael met her husband who had bought two more half pints of whiskey and the couple, after taking something more to drink, proceeded toward their home on the 3:30 p. m. bus.

Harris said the couple alighted from the bus and visited at the home of a neighbor for awhile after which the neighbor drove them to their home in his car.

Fell off Chair

Michael told Harris that he and his wife then went to the kitchen of their home and had something more to drink and that his wife sat down in a chair. In the course of their conversation, Michael asserted, Mrs. Michael fell off her chair, striking and cutting her forehead about the right eye.

However, the state's attorney explained, the autopsy performed by Dr. Benedine Skitarelic, Memorial hospital pathologist, and Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, showed that this wound was superficial.

Michael, Harris said, testified he washed off the slight wound and stopped the bleeding, adding that he had a "few more drinks" and then said he carried his wife upstairs and put her in bed after she fell from the chair for a second time.

Harris said Michael told him he then went downstairs and after a while went upstairs to see how his wife was feeling but failed to find her. The man said he then went downstairs and searched and, failing to find any trace of his wife went back to the room and discovered his wife under their bed.

When asked what she was doing under the bed Michael quoted his wife as saying she just wanted to see if he would look for her, Harris reported.

Michael then said his wife got back into bed and he went down-

William L. Geppert, 64, News Managing Editor, Dies in Local Hospital

Veteran Newspaperman Worked 45 Years in Three States; Headed News for Eleven Years

William L. Geppert, 64, managing editor of The Cumberland News for eleven years and a newspaperman for over forty-five years, died yesterday afternoon in Memorial hospital. He had been in failing health for over a year.

A native of Cincinnati, O., he was born September 18, 1882, the son of the late William and Simonetta Kilmartan Geppert, the former who was editor of the Musical Courier of New York for many years.

Mr. Geppert spent his boyhood days in Gallipolis, O., where he attended the public schools and was a boyhood chum of the late O. O. McIntyre, who later became a distinguished syndicated columnist. Mr. Geppert, like "Odd" McIntyre, started his newspaper career on the Gallipolis Daily Journal of which he became city editor.

From Gallipolis, he moved to Clarksburg, W. Va., as city editor of the Daily Post and one year later, in 1901, he became owner of the paper. After a merger of Clarksburg papers, he became editor-in-chief and director of the Clarksburg Daily Telegram.

Studied Law

He found time during the West Virginia phase of his career to attend West Virginia university at Morgantown and traveled the forty miles back and forth from Charleston for several years until he received a law degree. He was admitted to the West Virginia Bar in 1911. Mr. Geppert did not acquire his law degree with any intention of ever practicing law but solely for the purpose of aiding him in his newspaper work.

The year 1911 was significant in Mr. Geppert's life for another reason, for it was on April 5 of that year that he journeyed to California to marry Miss Ruth Henking, San Diego, Calif., whom he had met while she was attending the University of Wisconsin. Instead of going home one Christmas, the then Miss Henking visited relatives in Gallipolis where she met her future husband.

In 1935, Mr. Geppert came to Cumberland as editor of the old Cumberland Daily News, which, with a plant merger in 1938, became The Cumberland News.

Strong Republican

Mr. Geppert was a lifelong Republican and during his career as a newspaperman in three states he never worked on a paper that did not operate under a Republican masthead. He was a strong party man and a firm believer in the two-party system. In recent months he had expressed the opinion that returning servicemen should show more enthusiasm in identifying themselves with either one or the other of the two major parties, preferably the Republican, and getting in the habit of working for their organization.

Like many other Republican editors throughout the country, he was the author of many sizzling editorials against certain practices of the New Deal. He was against too much "government meddling" and one of his last editorials was on this subject.

He was also intensely jealous of the freedom of the press, and on June 6 he published an editorial entitled "A Court Decision of Real Importance" in which he lauded the supreme court's reversal of a contempt conviction against the "Miami Herald," of Florida, growing out of two editorials and a cartoon published in 1944.

AP Chairman

Mr. Geppert helped to organize the West Virginia State Council of Journalism and he had been chairman for the last several years of the Chesapeake Associated Press Association whose members are editors and publishers of AP member papers in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Hanover, Pa., and Wilmington, Del.

Following yesterday's AP bulletin concerning his death, a number of tributes were received at the News editorial room lauding the editor.

Max Fullerton, chief of bureau, Associated Press, Baltimore, wired: "The entire staff of the Associated Press long associated with W. L. Geppert in his capacity as chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press is greatly shocked and deeply grieved at his death. A ranking reporter, an able editor and a constant seeker after the truth, he commanded without asking the respect of all of his profession. As for myself I have lost a long-time personal friend whose departure is a serious deprivation."

Editor Gives Eulogy

Oscar Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times and vice president of the AP association, in expressing regret of the AP members at Geppert's death, said:

"A distinguished and enterprising career as a newspaperman in three important eastern states has ended. For more than a decade, William L. Geppert has been one of the brighter lights of the profession in Maryland and the cessation of his efforts in service to the people will be felt by all those whose duty it is to inform the public through their publications. As chairman of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press, Mr. Geppert served earnestly and always capably, and the membership joins me in expressing their deep sorrow."

Members of the News staff recalled last night that Mr. Geppert was always a stickler for correct usage and would on occasion call staff members into his office to consult the dictionary and discuss words or groups of words they had used improperly. His red-pencilled memos regarding grammatical errors and misuse of newspaper style were well known by every member of the staff. With the exception of the sports page, in which he confessed a lack of interest, he read the paper from cover to cover daily.

Liked To Study New Bills

As a writer, staff members recalled last night that Mr. Geppert's interest in local and national affairs was lively and keen and that he was in his element with a new bill from Annapolis or Washington to read, study and finally to comment on with searching probity.

And while he was essentially a writer of the national and local political scene as he interpreted it, readers of his editorial page will recall that the editor had a lighter side as was evinced by the essays he would write on occasion concerning various aspects of nature, gardening and people at their daily work which had a warmth that seldom failed to bring in replies from interested readers.

Many Activities

Mr. Geppert's activities in the community were numerous. He was a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce for a number of years, which group last night met and adjourned a previously called meeting out of respect to him. He was a member of Emanuel Episcopal church and has served as a vestryman. He was active in the Rotary club, a member of the Country club and while in Charleston was a member of the Elks Lodge.

Following the announcement of his death yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Aurelia Becker, manager of Station WTBO, announced that the station will have a prelude program today from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. when Mr. Geppert's favorite musical selections including "Goin' Home" from the New World Symphony will be played. The station will also observe a minute's silence in Mr. Geppert's honor at 7:29.

Mr. Geppert is survived by his wife; a son, William H. Geppert, Cumberland attorney; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Dionis Owens, Bolivar, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Chester G. Marsh, Winston-Salem, N. C.; and two granddaughters.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence at 766 Fayette street with the Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church, officiating.

VETERAN EDITOR DIES—William L. Geppert, 64, managing editor of The Cumberland News since March, 1935 and a newspaperman for over forty-five years, died yesterday afternoon in Memorial hospital where he had been a patient since June 11. He had been in failing health for over a year. Funeral services will be Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence, 766 Fayette street.

Cumberland Postal Workers Get Raise

All of Cumberland's seventy-three regular and fifteen substitute employes at the local post office will receive salary boosts with retroactive wages to January 1, as a result of the recent $400 yearly increase authorized by Congress.

According to the Postal Bulletin, official publication of the Postmaster General's office, an increase of $400 a year is authorized for all regular postal employes and all hourly rates are to be increased 20 per cent.

The Bulletin gave all postmasters authority to change their official records to show the $400 increase for each regular employee and an additional 20 cents per hour for each substitute and other hourly employees as of January 1, 1946, and to make salary payments retroactive to that date.

The increase was made by Public Law 386, of the Seventy-ninth Congress, approved May 21. Provisions of the act shall not apply to skilled trades employees of the mail-equipment shops, job clerks in first and second class post offices or employees who are paid on a fee or commission basis.

The Cumberland office employs 26 clerks and nine substitutes; 24 mail carriers and six substitutes; five rural mail carriers; eight custodians; four special delivery and miscellaneous employees and six officials. All will benefit from the increase.

V-6 Naval Reserve Is Planned Here

Applications for enrollment in a volunteer V-6 naval reserve group now being formed here will be accepted at the local navy recruiting station, according to Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, in charge of the station.

Honorably discharged veterans of navy service between the ages of 17 and 50, inclusive, may join the group with the same rating they held at the time of discharge, thus retaining their rating in case of national emergency, Chief Smith said.

Any honorably discharged veterans of service in the army, marine corps, coast guard, national guard and reserve components of those services may also join the V-6 group if they are between the ages of 17 and 35, inclusive, the recruiter stated.

No physical examination is required of veterans who served on active duty in World War II and who received honorable discharges.

V-6 men will have an opportunity to attend training classes once a week and to go on a two-week annual cruise with pay. Arrangements for the training classes are incomplete, but it is expected that they will be started about July 1, Chief Smith said.

Heavy Rains Cause 4.07 River Rise

A rise of 4.07 feet in the Potomac river and Wills creek was noted in the twenty-four hour period ending at 8 o'clock yesterday morning following heavy rains of the past few days.

James D. Paugh, Kitzmiller, said he measured the rise of the water in the Potomac near there and noticed a two feet nine inch rise between 10:50 and 11.15 yesterday morning, but added that a decline was recorded from then on.

Cumberland Light Terms City Sewers "Critical"

Commissioner Tells Mayor Bad Health Condition May Result

"Critical" and "deplorable" were the words used by City Commissioner Myers G. Light to describe sections of Cumberland's sewer system and many of the streets to Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday.

Light cited conditions in the Bedford road and Mapleside sections and said that a bad health condition may develop if something isn't done about that and other sections, but added that the present city fund will not permit major repair or replacements to be made.

While discussing the problem with Mayor Post, he said money must be obtained from some source to correct the conditions since the present appropriation for sewer and street work is little more than a maintenance fund and will not allow major improvements.

Both the mayor and Light agreed that every effort will be made to use the $68,000 alloted the city for street repairs, and expressed hope that additional funds can be obtained.

So far municipal officials haven't been able to learn just what the requirements are for obtaining federal funds but the information is being sought, Mayor Post said. Both the mayor and Light are confident the city will be able to qualify for such money.

Light said that some street, Braddock road in particular, have reached the state where something must be done if the road bed is to be preserved. Otherwise extensive rebuilding will be necessary.

Light said that Braddock road is part of the state highway and Virginia avenue, also in need of repair, is part of Route 28, and state funds should be used to repair them.

He pointed out that residents of Decateur street have been very patient and the street cannot be allowed to go another winter without some work being done.

112 Attend Kiwanis Ladies Night Dinner

A variety program of stunts and musical entertainment featured the semi-annual ladies night dinner of the Cumberland Kiwanis club, attended by 112 persons yesterday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Each guest was presented with a card divided into twenty-five squares, to be filled in with the signatures of other guests attending the dinner. The cards were used later in a game, conducted by James W. Bishop, and the prize was won by Mrs. George Buchanan, whose husband, vice president of the club, presided at the dinner.

Three "baby members" of the club, who became members recently, were dressed up in nightgowns, caps and bibs, given bottles of milk, and instructed to conduct a contest to see who could drink his milk the soonest. Harry Williams, Harold Wilson and George M. Martin took part in the contest, which Williams won.

A. Florian Wilson appeared in costume as a Hindu mystic, and answered questions with the aid of a crystal ball. The entertainment was concluded with a contest of group singing between the men and women guests. Piano accompaniments were furnished by Joseph Williams.

The Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Fairview Avenue Methodist church, gave the invocation. He and Wilson led group singing.

Charles Helmrich, chairman in charge of arrangements, was assisted by John J. Robinson, Joseph Williams, Bishop, Dr. W. H. Ryan, R. A. Burke, Thomas B. Finan and Ronald Meyers.

Ex-Vet Fined $10 For Assault Threat

An ex-serviceman who gave his residence as 223 Avirett avenue paid a $10 fine in police court yesterday morning on a charge of threatening to assault Officer F. O. Daum.

Officer Daum, said that the man, James Flanagan, accosted him on North Mechanic street and told him to "take off his things and fight."

Police said Flanagan was arrested several weeks ago for removing a "no parking" sign, and complained that the arrest caused embarrassment to his family.

House Approves Flood Control Bill for 1946

Completion of Savage River Dam Included in Measure

The House of Representatives yesterday afternoon overwhelmingly passed H.R. 6597, the Flood Control Bill for 1946, which contains several projects for the Potomac River Basin and authorizes the $7,420,000 project for Cumberland and Ridgeley and the $1,900,000 project for completion of the Savage River Dam.

The bill which goes to the Senate, authorizes a total of $11,000,000 worth of projects for the Potomac River basin and calls for an additional $29,000,000 to be spent on other streams in Virginia.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Maryland Sixth District, is a member of the House Flood control committee program. The bill also receives the support of Rep. Jennings Randolph of the West Virginia Second district.

First Since War

The measure, first of its type passed since the war, authorizes approximately $900,000,000 in flood control work throughout the United States. It does not appropriate funds as specific appropriations must be made later.

During debate, Rep. Randolph spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, the legislation now before us for consideration contains projects for the Potomac River Basin. I have been privileged to work closely with Representative Beall, of Maryland, and others, in the furtherance of the items calling for—

"First, A local flood-protection development at Cumberland and West Cumberland, in the State of Maryland, and Ridgeley—a community which I represent—in West Virginia. This program was authorized in the Flood Control Act approved June 22, 1936. Under the provision of House Bill 6597, we would amend the project which has been previously authorized by providing for the finishing of the work in accordance with certain army engineer recommendations, which have been the results of many years of study.

Clarifies Situation

"There is an estimated cost for the project by the Federal Government of $1,520,000. In this connection I desire to make it very clear that Ridgeley is a relatively small community when compared with Cumberland. We realize the necessity for co-operation between these two municipalities, but I would remind my colleagues that Ridgeley finds itself, as a political subdivision, unable to provide local funds which would be out of proportion to its ability to raise necessary money.

"In company with Congressman Beall, I have held many conferences with officials of both Ridgeley and Cumberland, and many splendid individual citizens, in an effort to better understand our mutual problems. The able chairman of the Flood Control Committee (Mr. Whittington) was most courteous to us when we testified.

"Second. The additional project to which I call your attention is the Savage River Dam on the tributary waters of the Potomac about Westernport, Md. and Piedmont, W. Va. This meritorious item, as contained in the legislation now before us, would be completed at an estimated cost to the Federal Government of $1,900,000.

Matching Fund Ready

"This sum would become available on condition that local interests contribute $200,000 toward the cost of the work. We are pleased to advise that this latter sum is available. At this point I wish to commend Owen Hitchins and those individuals of his commission who have worked diligently and constructively over a long period of time to bring about the completion of the Savage River Dam. When finished it will bring needed flood control to the communities of Westernport and Luke, Md., and Piedmont and Keyser, W. Va.

"Mr. Chairman, many members of both the House and Senate have worked for years during their service in the Congress in furtherance of the worth-while projects to which I have made reference. I desire to remember their efforts and to publicly at this time again pay tribute to their helpfulness."

The action today follows a visit to Vicksburg, Miss., by Cumberland and Ridgeley officials to see a model of the proposed program for this area in operation.

Other Potomac basin work calls for an expenditure of $1,431,000 at Waynesboro, Va., and $500,000 at Washington.

Other Projects Listed

Other Virginia propects authorized in the bill:

1. Rappahannock river basin, $17,755,000 to construct the multiple purpose Salem Church dam as the first step in a comprehensive flood control plan.

2. James River basin, $11,000,000 for construction of the Gathright reservoir and the Falling Spring regulating dam on Jackson river, a tributary of the James.

3. Galax, Va., $267,125 for local flood protection works on Chestnut creek.

The Salem Church dam is designed principally to protect the City of Fredericksburg, Va.

While the legislation does not fix the height of the dam to be constructed Chairman Whittington (D-Miss) of the House Flood Control Committee has promised Gov. William M. Tuck that his recommendation for a 220-foot dam will be carefully considered.

Dependency Benefits For Navy End Sunday

Men who plan to enlist in the navy and benefit by the dependency allowances offered, must join before midnight Sunday, June 30, according to Chief Boatswain Mate Bradford Smith, of the local recruiting office.

Smith said the local office will be open all day Saturday and Sunday, June 29 and 30, to give men a greater opportunity to take advantage of the last two days before the dependency allotment is discontinued.

Lane Cannot Be Dominated, Lacy Says in Address

Democratic Candidate for Comptroller Nomination Speaks at Rally

Praising the "sincerity, honesty and magnetism" of William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, James J. Lacy said last night that the only reason Senator Millard E. Tydings and Attorney General William Curran are not supporting Lane is because the latter "cannot and will not be dominated by anyone."

Lacy, a candidate for comptroller on the Lane ticket, came here from Baltimore to address a meeting at 8 p. m., at the Democratic Cosmopolitan club, North Mechanic street. His son, James J. Lacy, Jr., who was discharged from the navy yesterday after service in the Pacific theater, was introduced to the audience of over 200 persons later in the evening by William C. Walsh, former attorney general.

Predicts Baltimore Victory

"Lane is the only logical candidate for governor, and Western Maryland should be proud to offer to the state a man like Lane, a veteran of World War I and a successful lawyer and businessman," Lacy said.

Predicting that Lane will carry five of the six districts in Baltimore city, and possibly the entire six, Lacy said he feels "pretty sure" that Lane will also carry Baltimore county. He recalled that two Eastern Shore counties, Kent and Cecil, recently changed their indorsements to Lane, and predicted that Kent county "will go six to four" for Lane.

The speaker said he finds it hard to understand why there should be any opposition to Lane in Allegany county, because he knows the problems of Western Maryland.

"He is not a weak sister and not a man to be ashamed of," Lacy concluded. "We are going to put him over because he has the qualities, characteristics, fortitude and integrity of a great man."

Walsh Gives Talk

Walsh, who gave the closing talk at the meeting, reviewed Lane's war and business record and stated that his opponents cannot challenge Lane's unimpeachable record.

Recalling that Lane was seriously considered for the position of under secretary of the United States Treasury, and offered the position of vice president and general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Walsh stated that Lane declined both offers because he wanted to devote his talents to public service.

"Those offers themselves prove his ability and standing as a businessman and lawyer," Walsh said.

Simon F. Reilly, Midland, one of the three men in charge of Lane's campaign headquarters here, praised the efforts of party workers in Lane's behalf, and urged them to continue working until the polls close Monday evening. James E. Kenney, Westernport, chairman of the Lane campaign committee, presided and introduced the speakers.

Six Births Are Reported Here

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy S. Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 716 Brookfield avenue, Wednesday night in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bennett, Flintstone, announce the birth of a son Wednesday evening in Memorial hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Harrison, 782 McDonald terrace, in Memorial hospital Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Combs, Long, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital last evening.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Byrum, Rt. 5, Bowling Green, in Memorial hospital last night. Mrs. Byrum, the former Elenor Yeargen, is a graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing Class of '44.

Strike of Blue Ridge Bus Line Workers Ends

PITTSBURGH, June 20 (AP) — A forty-seven-day-old strike of 215 drivers and maintenance and terminal workers that had tied up two tri-state divisions of the Blue Ridge bus lines ended tonight, with the workers getting immediate pay boosts of from ten to fifteen cents an hour.

Settlement of the dispute was announced in a joint statement by C. A. Martin, operating manager of Blue Ridge's western division, and John M. Elliott, international representative of the first AFL-Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes.

Commendation Received By Marine Recruiter

Staff Sgt. Murrell W. Brainerd, in charge of the local marine corps recruiting station, has been commended for "outstanding performance' in recruiting a Cumberland platoon of fifty-one young men of this area, according to a letter he received yesterday from Col. F. M. Wulbern, Philadelphia, officer in charge of the northeastern recruiting division.

The letter cited Sgt. Brainerd's "perseverance, energy and ingenuity" in obtaining the enlistments and arranging a mass enlistment ceremony held June 11 at the Strand theater.

Improves After Fall

Meeting Fails To End Brewery Strike Here

An official of Local 265, United Brewery Workers of America, said there was "nothing to report" from a meeting of the union membership last evening in the Eagles home.

The union called the special meeting so that members, who have been on strike since June 11, might hear a report on a meeting with officials of the Queen City and Cumberland breweries Wednesday afternoon.

The union official added he believed the union and the companies will meet again in a few days.

Local Woman Is Hurt when Hit By Drifting Car

Five Persons Treated in Allegany Hospital for Severe Cuts

A 23-year-old local woman was slightly injured early last evening when she was struck by a runaway automobile at the Bedford street B. and O. crossing.

The victim of the unusual accident, Mrs. Louis Bell, 714 Bedford street, was treated in Allegany hospital about 8:30 p. m. for brush burns on the upper right thigh and on the left ankle and shin bone.

Mrs. Bell told authorities she was standing at the crossing waiting for a train to go by and happened to turn around and see the oncoming car, which had drifted down one block from Columbia street. She was unable to dodge the vehicle, however.

Police said the car, owned by Russell O'Neal, 1205 Bedford street, started after the brakes let loose and drifted down a block and onto the railroad.

Officers J. Carl Stouffer and James W. Brown, who investigated, did not prefer charges against the driver, police said.

Worker Is Hurt

Virliss Peer, 27, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in the same hospital at 5 p. m. for a severe laceration of the third finger of the left hand. The G. C. Sensabaugh, Inc., worker said he was unloading boxes at the city dump when a nail in one of the boxes caught his hand. Attaches said a ring had to be cut off the workman's finger before the laceration could be treated.

Jean Klahre, 10, Ellerslie, was treated in Allegany hospital at 4 p. m. for a severe laceration on the wrist. Attaches said the girl explained she was running through the house and ran her arm through the glass of the front door, which she believed to be open.

Suffers Eye Injury

Michael Smith, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Smith, Ridgeley, was treated in the same hospital at 3:15 p. m. for severe cuts above and below the right eye. Attaches were told another boy struck the lad with a bottle.

Inez Beck, 12, 812 Shade's lane, was treated at 1 p. m. in Allegany hospital for a laceration above the left eye. She told attaches she was hurt when she fell from a bicycle.

Thomas Miller, 10, Flintstone, was treated yesterday at noon in the same hospital for a two and one-half inch laceration on the left forearm. The boy told attaches he was injured when he fell upon an axe.

Local Woman Held On Assault Charge

Charged with assaulting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rachel Gormer, 8 South Allegany street, was ordered held under $300 bond for action of the October Grand Jury when she was arraigned in Trial Magistrates court yesterday morning.

Charges were preferred by Mrs. Sarah Graves, 15 South Allegany street, who police described as a sister-in-law. Mrs. Graves testified that she and Mrs. Gormer had been on "friendly terms" prior to last Wednesday when she was attacked on a local street. Mrs. Graves said that as a result of the attack her glasses were broken, and a resulting wound bled profusely.

According to testimony, the attack occurred after a neighbor reportedly told Mrs. Gormer that Mrs. Graves had said "something" about her. Magistrate Frank A. Perdew presided at the hearing.

Allegany Graduates Of 1940 To Unite

A semi-formal dance at the Clary club Friday night, July 19, and a picnic Sunday July 21 at Minke's cottage will be two of the features of the initial reunion of the graduating class of 1940, Allegany high school.

Plans for both events were discussed at a meeting last night in Central YMCA and the following were named to the information committee:

William Richards, Phone No. 137-J-3; Arthur Lancaster, Phone No. 1861-M; Ann Beier, Phone No. 4253-J; and Rita Sears, 1414-J.

The planning committee will meet again June 25 at the Y to mail invitations to class members.

Money left over will be used to purchase a plaque in honor of late members of the class.

Anyone Seen "Micky"?

If anyone sees a small, shy Manchester dog named "Micky" roaming about, his owner, School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp, would greatly appreciate it if they would call him at either 1553 or 2351.

"Micky", who is black, has big ears and weighs six pounds, really belongs to Mrs. Kopp and when his mistress went away for a few days recently the dog apparently became lonely.

Anyway, "Micky" managed to push the screen door open and has gone exploring.

Mr. Kopp, who is offering a reward for the recovery of the dog, said "Micky" is very shy and possibly would not respond to his name.

Charge of Murder Will Be Entered Against Michael In Wife's Death

State's Attorney Harris Says Information Shows Woman Was Kicked in Head by Her Husband

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney of Allegany county, said yesterday afternoon that a charge of murder will be filed against Nile J. Michael, 45, Route 4, Oldtown road, since the results of an autopsy indicated that his wife, Mrs. Irene E. Michael, 34, died as a result of a slight skull fracture, a contusion of the brain and a slow intra-cranial hemorrhage.

The state's attorney said formal charges will be preferred at a preliminary hearing to be held this morning at 10 o'clock in trial magistrates court.

Harris said county authorities have information that Michael was seen kicking his wife on the top of the head as she was lying on the ground in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buckley, between Short Gap and Oldtown, last Thursday evening about 7 o'clock.

In Constant Coma

Mrs. Michael, known to police as "Irene Murphy," died Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock in Memorial hospital where she was admitted last Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock. Harris said the woman was in a constant state of coma while in the hospital.

The state's attorney said the results of the autopsy performed in Memorial hospital Wednesday at 11 a. m. indicated Mrs. Michael died from injuries resulting from the kick or kicks on the head last Thursday.

Michael has been held without bond in the county jail since Tuesday afternoon at 12:10 o'clock when he was arrested by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and Sgt. Raymond R. Johnston as he was leaving Memorial hospital where he had visited his wife.

Harris said the fatal assault took place as the couple were returning to their home after some shopping in Cumberland. Both, he added, had been drinking.

Alighted from Bus

The couple, Harris said he was told, alighted from the bus after Mrs. Michael decided to stop in to see her sister, Mrs. Buckley. Michael stated his wife was intoxicated and fell down several times while they were on their way to the Buckley home, Harris said.

Harris said it was while the couple were nearing the Buckley home that Mrs. Michael was seen lying on the ground and Michael was seen kicking his wife on the top of the head.

The Buckleys, Harris said, came out of their home and remonstrated with Michael for his conduct and took Mrs. Michael into the house after which Michael went to his home about a quarter of a mile away.

Harris said that when Mrs. Michael arrived at the Buckley home she was wearing her husband's coat and did not have on either her jacket or shirtwaist.

Harris said that when Mrs. Michael was at the Buckley home she began to tear the coat of her husband's that she was wearing, giving as a reason that he had torn her clothing.

The shirtwaist was later found in a shopping bag but no trace has been found of the dead woman's jacket. Harris said Michael explained merely that his wife had taken the articles of clothing off.

Saw Blood Flowing

The Buckleys told Harris that when Mrs. Michael came into their home they saw blood flowing from a wound on the top of the head. The woman stayed overnight at the Buckley home and then returned to her home Friday morning and prepared breakfast for herself and her husband after which the couple came to Cumberland, the state's attorney related.

Harris reported that Michael said he bought a half pint of whiskey and that both he and his wife had "a couple of drinks" and that they then did some shopping after which Mrs. Michael went to a local beauty parlor to secure a permanent wave.

The beautician, he said, noticed the cut on the top of the head while she was shampooing Mrs. Michael's hair.

After the beauty treatment, Harris said, Mrs. Michael met her husband who had bought two more half pints of whiskey and the couple, after taking something more to drink, proceeded toward their home on the 3:30 p. m. bus.

Harris said the couple alighted from the bus and visited at the home of a neighbor for awhile after which the neighbor drove them to their home in his car.

Fell off Chair

Michael told Harris that he and his wife then went to the kitchen of their home and had something more to drink and that his wife sat down in a chair. In the course of their conversation, Michael asserted, Mrs. Michael fell off her chair, striking and cutting her forehead about the right eye.

However, the state's attorney explained, the autopsy performed by Dr. Benedine Skitarelic, Memorial hospital pathologist, and Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, showed that this wound was superficial.

Michael, Harris said, testified he washed off the slight wound and stopped the bleeding, adding that he had a "few more drinks" and then said he carried his wife upstairs and put her in bed after she fell from the chair for a second time.

Harris said Michael told him he then went downstairs and after a while went upstairs to see how his wife was feeling but failed to find her. The man said he then went downstairs and searched and, failing to find any trace of his wife, went back to the room and discovered his wife under their bed.

When asked what she was doing under the bed Michael quoted his wife as saying she just wanted to see if he would look for her, Harris reported.

Michael then said his wife got back into bed and he went down-
